Section B Structure, governance and management

Description of the charity's trusts

Type of governing document	CIO Foundation Constitution
How the charity is constituted	Charitable Incorporated Organisation
Trustee selection methods	Appointed by members of the current board

Additional governance issues (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant, about:

- policies and procedures adopted for the induction and training of trustees;
- the charity's organisational structure and any wider network with which the charity works;
- relationship with any related parties;
- trustees' consideration of major risks and the system and procedures to manage them.

The number of policies and procedures are increasing as we understand more about what the charity requires with increasing volunteers, opening hours and staff. With a compliment of 6 trustees who are gradually getting to know how Remade works, all 6 are getting involved with aspects of the work, e.g. encouraging sewing skills in our offer, identifying businesses and other charities we can work with and bringing a legal view on Remade as a whole.

Trustees are impressed with the amount of donated goods that is available and are now only concerned about the storage needed as Remade becomes more widely known. The main concerns now related to

- managing staff effectively
- finding more outlets for the plethora of goods available

The contingency bank account is reviewed regularly to ensure we continue to build up to 3 months trading costs.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

To advance arts and crafts in particular but not exclusively by:

- Facilitating the use and provision of recycled scrap or surplus materials as a creative resource to adults and children with the aim of improving their social welfare and conditions of life and mental health and wellbeing and by:
- Inspiring individual and group creativity for the public benefit and for the benefit of the environment

To protect and preserve the environment for the public benefit in particular but not exclusively by:

- Promoting reuse, recycling, use of recycled products and the use of surplus scrap, and by
- Advancing the education of the public about waste, recycling and use of surplus or scrap

A year on from opening the shopping Crowngate Shopping Centre in August/September 2023, the offer of fabrics, yarns, haberdashery and papercraft is becoming better known. The 5 sessions a week have been increased by the length of opening hours. During every day open we receive donations from the public which increase and greatly vary the stock available.

We have gone on to recruit further volunteers and had about 30 in place, working on a rota to process, present and sell fabrics for shows and the shop. We attended Malvern Quilt show in October and May and were able to promote our message as well as provide low cost craft fabrics to a wide range of customers. We also had a table at the Worcester Cathedral Craft Fair and Hellens Manor, Much Marcle for two events.

The range of workshops open to the public has increased as volunteers step up to share their skills. These provide opportunities to try new techniques and skills. We have made these as low cost as possible, charging from £5 per session including using our newest donations of leather from Morgan Motors. We have had very positive feedback and are now developing further workshop opportunities and group sessions. Customers are telling us that they want more workshops over a greater range of times and days. We have understood how this is helping with the health and mental wellbeing of those attending.

