Para 1.17 and 1.19	How the Ting-A-Ling Youth Projects Carries Out Its Purposes Introduction Ting-A-Ling Youth Project is committed to supporting and uplifting young people in our society. To achieve this, a range of activities and initiatives have been established that focus on education, personal development, and social welfare. Educational Outings and Training Events One of the primary ways Ting-A-Ling Youth Project fulfils its mission is by arranging outings and training events. These are designed to educate young people about the society in which they live, equipping them with the knowledge and insight needed to prosper and contribute positively to their communities. Leisure Activities for Social Development Ting-A-Ling Youth Project provides a variety of leisure activities that encourage young people to interact with one another, regardless of their backgrounds. These interactions foster self-confidence, promote teamwork, and enhance interpersonal skills, helping participants to build meaningful relationships and develop a sense of camaraderie. Volunteering Opportunities and Work Experience A key aspect of preparing young people for the workforce involves offering or helping them to secure volunteering opportunities and work experience. These initiatives give participants a practical understanding of the world of work, building their skillset and enhancing their employability. Career Advice and Employment Guidance Ting-A-Ling Youth Project supports career development by providing advice, guidance, and information that raises awareness of employment prospects and training opportunities. This ensures that young people are well-informed when making decisions about their future careers. Support for Avoiding Crime and Anti-Social Behaviour Through the provision of counselling, advice, information, and relevant resources, Ting-A-Ling Youth Project helps young people to avoid becoming involved in crime, drugs, and other forms of anti-social behaviour. This preventative approach encourages positive lifestyle choices and personal responsibility.

		Discussion Groups for Addressing Concerns To give young people a platform to express their thoughts and concerns, Ting-A-Ling Youth Project organises discussion groups. These sessions enable open conversations about issues that matter to them, fostering a supportive environment where their voices are heard. Provision of Free Goods to Those in Need In its commitment to social welfare, Ting-A-Ling Youth Project also provides free goods and articles, such as food and clothing, to children and schools in need. Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	- During the financial year ending 31st December 2024, despite lack of adequate funding/financial resources, we were able to empower several youths within our target communities and/or regions. We carried out several activities which , among other activities, included the donations of goods/items like clothing and books and other items to needy children in UK and in two developing Countries (The Gambia and Jamaica). Our activities enabled the youth to discover and develop their talents and abilities and skills. Our meetings and events further provided opportunities for youth to bond and have fun. - Just as the last financial year(2023) the activities we engage the youth (like trips, outing and training events) have continued to enable young people to learn more and understand appreciate their physical and social environment in which they live in and the range of opportunities that are available for them to choose from as they gradually transition to adulthood. - Recreational and Leisure activities for young had several benefits for the community including: - Helping reduce juvenile delinquency and anti-social behaviour among the youth - Helped develop motor skills while promoting physical health among the youth - Promoted social interaction among the youth and helps them develop friendships thus promoting inclusivity - Provided opportunities for the youths either discover or explore their talents. - Promoted a sense of self-esteem particularly for the socially excluded or underprivileged children

		vi. Career advice, help with job search and voluntary opportunities helped reduce youth unemployment in society. • The Guidance and counselling services helped the youth tackle the various problems faced by the youth thereby helping them to avoid becoming involved in crimes, drugs and other anti-social behaviour. • Provision of goods and services to the poor children in society helped in the reduction their suffering while promoting their participation in society. Provision of educational facilities to under-equipped schools and needy children in targeted countries in Africa has helped improve their academic performance.

Performance of fundraising activities against objectives set	Para 1.41	We encouraged people to donate items/goods (e.g. clothes, shoes, footwear) which we either sold by our Charity (in Birmingham) to raise funds or by directly giving some to needy unemployed youths who came for help. We also used social media including WhatsApp to raise awareness and appeal for support. Though our Charity was only registered within that year, our fundraising activities produced some positive results
