Introduction

The Jongen Charitable Trust is an endowed grant-making trust operating in the United Kingdom. Our overarching aim is for a future where all young people have the access and opportunities they need to thrive. We work to create resilience, foster confidence and encourage self worth in vulnerable and disadvantaged communities.

Objectives and activities

The Trust's Trustees have decided to take a learning approach to philanthropy, seeking to understand where we can make a meaningful difference and focusing on those points of inflection where we can help achieve lasting impact.

The charitable trust's charitable objectives as expressed in its Trust Deed are as follows:

The objects of the Charity are such purposes as are exclusively charitable under the law of England and Wales, as the trustees see fit from time to time in particular but not limited to:

- ◆ ensuring young people have access to education and/or employment opportunities;
- ◆ relieving hardship and distress among young people who are, or are at risk of, becoming homeless; and
- ◆ promoting access to mental health services for young people and their families.

The charity makes grants to a range of charities and charitable activities in accordance with its grant making policy. The ultimate beneficiaries of the trust are the people who are supported by the groups we fund, rather than the organisations themselves.

Achievements and performance

- ◆ In 2025 the charity made 25 grants totalling £4,866,254, including five random acts of kindness (RAOK). The five RAOs were each awarded a grant of £15,000.

Impact

Over the year we provided grant funding to 25 organisations. We focus on the contribution our grant making makes, helping strengthen our partners' achievements, often as one of several contributors to their success. We are confident support from the trust has had a positive impact, supporting both established organisations and new initiatives. We believe the groups we support have delivered a spectrum of good work and have contributed to positive outcomes for vulnerable young people and families, for example:

- Place2Be: During the 2024/25 school year, 8,200 children and young people participated in their one-on-one counselling sessions, aggregating over 86,000 sessions overall.
- Settle: 100% of Settle's young people sustained their tenancies 12 months on from completion of the programme, and 96% felt more confident in managing their tenancies by the end of the programme.
- UNHCR / DAFI Programme: DAFI supported 7,890 refugee students from 54 countries and women made up 45% of the scholars, the highest female enrolment rate in the history of the programme.

Learning

Over the year we provided grant funding to 25 organisations. Spending time with our partners through annual reporting conversations, regular check-in calls, occasional visits, and attendance at events helps to build a relationship which centres trust and openness both about what works and what is challenging, while also giving us the opportunity to share our learning from other projects we fund.

Our partners (excluding RAOK recipients) report back to us at least twice a year on their key achievements, challenges, fragilities and learning as well as their financial position, organisational 'health' and future priorities and plans. We schedule a discussion to follow up on any written reports we receive: this provides the opportunity for us to deepen our understanding of the impact of the work we are funding and the contexts in which people are operating.

What we learn from our grant holders feeds into and gives context both to our decision making on grants, and our wider conversations around strategy development. Over the year we learnt more about organisations' experiences of working in a time of crisis and uncertainty within complex systems. We also heard about the importance of flexible, unrestricted support and the value placed on the kind of trusting, responsive and respectful relationship we aim to establish with our grant holders.

Public Benefit

The Trustees confirm that they have complied with their duty in section 17 of the Charities Act 2011 to have due regard to the requirements contained in the Charity Commission's general guidance on public benefit when reviewing the charity's aims and objectives and in planning future activities.

With respect to public benefit reporting the main aims of the Trust fall into the Charity Commission categories of 'the relief of those in need, by reason of youth, age, ill-health, disability, financial hardship or other disadvantage and in particular identifiable benefits and benefit to the public, or a section of the public' and 'the advancement of education'.

The Foundation does not fundraise and seeks to continue the charitable work through the careful stewardship of its existing resources.

Grant making policy

The Trustees have determined that the current priorities for funding will be on the themes detailed in the diagram on the right:

The Foundation's Trustees review the Grant Making Policy annually to ensure that it reflects the Foundation's objectives, and may be changed in accordance with the Trustees' view of the most effective application of available funds at any point in time. On occasion, the Trustees may agree to fund work outside of these priorities, such as in response to an emergency or a humanitarian crisis.

