The Charity emerged from the pandemic with renewed focus.

Our commitment to mentoring young people is at the core of our efforts. Through personalized guidance and support, we aim to equip them with the tools they need to navigate life's challenges successfully. Additionally, our workshops cater to the needs of all young people, providing them with opportunities for personal growth, skill-building, and empowerment. We also conduct fitness sessions tailored to the diverse needs of our community, promoting physical health and mental well-being for all participants.

Furthermore, we actively engage the community through various sporting activities, fostering a sense of unity and camaraderie among young people from all walks of life. As part of our future plans, we aspire to establish a dedicated provision for young people, such as a youth centre, open every weekend. This centre will serve as a hub for educational, recreational, and social activities, catering to the diverse needs and interests of the youth in our community. To support these endeavours, we are exploring funding opportunities through Sport England and Action Together. Additionally, we plan to partner with other organizations, such as ABL Health in Oldham, who have already completed successful projects with Ayaan Foundation. For instance, ABL Health has collaborated with us to deliver free fitness classes for all participants and self-defence classes for children aged 6-11.