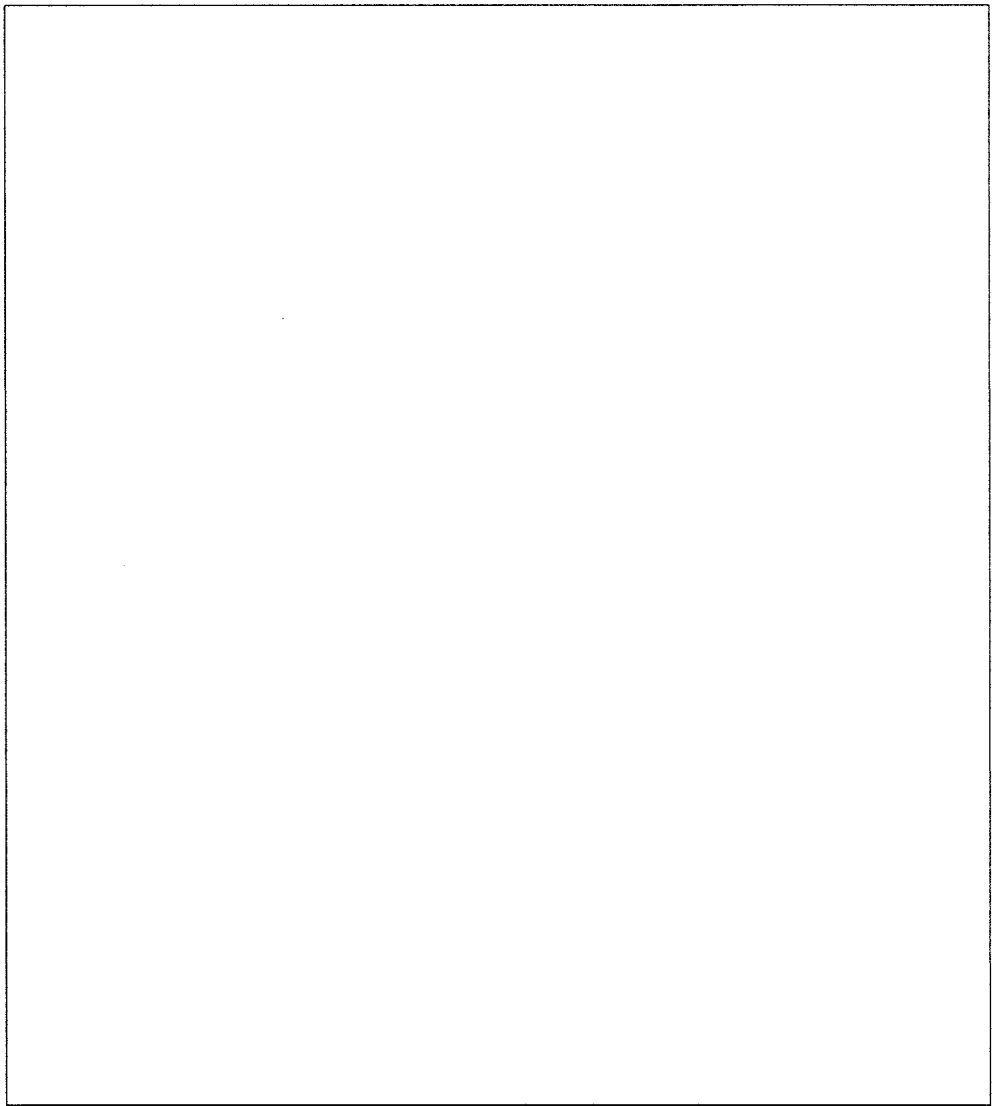

We are also contributing to the education of young people in fashion and sewing. We held a series of workshops for children between 8 and 18 partnering with IDC sewing centre to teach them how to make their own Fantasy Fashion outfits for a show in February 2025. This was a great success, with over 100 attending to see the outfits modelled by the makers, who wore their costumes with pride over their newfound skills. Some of the participants went on the Sewing for Pleasure show at the NEC and exhibited to a much wider audience.

Our pilot of boxes/bags of fabrics and craft materials to community groups, charities and schools has led us to recruiting an Intern from Birmingham University to study the feasibility of rolling this out further. We intend to recruit a project worker to perform an outreach role to contact a wide range of groups.

We have formed a close relationship with Quilts 4 You, a community group who work with refugees in the Wychavon area of Worcestershire to teach sewing skills. We provide fabric and some sewing machines to assist in this work.

As we have been able to grow our volunteer workforce, we have drawn on their skills and ideas to create new "products". This workforce has staffed the shop, helped customers greatly with their range of skills and knowledge and has made it possible to process the vast quantity of donations to make attractive shop displays as well as making it easy for customers to find what they are looking for.

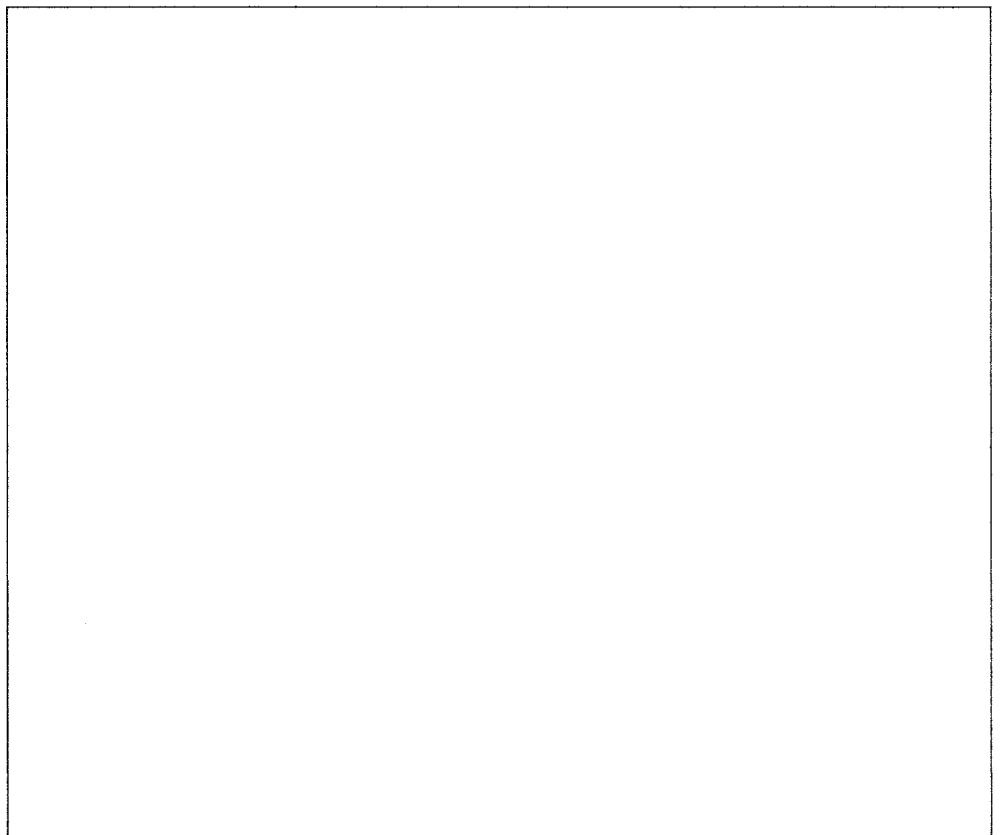

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

- Increased our volunteer workforce to at least 30

- Promoting reuse, recycling, use of recycled products and the use of surplus scrap, and by
- Advancing the education of the public about waste, recycling and use of surplus or scrap