The trust's principal strategy is to be a pro-active grant maker, improving the lives of young people and their families. In any single year, the trust makes a relatively small number of high value grants to carefully selected charities. The trust wants to support innovative and ambitious work with potential for systemic change, and where learning can be shared with others for wider impact.

The trust fosters strong relationships with the organisations it funds by providing flexible, timely support that enables grant holders to achieve their objectives in the way they determine - and also to share their fragilities and challenges openly. We aim to build a relationship of mutual trust by being open about our objectives and processes and showing respect for our partners' time and expertise.

We are committed to making unrestricted annual grants, where this is possible and meets the particular requirements of an organisation. The trust takes a proactive approach to identifying organisations to support and does not consider unsolicited applications.

We identify potential funding partners by working with our grant holders, fellow funders and sector experts to learn about organisations filling critical gaps. We also undertake desk research and follow-up on connections made through networking and attendance at sector events. We are committed to extending and expanding our networks, and to hearing from organisations which are less visible in the sector.

Grantee partners have a clear fit with our aims and demonstrate impact (or a clearly defined plan in the case of early-stage projects) in terms of improving outcomes for the young people we want to support. Our grantee partners can articulate clear objectives and have a framework for understanding their impact and adapting their approach in response to learning.

We seek to make use of our independence to support the development of new ideas and approaches even when there are risks and outcomes are uncertain – both for early-stage organisations and more established enterprises at a point of transition. We recognise the importance of providing long-term funding for organisations sustaining complex work and aim to balance this with using our risk appetite to invest in new and untested projects and programmes.

The trust will receive regular written reports from all grantees through which to monitor and evaluate its grant funded projects. The trust will maintain regular contact and communication with all charities supported.

Financial review

The financial activities are summarised on page 17 of the accounts. During the year, the Trust received income (excluding net gains on re-measurement of foreign currency monetary assets) of £22,319,645 (2024: £10,053,100). Expenditure totalled £5,163,674 (2024: £1,980,199). The net income for the period, before realised and unrealised gains and foreign exchange losses on the investments, was £17,155,971 (2024: £8,072,901). Net investment losses, including FX losses on investments, for the year totalled £372,984 (2024: £31,013 gain).

Reserves policy

The Trustees ensure that the charity holds adequate funds to meet its planned grant payments and other obligations as they fall due. To support this, the charity holds money market investments and short-term deposits that provide sufficient liquidity for any upcoming commitments.

The donations received by the Trust are intended to support the charity's activities over several years rather than being expended entirely in the year they are received. As a result, the level of reserves held at year-end reflects the fact that part of these funds are being retained to support future periods of grant-making. The reserves level also reflects the trustees' assessment of financial and operational risks.

The balance sheet shows total reserves of £24,886,901 (2024 – £8,103,914), which the trustees consider to be sufficient to meet all known or reasonably anticipated commitments. Whilst the charity has no ongoing or multi-year grant obligations the trustees consider that the reserves held are more than adequate in relation to expected future donations and planned activities.

All reserves are unrestricted and freely available to be spent on the charity's activities. The reserves position is reviewed annually to ensure that the level remains appropriate.

Investment policy

The Trust has a portfolio of listed investments, that had a market value of £18,455,735 at 31 December 2025 (2024 - £936,023). The investments were in a money market fund and managed by J.P Morgan and Blackrock.

The Trust also holds £6 million in UK Treasury Bonds which mature in January and April 2026.

The Trust has an Investment Policy that sets out the medium-term investment objective and which is reviewed annually. In setting an investment policy, the trustees recognise the need to balance risk within the portfolio. In line with the Investment Policy, investments are allocated looking for a reasonable overall return for annual grant-making, they will take a low risk tolerance in order to preserve capital on assets not distributed to charities.

Future plans

In 2026, we will continue to provide effective support to our grant holders, both established and new, as they work to make positive change for young people and vulnerable families. In addition, we will continue to embed the new international theme, including both identifying possible new funding partners and extending grants to existing partners. In addition, the charity will continue to strengthen our governance and operations in support of the new theme.

