2. Objectives:

The charity exists to preserve and protect the health of members of the African and Caribbean communities living with chronic kidney disease (CKD). It provides support services, promotes organ donation, and raises awareness of kidney health. It also advances public education on CKD through workshops, seminars, and community engagement.

Main Activities

During the reporting period, the charity delivered a programme of community engagement, education, and awareness-raising activities to support individuals and families affected by chronic kidney disease (CKD).

Key activities included:

- Participation in more than 10 community engagement events, providing information, advice, guidance, and signposting to members of the public.
- Delivery of six educational webinars aimed at increasing understanding of kidney disease, prevention, treatment options, and available support services.
- Contributions to community radio discussions, extending awareness messages to wider audiences and promoting public understanding of kidney health and organ donation.
- Participation in meetings with partner organisations, healthcare stakeholders, and community groups to contribute to service development and improve support pathways for affected individuals.
- Development and utilisation of a range of engagement tools, information resources, and educational materials to improve access to information and support informed decision-making.
- Continued operation of the charity's choir as a community engagement and outreach initiative, with performances at six events during the year. These performances helped raise awareness of kidney disease, promoted the charity's work, and strengthened community connections.

Collectively, these activities supported the charity's objectives of raising awareness, providing accessible information and guidance, promoting organ donation, and maintaining a visible and trusted presence within the community.

3. Achievements and Performance

The charity delivered measurable impact during the year through its awareness-raising, education, and community engagement activities.

Key achievements included:

- Delivery of six webinars, providing accessible health information and reaching individuals who may otherwise have limited access to specialist kidney health advice.
- Expansion of the charity's reach through community radio participation and public performances, helping to communicate key health messages to diverse audiences.
- Strengthened partnerships with healthcare providers, community organisations, and other stakeholders, enabling greater collaboration and support for individuals affected by kidney disease.
- Improved access to information and support through the development and distribution of educational resources and engagement tools.
- Continued promotion of organ donation awareness, encouraging informed conversations within communities and supporting wider public health objectives.
- Contribution towards reducing health inequalities by engaging with underserved and harder-to-reach communities and increasing access to culturally appropriate health information.

Performance during the year demonstrates the charity's continued effectiveness in delivering community-based kidney health education and support. Through a combination of direct engagement, partnership working, educational activities, and public outreach, the charity successfully increased its visibility, expanded its reach, and strengthened support for individuals and families affected by kidney disease.
