HIGHLIGHTS OF 2024-2025

Ó GHLÚIN GO GLÚIN' (FROM KNEE TO KNEE)

We were thrilled to receive our first small grant from the Irish Emigrant Support Programme Small Grants Scheme. The scheme provides funding to registered charities, charitable bodies or voluntary/not-for-profit organisations that strengthen links with and support Irish communities overseas and encourages closer links between these communities and Ireland so we were a great fit as creating community closeness is central to what we do. The grant was awarded for the period July 2024 to June 2025 and enabled us to have a specific focus on training and supporting younger oral history interviewers to record the life stories of older Irish or diaspora Irish women.

We called the project 'Ó Ghlúin Go Glúin' (From Knee to Knee) and it enabled us to train a younger generation of Irish women in oral history interviewing and give them access to the wisdom and experience of their elders. This project developed the younger volunteers' skills, confidence and employability and included interviewers of Irish birth or descent under the age of 30 across Ireland, the U.K. and Australia. The intergenerational nature of the project allowed these volunteers to connect to their Irish elders. It has allowed them to understand the commonalities and differences in their experiences as women of different generations but with shared connections to Ireland, and to find community and connection with women beyond their existing networks. To learn a new skill, develop strong listening and communication skills, understand the ethical complexities of oral history interviewing, fulfil their duties of care and gain opportunities for personal and professional development.

The grant also enabled us to pay for a small amount of project management/ co-ordination for a number of months. We recruited three volunteer regional coordinators. 10 volunteer interviewers between the ages of eighteen and thirty were recruited and trained in oral history interviewing (over the full year of the grant). The women interviewed within this financial year are included in the section below.

TRAINING AND PEER SUPPORT FOR OUR VOLUNTEERS

We continued to provide regular online peer support for our volunteers. Some example topics from this period were Recruiting New Interviewees, Social Media Skills (Delivered by 'Irish With Mollie'), Navigating Distress or Trauma Within the Interview, Interviewing Family and Friends.

THE INTERVIEWS

Eleven oral histories were recorded by our volunteer interviewers during the period 1 April 2024 – 31 March 2025, eight of which were intergenerational (the interviewer was under thirty years old, the narrator was over fifty). These were warm conversations between women with connections to Ireland, focusing on their experiences between the ages of fifteen and 25. The collection and preservation of these interviews enriches and deepens the historical record of women's experiences in Ireland during the twentieth century, which was obviously a period of huge change and great complexity. This contributes to a greater understanding, both now and into the future, of the twentieth century and the societal shifts that took place in the period across a huge array of themes including childhood, education, work, family, and personal relationships reflecting also shifting attitudes to class, race, religion and gender in modern Ireland.

These records are not only immensely valuable to historians, they are also really valuable to the interviewees themselves who tell us that they find the opportunity to reflect on their early life to be an emotionally engaging and rewarding experience. Additionally, the collection of these interviews provide the friends and family of those interviewed an opportunity to understand the interviewee in a new way and the peace of mind of knowing that family stories are being recorded and preserved for posterity. Other women of Irish descent also report feelings of pride in Irish women's achievements alongside a sense of relief that women's stories are being told and preserved, including sensitive histories of topics that are only recently able to be spoken about within Ireland.

Each oral history may be recorded in one or more session, in person or online. The interviews are transcribed by volunteers, and the transcripts and audio are provided to every woman interviewed so that they can have a chance to read and appreciate what they have said and make informed choices about whether and how they want to deposit their life history in the archive. We maintained regular contact with all our interviewees over the period taken to deposit their interview and discussion any implications in relation to matters such as their own privacy and that of others and any safeguarding concerns in relation to the recordings and transcripts.

GROWING OUR SMALL CHARITY

Over this period, Úna Gan a Gúna has been able to update and improve our systems to increase our efficiency and potential to work at a greater scale. For example, we introduced the regional coordinator roles to support the administration of volunteers by region, spreading the load of one of the most time-intensive elements of the project among a wider field of people and making the organisation more sustainable and able to provide closer support to volunteers. We have also standardised our recruitment and induction processes to ensure that all volunteers complete the same process in the same order despite us de-centralising the induction and training process.