Structure, Governance and Management

Constitution

The Jongen Charitable Trust is governed by a trust deed dated 4 April 2023 and was registered with the Charity Commission on 31 May 2023 under registration number 1203338.

Organisational Structure

The charity is managed by its Board of Trustees, which meet twice a year.

The trustees are required to disclose all relevant interests and withdraw from decisions where a conflict of interest arises. The power of appointing new trustees is vested in the trustees.

The Trustees who held office during the year ended 31 December 2025 and up to the date of approval of the financial statements are detailed on page 1.

No Trustee received any remuneration or reimbursed expenses for services as a Trustee, nor had any beneficial interest in any contract with the charity, during the year. The Trustees as a group are ultimately responsible for the policies, activities and assets of the charity.

The key management personnel of the charity, responsible for directing and controlling, running and operating the charity on a day to day basis, comprise the Trustees who are not remunerated in connection with their duties as Trustees.

The charity has no paid or unpaid members of staff.

Risk management

A risk assessment has been carried out as required by the Charities' SORP. The Trustees believe that sufficient controls are in place to mitigate the impact of the major potential risks that have been identified. The principal risks identified and their mitigating actions are detailed below:

Financial: investments and finances. The trustees believe that by monitoring reserve levels, by ensuring controls exist over key financial systems, and by examining the operational and business risks faced by the charity, they have established effective systems to manage those risks.

Grant making: grants are ineffective. The trust operates a grant-making policy and procedures aimed at ensuring that all grants made are both appropriate and effective.

Reputational: operations and activities are not meeting charitable objectives. The trust reviews all of the policies annually and robust due diligence and monitoring procedures are in place.

Fundraising

The charity does not actively seek donations from the public therefore it has not registered with the Fundraising Regulator. It does not use the services of any third party organisation to help in its fundraising activities and no complaints were received about its fundraising activities during the financial year.

Trustees' responsibilities

The trustees are responsible for preparing the trustees' report and accounts in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice). The law applicable to charities in England and Wales requires the trustees to prepare accounts for each financial period which give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charity and of its income and expenditure for that period. In preparing these accounts, the trustees are required to:

- ◆ select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- ◆ observe the methods and principles of Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the United Kingdom and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102);
- ◆ make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;

- ♦ state whether applicable United Kingdom Accounting Standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the accounts; and
- ♦ prepare the accounts on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charity will continue in operation.

The trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records that disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charity and enable them to ensure that the accounts comply with the Charities Act 2011, the applicable Charity (Accounts and Reports) Regulations and the provisions of the Rules. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charity and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

The trustees are responsible for the maintenance and integrity of financial information included on the charity's website. Legislation in the United Kingdom governing the preparation and dissemination of accounts may differ from legislation in other jurisdictions.

Independent auditor's report to the trustees of The Jongen Charitable Trust

Opinion

We have audited the accounts of The Jongen Charitable Trust (the 'charity') for the year ended 31 December 2025 which comprise the statement of financial activities, the balance sheet, the statements of cash flows principal accounting policies and the notes to the accounts. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards, including Financial Reporting Standard 102 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland' (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

In our opinion, the accounts:

- ◆ give a true and fair view of the state of the charity's affairs as at 31 December 2025 and of its incoming resources and application of resources for the year then ended;
- ◆ have been properly prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice; and
- ◆ have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Charities Act 2011.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) (ISAs (UK)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the accounts section of our report. We are independent of the charity in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the accounts in the UK, including the FRC's Ethical Standard, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

In auditing the accounts, we have concluded that the trustees' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the accounts is appropriate.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the charity's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of at least twelve months from when the accounts are authorised for issue.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the trustees with respect to going concern are described in the relevant sections of this report.

Other information

The other information comprises the information included in the annual report, including the trustees' report, other than the accounts and our auditor's report thereon. The trustees are responsible for the other information contained within the annual report. Our opinion on the accounts does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

Our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the accounts or our knowledge obtained in the course of the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether this gives rise to a material misstatement in the accounts themselves. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Matters on which we are required to report by exception

In the light of the knowledge and understanding of the charity and its environment obtained in the course of the audit, we have not identified material misstatements in the trustees' report

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters in relation to which the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2008 requires us to report to you if, in our opinion:

- ◆ the information given in the trustees' report is inconsistent in any material respect with the accounts; or
- ◆ sufficient accounting records have not been kept; or
- ◆ the accounts are not in agreement with the accounting records; or
- ◆ we have not received all the information and explanations we require for our audit.

