FOREWORD

As we reflect on the journey of Rising Hope Foundation Cameroon (RHFC) throughout 2025, we are proud to share a year marked by resilience, innovation, and deepened impact. Building on the momentum of 2024—where we expanded our international partnerships and launched transformative initiatives like the Innovation and Digital Education Hub—this year has been a testament to our unwavering commitment to youth empowerment and community development.

In 2025, The Rising Hope Foundation Cameroon took bold strides in addressing youth unemployment and economic exclusion through the Youth Employability Project, equipping 62 young people in Yaoundé with practical vocational skills and essential soft skills. From baking and bead making to bag crafting, these trades were chosen for their accessibility and potential to generate income, enabling participants to launch small-scale businesses and contribute meaningfully to their communities. The final virtual session, which connected youth across four African nations, further enriched this experience by fostering cross-border learning and enhancing job-readiness.

Our efforts extended beyond vocational training. Through strategic collaborations—such as with CFP The Office & Co, where we funded scholarships and exam fees—we continued to prioritise access to education for the underprivileged. The nomination of our Trustee Chair, Mrs. Charlene Kwemo Yengue, as Vice Chair of the QECT Cameroon Country Chapter, opened new avenues for impactful projects, including hands-on training with recyclable materials and the establishment of an entrepreneurship hub to support young innovators.

While some initiatives, like the e-commerce platform in partnership with DNA, faced delays due to funding constraints, our commitment remains steadfast. The Future Porth Youth Initiative continues to thrive, and we remain optimistic about the opportunities ahead.

The Rising Hope Foundation Cameroon’s journey in 2025 has been one of growth, learning, and meaningful change. We are deeply grateful to the Queen’s Elizabeth II Commonwealth Trust, our partners, supporters, and the communities we serve. Together, we are laying the foundation for a more inclusive and empowered future—one where every young person has the tools and confidence to rise.

1.) PROJECTS & PARTNERSHIPS

1.1) Art for Change (*Ongoing)

1.1.1.) Summary:

In continuation of its commitment to inclusive education and global youth engagement, RHFC partnered with the Pakistani NGO Discovering New Artists to support the 11th edition of its International Child Artwork Competition. This initiative welcomed participants aged 4–24 from 24 countries, spanning all educational levels—from nursery to college. RHFC's involvement was driven by its mission to promote creativity, equal learning opportunities, and cultural exchange among children from diverse backgrounds.

1.1.2) Updates of the partnership and programme:

From 2024, RHFC actively promoted the competition by reaching out to over 200 schools across the UK. Despite the enthusiasm, the timing posed a challenge: many schools had already made their efforts. To overcome these barriers, RHFC is now preparing for a face-to-face engagement strategy in the coming months, aiming to build stronger relationships with school administrators and educators. This approach is expected to foster deeper understanding and commitment to future collaborations. Social media campaigns also played a vital role in raising awareness, with targeted content helping to amplify the project's visibility among students, parents, and partner organisations.

1.2.) Youth Employability Project:

1.2.1) Summary:

The Collaborative Youth Employability Project was a joint initiative implemented by four youth-focused organisations across Africa: Rising Hope Foundation (Cameroon), Development Edge (Enugu, Nigeria), Xel Xeele Academy (Malawi), and Young African Innovators Hub -YAIH (Abuja, Nigeria). This impactful project was designed to empower young people between the ages of 18 and 35 with hands-on vocational and soft skills that enhance their employability and economic independence.

Held from 9th-12th April 2025, the project combined physical vocational training with a virtual learning session that brought all participants together, fostering not just individual growth but a sense of pan-african solidarity and shared progress.

1.2.2) Outcome of the programme:

Rising Hope Foundation Cameroon made a transformative impact through its leadership in the Youth Employability Project, empowering 62 young people in Yaoundé with practical vocational skills and essential soft skills that directly addressed the challenges of youth unemployment and economic exclusion. By offering hands-on training in baking, bead making, and bag making—trades chosen for their accessibility and income-generating potential—the foundation enabled participants to immediately begin small-scale entrepreneurial activities. The final virtual session, which connected youth across four African countries, equipped Cameroonian participants with critical job-readiness competencies such as CV building, financial literacy, and negotiation skills, enhancing their confidence and competitiveness in the job market.

