Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

To relieve the suffering of unwanted, abandoned and neglected animals that need care, protection and treatment by reason of sickness, maltreatment, poor circumstances or ill usage, by the provision of a rescue, re-homing and the accommodation of such animals. To advance public education in matters concerning animal welfare in general and the prevention of cruelty and suffering among animals.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

The charity provides a safe and permanent sanctuary for rescued farm animals, ensuring they can live out the rest of their lives in comfort, safety and dignity. Animals in our care receive appropriate shelter, nutrition and veterinary attention, including specialist care for illness, injury and age-related conditions. Our work is focused on improving animal welfare and preventing suffering caused by neglect, abandonment or poor living conditions.

We achieve our charitable aims through the following activities:

- Rescue, rehabilitation and lifelong care

We work in collaboration with other animal rescues, welfare organisations and individuals to alleviate animal suffering caused by neglect, illness, maltreatment or unsafe environments. Where appropriate, we respond to reports of animals in distress, remove them from harmful situations and bring them to safety. Animals are either provided with lifelong care at the sanctuary or supported into suitable alternative placements where this best meets their needs.

- Education and awareness

We promote kindness, compassion and responsible treatment of animals by educating the public about animal welfare. Through digital platforms, communications with supporters and private sanctuary visits, we raise awareness of animal cruelty prevention, appropriate animal care, and the benefits of sponsoring or supporting rescued farm animals. These activities help build long-term understanding and engagement with animal welfare issues.

- Public engagement and volunteering

The charity offers opportunities for members of the public to interact with and learn about farm animals through volunteering, visits and fundraising activities. These experiences help people form meaningful connections with animals, challenge perceptions of farm animals, and encourage compassionate behaviour, while also supporting the sustainability of the sanctuary.

- Fundraising and sustainability

To support our ongoing work, the charity undertakes fundraising activities including seeking donations and grants, offering animal sponsorships, and hosting private visits. These activities generate essential income to meet the costs of animal care, veterinary treatment, feed, and sanctuary maintenance.

The Trustees have had due regard to the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit and confirm that the charity's activities are carried out for the benefit of the public.

Public Benefit

The charity provides public benefit in the following ways:

- Animals in need

The primary beneficiaries of the charity's work are unwanted, abandoned and neglected animals. Through rescue, rehabilitation and lifelong care, the charity improves their welfare and quality of life.

- The wider community
The sanctuary acts as a focal point for people who share values of compassion and kindness towards animals. Visitors and volunteers engage directly with the animals, fostering community involvement, social connection and shared responsibility for animal welfare.
- Animal lovers and sponsors
The charity provides opportunities for individuals to sponsor animals, allowing them to support animal welfare without the responsibility of direct care. Sponsorships increase public engagement while contributing to the animals' ongoing care.
- Volunteers and supporters
Volunteers benefit by gaining a sense of purpose, fulfilment and practical experience in animal care and sanctuary operations, while contributing their time and skills to further the charity's objectives.
- Educational groups and learners
Educational visits and volunteering opportunities help raise awareness of animal welfare, encourage empathy and compassion, and provide hands-on learning experiences related to sanctuary management and animal care.

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;

Section D

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

Throughout the year, the charity continued to care for all animals in its care, ensuring their welfare, safety and day-to-day needs were met. This year proved exceptionally challenging due to prolonged dry weather and drought conditions. The lack of grass meant that animals required hay feeding throughout the summer months, rather than only during winter. This significantly increased costs at a time when donations were already under pressure. Although conditions improved later in the year, providing some financial relief, overall expenditure remained high. The cost of animal care continued to rise, with animal feed and veterinary expenses remaining the charity's largest areas of spend. Veterinary fees, medication and specialist care increased, particularly as several animals in the flock are ageing and now require ongoing treatment, including regular medication for conditions such as arthritis. In addition to animal care, the charity continued to maintain the sanctuary grounds and facilities. Ongoing work included fencing repairs, barn maintenance and general upkeep to ensure a safe and secure environment for both animals and volunteers. On a positive note, the charity experienced increased engagement through its animal sponsorship programme, with more residents being sponsored during the year. Sponsorship remains an important source of regular income, particularly given the ongoing challenge of fundraising for farm animals. While donations have continued to grow gradually, the trustees recognise that further development of fundraising activities remains necessary. Volunteer support remained a vital part of the charity's operations. The charity successfully recruited new volunteers during the year and continued to build its volunteer network. Volunteers assisted with essential tasks including hoof trimming, rounding up, sanctuary maintenance, mucking out, seasonal clean-ups and general husbandry support. During the year, the charity sadly lost one sheep. While losses are always difficult, overall animal welfare remained stable, and no other animals were lost during the reporting period. The trustees remain committed to continuing and developing the charity's work, ensuring high standards of animal welfare while adapting to rising costs and external challenges.