Responsibilities of trustees

As explained more fully in the trustees' responsibilities statement set out on page 9, the trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as the trustees determine is necessary to enable the preparation of accounts that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the accounts, the trustees are responsible for assessing the charity's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the trustees either intend to liquidate the charity or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the accounts

We have been appointed as auditor under section 144 of the Charities Act 2011 and report in accordance with the Act and relevant regulations made or having effect thereunder.

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the accounts as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists.

Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these accounts.

Irregularities, including fraud, are instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations. We design procedures in line with our responsibilities, outlined above, to detect material misstatements in respect of irregularities, including fraud. The extent to which our procedures are capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud, is detailed below:

How the audit was considered capable of detecting irregularities including fraud

Our approach to identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement in respect of irregularities, including fraud and non-compliance with laws and regulations, was as follows:

- ◆ The engagement partner ensured that the engagement team collectively had the appropriate competence, capabilities and skills to identify or recognise non-compliance with applicable laws and regulations;
- ◆ We identified the laws and regulations applicable to the charity through discussions with key management and from our knowledge and experience of the charity sector;
- ◆ We focused on specific laws and regulations which we considered may have a direct material effect on the accounts or the activities of the charity. These included but were not limited to the Charities Act 2011, Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable to the United Kingdom and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (effective 1 January 2019); and
- ◆ We assessed the extent of compliance with the laws and regulations identified above through making enquiries of key management and review of minutes of trustees' meetings.

We assessed the susceptibility of the charity's accounts to material misstatement, including obtaining an understanding of how fraud might occur, by:

- ◆ Making enquiries of key management as to where they considered there was susceptibility to fraud, their knowledge of actual, suspected and alleged fraud; and
- ◆ Considering the internal controls in place to mitigate risks of fraud and non-compliance with laws and regulations.

To address the risk of fraud through management bias and override of controls, we:

- ◆ Performed analytical procedures to identify any unusual or unexpected relationships;
- ◆ Assessed whether judgements and assumptions made in determining the accounting estimates were indicative of potential bias; and
- ◆ Investigated the rationale behind significant or unusual transactions.

In response to the risk of irregularities and non-compliance with laws and regulations, we designed procedures which included, but were not limited to:

- ◆ Agreeing accounts disclosures to underlying supporting documentation;
- ◆ Reading the minutes of meetings of trustees; and
- ◆ Enquiring of as to actual and potential litigation and claims.

There are inherent limitations in our audit procedures described above. The more removed that laws and regulations are from financial transactions, the less likely it is that we would become aware of non-compliance. Auditing standards also limit the audit procedures required to identify non-compliance with laws and regulations to enquiry of the trustees and other management and the inspection of regulatory and legal correspondence, if any.

Material misstatements that arise due to fraud can be harder to detect than those that arise from error as they may involve deliberate concealment or collusion.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the accounts is located on the Financial Reporting Council's website at www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities. This description forms part of our auditor's report.

Use of our report

This report is made solely to the charity's trustees, as a body, in accordance with Part 4 of the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2008. Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the charity's trustees those matters we are required to state to them in an auditor's report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the charity and the charity's trustees as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

The principal accounting policies adopted, judgements and key sources of estimation uncertainty in the preparation of the financial statements are as follows:

Basis of accounting

The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention as modified for the revaluation of investment assets and in accordance with the requirements of the Charities Act 2011.

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (Charities SORP (FRS 102)), the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) and the Charities Act 2011.

The charity constitutes a public benefit entity as defined by FRS 102. The financial statements are presented in sterling and are rounded to the nearest pound.

Critical accounting estimates and areas of judgement

In preparing the financial statements the Trustees were not required to make any significant judgements and estimates.

There are no key assumptions or areas of uncertainty where there is a significant risk of a material adjustment to the carrying value of the assets and liabilities of the charity being required.