The project not only improved individual livelihoods but also fostered a sense of community and shared purpose among participants. Feedback revealed significant personal growth, with many youths expressing newfound confidence in their ability to earn independently and contribute meaningfully to their families and communities. The initiative aligned with key Sustainable Development Goals, particularly those targeting poverty reduction, quality education, and decent work. Through this project, Rising Hope Foundation Cameroon demonstrated its commitment to sustainable youth empowerment, laying the groundwork for long-term economic resilience and social inclusion in the region.

1.3.) QECT-Cameroon Country Chapter:

1.3.1) Summary:

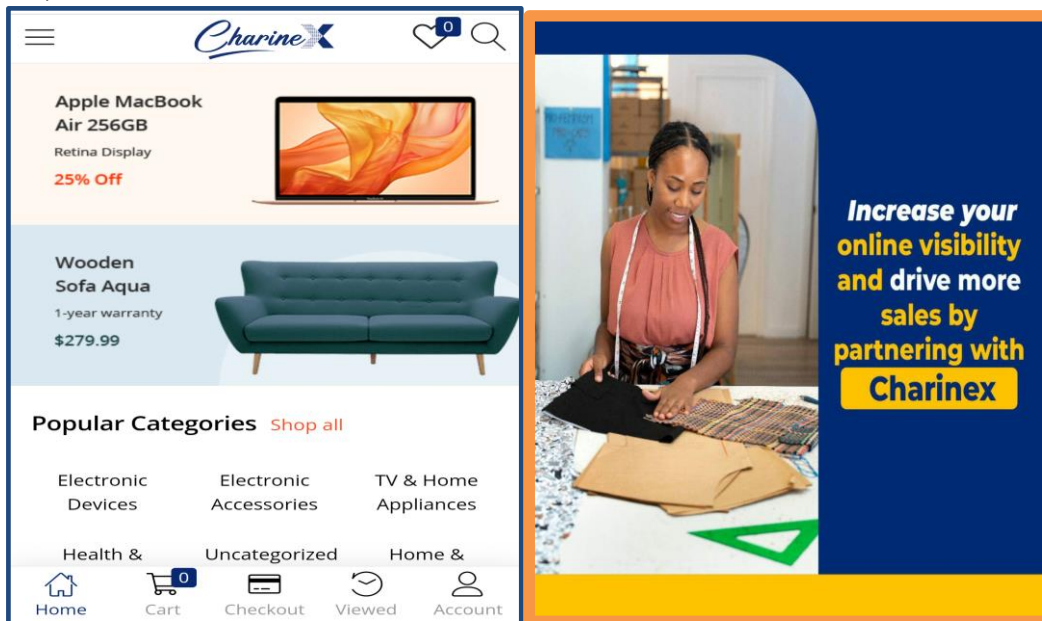

The Elizabeth II Commonwealth Trust (QECT) Network - Cameroon Country Chapter (QECT-CCC) is a youth-led initiative dedicated to empowering young changemakers, fostering sustainable development, and amplifying impactful solutions across Cameroon. As part of the global Queen's Commonwealth Trust network, the chapter supports visionary young leaders who are driving positive change in their communities through innovation, advocacy, and entrepreneurship. RHFC through its Trustee Chair is part of this initiative .

1.3.2) Plan for 2025:

The launch event of the QECT-CCC is scheduled for February 2026. This initiative aims to bring together key stakeholders to collaborate on shared or individual projects, with a particular focus on addressing climate change.

As part of this effort, RHFC plans to organise a training program centered on creating useful items from recyclable materials. This initiative will not only promote environmental sustainability but also foster entrepreneurship by empowering participants to develop eco-friendly products and business ideas. Additionally, RHFC intends to raise awareness about climate change in schools and orphanages by distributing school supplies made from recycled materials. This dual-purpose approach will both educate young people on environmental issues and provide them with essential learning tools.