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

To relieve the suffering of unwanted, abandoned and neglected animals that need care, protection and treatment by reason of sickness, maltreatment, poor circumstances or ill usage, by the provision of a rescue, re-homing and the accommodation of such animals. To advance public education in matters concerning animal welfare in general and the prevention of cruelty and suffering among animals.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

We provide a safe haven for rescued animals where they can live the rest of their lives in comfort while receiving the specialised care and attention they need. Animals at the sanctuary are provided with appropriate shelters, nourishment, and medical care to address illnesses, injuries, or other health issues.

We achieve our mission by:

We collaborate with other rescues and individuals to alleviate suffering caused by neglect, illness, maltreatment, and poor living conditions. Our rescue operations aim to help animals in distress, unsafe environments, or those abandoned or neglected. We respond to reports of animal suffering, removing animals from harmful situations, bringing them to safety, and rehoming them with rescues or individuals who can provide suitable homes.

We educate the public to treat animals with kindness and respect by raising awareness about their needs and preventing cruelty and neglect. Through digital platforms and private sanctuary tours, we share educational materials on animal cruelty prevention, proper care, and the benefits of adopting or sponsoring rescue farm animals. These efforts also foster long-term relationships, encouraging ongoing support for our sanctuary.

We offer opportunities for the public to interact, connect, and bond with farm animals through volunteering, visits, and fundraising events. These interactions help the public relate to farm animals while supporting our fundraising initiatives to sustain rescue operations.

To sustain our rescue efforts, we engage in various fundraising activities, including soliciting donations, seeking grants, offering animal sponsorships, and hosting private tours. These initiatives contribute to generating funds necessary to continue our work.

The Trustees have given careful consideration to and complied with the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit.

We provide public benefit through:

Animals in need - The primary beneficiaries of our work are unwanted, abandoned, and neglected animals in distress. Through rescue and rehabilitation, we improve their well-being, offering them a chance for a better life by working with individuals and rescue organisations.

Community - Our sanctuary serves as a community hub where people can connect through shared values. Visitors and volunteers interact with animals daily, fostering a sense of community spirit and cohesion while supporting the sanctuary's mission.

Animal lovers and potential sponsors - We provide opportunities for animal lovers to sponsor or adopt farm animals. Sponsorships allow individuals to care for a chosen animal without the responsibility of physical care at home.

Volunteers and supporters - Our sanctuary offers a platform for volunteers to contribute to the care of animals, giving them a sense of purpose and fulfilment. Supporters of animal welfare can use their skills and time to further the sanctuary's mission.

Educational visits - We provide educational visits and volunteering opportunities to teach students about animal welfare and encourage compassion for animals. These activities also offer hands-on experience in sanctuary management.

Local organisations - Businesses and corporations that align with our mission can enhance their social responsibility reputation by supporting our efforts through sponsorships, partnerships or donations.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;

Section D

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

This year has been a successful one in terms of raising awareness about the sanctuary and our work. We have built a significant volunteer base to support the sanctuary's activities.

We are gradually increasing year-on-year donations to ensure the sanctuary becomes self-sufficient. Our social media following is also on the increase.

Caring for the resident animals remains a key priority for the sanctuary, ensuring that the sheep and goats stay healthy and that their various health conditions are well managed.

We have been collaborating with other sanctuaries to help rehome goats in need of a safe place. This year, we successfully rehomed two pygmy goats that had been abandoned in the woods. They are now safe and well cared for at another sanctuary that could provide them with a suitable home.

Visitor numbers to the sanctuary have increased, and those who have visited have greatly enjoyed meeting the animals, connecting with them, and sponsoring their care. Visitors also learn about the specific needs of sheep and goats, as well as how to care for them.

Our volunteers have gained hands-on experience in caring for sheep and goats, including animal handling, general health checks, hoof trimming and grass management.

We are grateful to our local community, supporters, and volunteers for making our sanctuary an integral part of the community and for helping us care for animals in need.