CHALLENGES

This was an exciting period in which we encountered significant challenges in relation to sustaining the viability of the charity in a very difficult financial climate. The small grant from the Irish Emigrant Support Programme helped us tremendously. We did not have capacity for fundraising more widely. A small number of dedicated volunteers contributed many hours of unpaid work to enable us to deliver on our goals therefore capacity building is a priority for 2025-2026.

Objectives and Activities

| Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document  | The purposes of Úna Gan a Gúna: Irish Women's Oral History Collective are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• To ensure that the memories of Irish women from the 1930s onwards are heard and are recorded and kept as a part of Irish history and the histories of Irish people travelling out and across the world. This will be achieved through recording and preserving oral histories and, in the process, bringing different generations of women together to share past experiences: good times and sad times, learning from each other, passing on our stories.</li><li>• To recruit and train volunteers to gather oral histories and undertake other tasks relevant to the project to provide them with an opportunity to give something back to the community, build existing experience and knowledge or develop new skills.</li></ul> |
| Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts. | In planning our activities for the year, we kept in mind the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit at our trustee meetings. Our main activities: - <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Recruiting and inducting new volunteers</li><li>• Providing specialist training in oral history to our volunteers</li><li>• Providing ongoing support and supervision to volunteers</li><li>• Marketing and promoting the benefits of oral history to preserving Irish and Irish diaspora women's heritage</li><li>• Outreach to encourage Irish and Irish diaspora women to record oral histories, carried out via social media and contact with community organisations in Ireland and the UK</li></ul>   |

Achievements and Performance

|  |   |
|--|---|
| Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole. | What We've Achieved 2023/2024 was our first full financial year in operation as we were formed as a CIO – Foundation during the previous May (Registered with the Charity Commission on 24 May 2022). We are the first charity with the mission to gather and preserve the histories of Irish women in Ireland and across the globe. Up until Eighteen women recorded their oral history interviews up to 31 March 2024; these were transcribed and quality assured. Ten interviews were deposited in the digital archive of Birkbeck, University of London to ensure they can be preserved with care and available to share with the public and with scholars/historians (subject to any privacy restrictions). Excerpts from the oral histories are also uploaded to the Úna Gan a Gúna website at We recruited eight new volunteers from April 2023 to March 2024 and at the end of the year we had an active and talented group of seventeen volunteers. Each volunteer provides a minimum of 2 hours per week to the charity. We provided monthly one-to-one supervision and support to all our volunteers and delivered regular peer training/ support sessions online. Operated by Cause4, a social enterprise that specialises in providing support to charities, and funded by the National Lottery, Heritage Compass is a programme designed to support and grow heritage organisations. Following our participation in the Heritage Compass development programme for small charities in 2022/2023, we continue to take up training opportunities for our trustees on a range of areas. In terms of audience engagement, we produced a show celebrating St Brigid's Day and all things oral history at the Irish Cultural Centre in Hammersmith, London in Feb 2024. Our Project Lead Ruth Beecher had a short in-conversation with St Brigid (also known as our wonderful trustee Dorothy Duffy in fabulous convent-inspired couture), and gave a glimpse into the kind of questions asked in an Úna Gan A Gúna interview. Volunteers and trustees described why St Brigid's Day was important to them. The main part of the event was a panel discussion chaired by Úna volunteer Steph Blythman and involving women who had recorded their oral histories with Úna Gan A Gúna. They shared what the experience of recording their oral history was like, why they felt it was important for them to do so, and what they'd say to others thinking about sharing their stories with us. We also heard excerpts from interviews in our archive about |

Other optional information

In autumn 2023 and spring 2024, we worked hard to develop a funding bid for a small grant to the Irish Department of Foreign Affairs, Emigrant Support Programme to enable us to recruit and train a cohort of younger women who wish to train as oral historians. Our goal is to share our stories, this funding will enable us to develop a very special intergenerational programme where women over 55 years old interview share their experiences with a younger generation of interviewers aged under 30 years from knee to knee or 'O gluin go gluin...'