We opened our Remade shop in August/September 2023 with the Support of Crowngate Shopping centre and began to sell our donated fabrics to the public on one morning a week, staffed by volunteers. By the end of June 2024, the shop had made steady progress opening up to 5 sessions a week. This has enabled the public to take up the low cost offer of fabrics from £2 a meter, and has also encouraged public donations of fabric and craft materials which would otherwise have gone to landfill.

We have gone on to recruit further volunteers and had about 20 in place, working on a rota to process, present and sell fabrics for shows and the shop. We attended Malvern Quilt show in October and May and were able to promote our message as well as provide low cost craft fabrics to a wide range of customers.

We have run a range of workshops open to the public, providing an opportunity to try new techniques and skills. We have made these as low cost as possible, charging from £5 per session. We have had very positive feedback and are now developing further workshop opportunities and group sessions in knitting, slow stitching, leatherwork and crafting. We have understood how this is helping with the health and mental wellbeing of those attending.

A group of "craftivists" are set to use the shop for some of their workshops sessions

We are beginning to pilot providing boxes/bags of fabrics and craft materials to community groups, charities and schools to enable them to create costumes for Young Theatre, a mural for a Church group, cloaks for re-enactors and general crafting projects. Fabrics are being used for for canal boat interiors and camper vans, and coats, cushions, bags, curtains, chairs and sofas for individual members of the public.

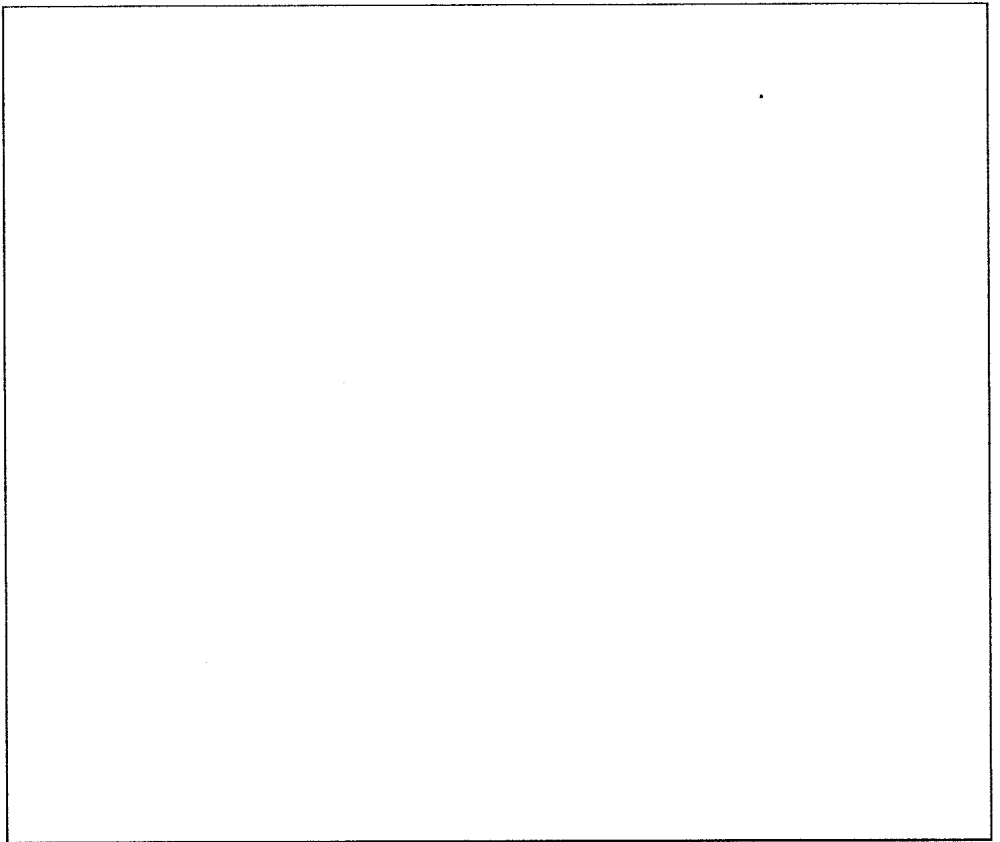

As our volunteer workforce has grown from 4 to 20, we have heard from them about how Remade has "Given me my life back", "Enabled me to grow in confidence again which has helped me to consider returning to work", "Given me an outlet and enthusiasm for my crafting which doesn't cost me a fortune!"