1.4) CHARINEX

Charinex is the latest project which the RHFC proudly embarked on. It is a co-owned buy and sell e-commerce site vis-à-vis 'Marketplace' with products ranging from home appliances to furniture, connecting consumers and businesses on an international scale. The Minimum Viable Product (MVP) has been finalised; however, the project is currently paused due to funding constraints. Developers require additional support for data fees, which is not presently available from co-funding organisations.

1.5.) Future Port Youth

Rising Hope Foundation Cameroon is one of the official partners of this upcoming virtual International Conference which is held each year. Its aim is for students and teachers to learn about innovative fields and technologies. FOREWORD

The year began on a very promising note in pursuit of the much-needed improvement, and highly anticipated projects which the organisation had long envisioned the year prior. At the level of Cameroon, The RHFC (Reg no:1196569) defied all odds for a young NGO, by extending its outreach and social network across international borders, securing strategic partnerships here and there with other non-profit organizations from countries like Croatia, Pakistan and Nigeria.

These partnerships were defined by intense collaboration which rode along digital, entrepreneurship and Philanthropy lines—bringing about long-term impacts in youths particularly, through the acquisition of skills, material and financial support for start-ups and SMEs. This was evident in the Innovation and Digital Education Hub (IDH) project which centered on mentoring young entrepreneurs from Nigeria and Cameroon along with launching a funding campaign to raise necessary funds required for their businesses.

These efforts did not however go unnoticed as Trustee Chair—Charlene Kwemo eventually received a 'Certificate of Appreciation' from the Queen's Commonwealth Trust, in recognition of her life-changing exploits towards shaping the career paths of youths in Cameroon and around the world. Just like the saying

“you never know is watching”, so was the case of our learning center which received a donation to help finance logistic costs for the supply of office space equipments. The donation is a product of the fundraising applications which the Trustees have submitted in the past and still aiming to do.

The RHFC indirectly empowered the employment sector through staff recruitments in early June, to fill in Communication & IT Technician positions. Their efforts have been directly instrumental towards our vision, as we remain more poised than ever to reach out to communities especially vulnerable ones, as time goes ahead..

All in all, The RHFC is relieved to say with all humility that it proudly prioritised younger ones and the underprivileged/vulnerable ones in the course of its commitments.

risinghopefoundationcameroon We are pleased to announce to all staff and collaborators, on this day, of a signed Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) between her (RHFC) and its long-time partner @discoveringnewartist

The said agreement is aimed at creating a strategic partnership for an effective planning, management, of DNA's annual international kids' talent exhibition project called "Art for Change"—scheduled to run from this August-December, under the theme "Sustainable Living".

According to its terms, the RHFC is charged with mobilizing, for the participation of, over 150 schools based in the UK and Cameroon which will be led by a sponsorship programme that recommends funding for one school in

1.1.1.) Summary:

Pursuant to its partnering role, the RHFC had from the month of August, liaised with one of its key partners in Pakistani NGO—Discovering New Artists, to organise the 11th edition of the latter's International Child Artwork competition for children (drawn from 24 countries) aged between 4-24 years across all educational levels (Nursery, Primary, High school & College).

1.1.2.) Format:

Competitors are required to come up with creative artworks that reflect the themes of the project and thereafter, submitting them online, from which winners will then be determined and eventually announced following an expert-led panel review.

1.1.3.) Background:

The project originates from, while adding to, a decade-long cycle of globally promoting artistic creativity among younger ones, together with providing equal learning opportunities (void of any bias) to children from both privileged and low-income backgrounds towards a sustainable living.

In connection with the aims and objectives listed above, children in Cameroon have been given the privilege to participate freely in a 1:1 sponsorship ratio wherein the registration of every 1 child in the UK indirectly accounts for (by funding) the registration fee and hence participation of every 1 child in Cameroon.

RHFC's participation in this project was led by its routine support of educational programmes irrespective of distancing. The foundation of this partnership was officially established by a Memorandum of Understanding therein, outlining the roles and responsibilities to be carried out throughout the course of the project.

1.1.4) Course:

By obligation, RHFC's role has so far been executed along pre-planning and promotion lines, wherein, it has directly reached out to competent authorities of over 200 schools in the UK via Emails and enquiries soliciting for students' participation.

