

In its third year of operation, Echor Music has again furthered its impact as a cultural and artistic force in its locality. Having established itself as a vital community fixture with regular, well-attended events, we have seen a further 35% rise in subscriptions to our “Friends” scheme, to around 100 supporters. A strong social bond has been established amongst our audience, volunteers and general community, creating a force for good through a shared love and appreciation for culture. Through this scheme we experience a high level of involvement and volunteering from the community, fostering a spirit of inclusion and mutual benefit. An increased free ticket take-up and involvement of “18 & unders” has begun to gather momentum, exposing the highest quality of music making and education to the youngest generation.

In 10 events we played to over 700 people, offering free tickets to children 18 and under. Three of our concerts were free of charge, opening up music to those who feel they could otherwise not afford it. We continue to embrace newcomers, and enjoy seeing them return for more events and become supporters. Our genres spanned baroque, classical and romantic through to jazz, blues and contemporary. A very important aspect was the beginning of an ongoing collaboration with Amersham Choral Society, a local choir of enthusiastic and talented amateur singers. Our affecting, educational and themed events universally touch, inspire and inform our audiences.

We have seen a 35% rise in subscriptions to our “Friends” scheme, to around 100 supporters, strengthening social cohesion based on a strong love and appreciation of culture and a pride in local artistic enterprise.
