The Tyndale Fellowship has continued to develop processes, policies and procedure that are necessary for its continued flourishing. Having established our own bank account in the previous year, it has now been possible to develop our work more fully..

The r main focus remains the organisation of our annual research conference in July since this is the principal mechanism by which we fulfil our charitable purposes. This year’s conference was held at High Leigh in July and was attended by over 150 scholars from both within and outside the UK, representing a further increase in numbers attending. It is our hope that a number of publications will emerge from this.

This year, we continued working with the same trustees as the year before, but have been in negotiation with two possible additional trustees.

Although the Tyndale Fellowship formally separated from Tyndale House last year, this year has continued to develop processes, policies and procedure that are necessary for its continued flourishing. This was important because of the fact that we only managed to obtain a bank account at the end of the last financial year.

The other main focus was the organisation of our annual research conference in July since this is the principal mechanism by which we fulfil our charitable purposes. This year's conference was held at High Leigh in July and was attended by over 150 scholars from both within and outside the UK. It is our hope that a number of publications will emerge from this.

This year, we continued with the same trustees as before saving that Dr Dirk Jongkind needed to step down as vice-Chair due to ill health. We have begun a process in discussion with regular participants in the life of Tyndale Fellowship about identifying additional trustees in order to secure the work of the Fellowship.

Following agreement with Tyndale House, which had previously managed all aspects of Tyndale Fellowship, the Fellowship was established as a separate charity. This was its first year of operation, and the primary focus has been to complete all the tasks necessary for the independent operation of the Fellowship. This involved the appointment of the following Trustees:

David G. Firth – Chair

Dirk Jongkind – Deputy Chair

Philips S. Johnston – Treasurer

Ros Clark – Communications

Philip Jenson – Secretary

Because of the work involved in establishing the Fellowship and the difficulties involved in establishing a bank account (finally resolved through the Charity Aid Foundation) we were unable to do more in this year than the initial work of establishment. Once we had a bank account in November, we were able to receive a transfer of funds that had previously been held by Tyndale House on our behalf. Although we began planning for our work in 2023, the receipt of these funds and processing some initial set-up costs constitutes the sole work of the Fellowship in this year. As we had intended therefore to complete our first-year report on the basis of the first year of actual work, these accounts have not been audited as they cover only about seven weeks of actual transactions.