It has equally launched social media campaigns with posts/contents that have further helped to promote the project to both users and other partners.

1.2.) Innovation and Digital Education Hub:

1.2.1.) Summary:

RHFC teamed up with another of its vibrant partners in Nigerian NGO—Young Africans Innovative Hub, to co-host a 3-phase training and mentoring programme that ran from November 2023, to August 2024.

1.2.3.) Course:

A number of 15 participants from Nigeria and Cameroon partook in it. They were digitally trained on various fields notably; Digital Marketing, Copywriting, Entrepreneurship, Data Analysis etc, all along, receiving mentorship from industry professionals. CV Writing, execution of skills-oriented tasks, and assistance of start-up businesses marked the 3 phases.

It ended on a high note for both participants and the organisers with the acquisition of skills and fostering of networking relationships highlighting some of its impacts.

1.3.) Back-to-School Campaign:

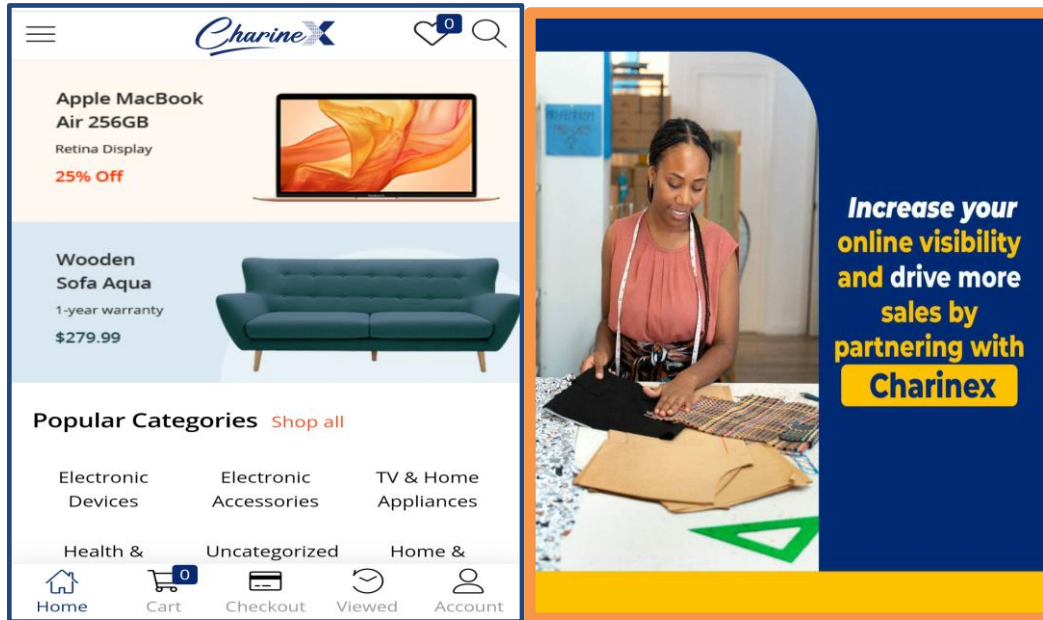

1.3.1) Summary:

The RHFC partnered with the WAF (Welfare Aid for the Future) in its Back-to-School campaign, to distribute food items and basic school materials to Lycée de Ngousso-Yaoundé, on November 18, 2023.

1.3.2) Background:

The project was founded on the objective to assist vulnerable children and their families in addition to having being contacted by the school administration regarding their need for such an assistance.

1.4) CHARINEX

1.4.1.) Summary:

Charinex is the latest project which the RHFC proudly embarked on. It is a co-owned buy and sell e-commerce site vis-à-vis 'Marketplace' with products ranging from home appliances to furnitures, connecting consumers and business on an international scale.

1.4.2.) Background:

It was designed as part of the RHFC's humanitarian model to support entrepreneurial schemes especially start-ups and SMEs, all along easing transactions between businesses and consumers through security and time-oriented deliveries. The RHFC has a secondary motive of funding other projects through earnings from it.