Going concern

The Trustees have assessed whether the use of the going concern assumption is appropriate in preparing these financial statements. The Trustees have made this assessment in respect to a period of one year from the date of approval of these financial statements.

The Trustees have concluded that there are no material uncertainties related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the ability of the charity to continue as a going concern. This is because the charity is in a net asset position and received sufficient additional investment income after the year end to meet the cost of its budgeted grant-making activities.

Income

Income is recognised in the period in which the charitable company has entitlement to the income, the amount of income can be measured reliably and it is probable that the income will be received.

Donations are recognised when the charity has confirmation of both the amount and settlement date. In the event of donations pledged but not received, the amount is accrued for where the receipt is considered probable. In the event that a donation is subject to conditions that require a level of performance before the charitable company is entitled to the funds, the income is deferred and not recognised until either those conditions are fully met, or the fulfilment of those conditions is wholly within the control of the charity and it is probable that those conditions will be fulfilled in the reporting period.

Interest on funds held on deposit is included when receivable and the amount can be measured reliably by the charity; this is normally upon notification of the interest paid or payable by the bank.

Expenditure and the basis of apportioning costs

Expenditure is recognised once there is a legal or constructive obligation to make a payment to a third party, it is probable that a transfer of economic benefits will be required in settlement and the amount of the obligation can be measured reliably. All expenditure is inclusive of irrecoverable VAT.

Expenditure includes the following:

- ◆ Expenditure on charitable activities comprises the grants payable and any incidental expenses payable associated with the furtherance of charity's objectives, including governance costs.
- ◆ Grants payable are included in the statement of financial activities when approved and when the intended recipient has either received the funds or been informed of the decision to make the grant and has satisfied all related conditions. Grants where the beneficiary has not been informed or has to meet certain conditions before the grant is released are not accrued for but are noted as financial commitments in the notes to the financial statements.

Investments

Investments are included in the financial statements at fair value, using a quoted market price. If fair value cannot be measured reliably, it is measured at cost less impairment. Gains and losses are recognised in the statement of financial activities.

Realised gains (or losses) on investment assets are calculated as the difference between disposal proceeds and their opening carrying value or their purchase value is acquired subsequent to the first day of the financial year. Unrealised gains and losses are calculated as the difference between the fair value at the year end and their carrying value at that date. Realised and unrealised investment gains (or losses) are combined in the statement of financial activities and are credited (or debited) in the year in which they arise. These amounts also include any foreign exchange gains (or losses) arising on investments.

The charity classifies its investments as current asset investments on the basis that the holdings invested in consist of money market deposits and other such liquidity funds which are cash instruments. These instruments are not considered cash and cash equivalents on the basis that, whilst liquid, they are not held to meet short-term cash commitments as they fall due.

Debtors

Debtors are recognised at the settlement amount, less any provision for non-recoverability. Prepayments are valued at the amount prepaid. They have been discounted to the present value of the future cash receipt where such discounting is material.

Cash at bank and in hand

Cash at bank and in hand represents such accounts and instruments that are available on demand or have a maturity of less than three months from the date of acquisition. Deposits for more than three months but less than one year have been disclosed as short term deposits. As noted under investments, cash held in instruments which are subject to market volatility are disclosed as a current asset investments where they are held with a maturity of less than one year but are not intended to be used to meet short-term cash commitments as they fall due.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents represent those highly liquid assets that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and that are not subject to a risk of changes in value. Short term deposits are included in cash and cash equivalents where access can be obtained in advance of their maturity date.

Creditors and provisions

Creditors and provisions are recognised when there is an obligation at the balance sheet date as a result of a past event, it is probable that a transfer of economic benefit will be required in settlement, and the amount of the settlement can be estimated reliably. Creditors and provisions are recognised at the amount the charity anticipates it will pay to settle the debt. They have been discounted to the present value of the future cash payment where such discounting is material.

Fund accounting

All of the charity's funds received to date have been unrestricted. The general fund comprises those monies which may be used towards meeting the charitable objective of the charity at the discretion of the Trustees.
