You may choose to include additional information, where relevant, about:

- policies and procedures adopted for the induction and training of trustees;
- the charity's organisational structure and any wider network with which the charity works;
- relationship with any related parties;
- trustees' consideration of major risks and the system and procedures to manage them.

The Trustees met formally seven times during this financial period. Each time they were joined by the Managing Editor who is not a Trustee but who manages the operations of the charity on a day-to-day basis, develops and edits truth magazine and promotes the work of the charity.

The primary risks to the charity are reputational and financial. Reputational risk, in particular relating to the content of truth and associated social media posts are managed in two ways: firstly, Trustees have a frequent dialogue with the Managing Editor about forthcoming content of the magazine to assess if any topics, for example around anxiety, relationships or addiction would need to be carefully managed; secondly, the Trustees maintain a checklist of items which is consulted during the process of developing an issue of the magazine.

Financial risk is managed by the Trustees only commissioning a new issue of the magazine (the main item of cost to the charity) once sufficient funding is available, by not having any employees or premises at the current time and by conservative financial forecasting.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

To advance the Christian faith in the UK and overseas for the public benefit by the production and distribution of printed and digital media and by holding talks and other events of an evangelistic nature to enlighten others about the Christian religion.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

The charity published issue 10 and 11 of truth magazine during 2025 and made significant progress on the development of issue 12. The magazine was promoted at the Focus and Orchard Women Christian events during the year as well as through Instagram, YouTube and personal contacts.

The trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

Section D

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

truth magazine continues to offer distinctive, accessible and evangelistic Christian content, grounded in scripture, covering a wide range of issues affecting women and featuring interviews with women about their faith experience.

During 2025, the charity published issues 10 and 11 of truth and made significant progress on the production of issue 12. The content of the magazine now includes devotional sections based on a Bible passage and leading into prayer. Alongside issue 11, the charity released a film of the main interview, published on YouTube and Instagram, a first for the charity.

A major achievement this year has been the transformation in the magazine's reach, particularly among some of the most marginalised women in society. Where truth had no presence in prisons last year, it is now distributed through chaplaincy teams in four women's prisons across the UK. The magazine is also reaching women through charities in East Sussex, the Midlands and Oxfordshire, supporting those in the sex industry and women experiencing abuse, addiction and homelessness.

The charity promoted the magazine again this year at the Focus and Orchard Women events in Newark and Birmingham respectively. An updated stall design was rolled out. These large events were complemented by a smaller gathering led by the Managing Editor and a stall at a women's event in Leatherhead.

Finally, the team of people involved in the production of the magazine has increased. Most of these work part time on a voluntary basis.

Section E

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

The charity does not have a formal policy on reserves. Instead, it manages financial risks as outlined above. In the future, the charity would develop a reserves policy should it have employees or other significant liabilities.

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

Receipts:

Whilst the level of donations declined in 2025 (£3,672) compared to 2024 (£7,520), this is due to the receipt in 2024 of 2 lump sum start up donations. In contrast, donations in 2025 consisted primarily of regular monthly giving from the charity's supporters. Magazine sales increased significantly in 2025 (£952) compared to 2024 (£180), reflecting a combination of there being 2 issues published in 2025 (2024: 1) and greater traction with sales.

Payments:

Magazine production costs (printing, design, filming, photography and writing) and associated editorial costs continued to form the majority of the charity's cost base (2025: 64%). The doubling of the number of magazine issues published in 2025 plus inclusion of filming costs for issue 11 meant that the level of payments in 2025 (£7,666) was significantly higher than in 2024 (£2,436). The charity also continued to invest in having a presence at prominent Christian events in order to build awareness and following of the magazine.

I report to the trustees on my examination of the accounts of the above charity ("the Trust") for the year ended 31st December 2025.

Responsibilities and basis of report

As the charity trustees of the Trust, you are responsible for the preparation of the accounts in accordance with the requirements of the Charities Act 2011 ("the Act").

I report in respect of my examination of the Trust's accounts carried out under section 145 of the 2011 Act and in carrying out my examination, I have followed the applicable Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the Act.

Independent
examiner's statement

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no material matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination which gives me cause to believe that in, any material respect:

- accounting records were not kept in accordance with section 130 of the Act or
- the accounts do not accord with the accounting records

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

To advance the Christian faith in the UK and overseas for the public benefit by the production and distribution of printed and digital media and by holding talks and other events of an evangelistic nature to enlighten others about the Christian religion.

The charity published Issue 9 of Truth magazine in July 2024. This was promoted at the Focus and Orchard Women Christian events during the year as well as through Instagram and personal contacts. 100 copies of the magazine were given to vulnerable women in the West Midlands. The charity also began developing content for Issue 10 of Truth magazine.

The trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

This was the first year of operation for the charity, having taken over the publication of Truth magazine from Rebel Hearts Rebel Girls Ltd. In addition to the publication of Issue 9, its promotion at prominent events and the development of Issue 10, the charity secured funding from two charitable trusts and developed its strategy to include vulnerable women in the target audience.
