THE MODERN LAW REVIEW LIMITED

The Trustees present their annual report together with the audited financial statements of The Modern Law Review Limited for the year 1 January 2024 to 31 December 2024. The Annual report serves the purposes of both a Trustees' report and a directors' report under company law. The Trustees confirm that the Annual report and financial statements of the charitable company comply with the current statutory requirements, the requirements of the charitable company's governing document and the provisions of the Statement of Recommended Practice (SORP) applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS102) (effective 1 January 2019).

Since the charitable company qualifies as small under section 382 of the Companies Act 2006, the Strategic report required of medium and large companies under the Companies Act 2006 (Strategic Report and Directors' Report) Regulations 2013 has been omitted.

Statement of Trustees' responsibilities

The Trustees (who are also the directors of the charitable company for the purposes of company law) are responsible for preparing the Trustees' report and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

Company law requires the Trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year. Under company law, the Trustees must not approve the financial statements unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charitable company and of its incoming resources and application of resources, including its income and expenditure, for that period. In preparing these financial statements, the Trustees are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- observe the methods and principles of the Charities SORP (FRS 102);
- make judgments and accounting estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable UK Accounting Standards (FRS 102) have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements;
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charitable company will continue in business.

The Trustees are responsible for keeping adequate accounting records that are sufficient to show and explain the charitable company's transactions and disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charitable company and enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charitable company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Disclosure of information to auditors

The trustees confirm that so far as they are aware, there is no relevant audit information (as defined by section 418(3) of the Companies Act 2006) of which the charitable company's auditors are unaware. They have taken all the steps that they ought to have taken as trustees in order to make themselves aware of any relevant audit information and to establish that the charitable company's auditors are aware of that information.

Reference and Administrative Details

The Chief Executive Officer of the company is the General Editor, currently Thomas Poole. The General Editor is responsible for the day to day management of the company.

Structure, Governance and Management

The company was established under a Memorandum of Association which established the objects and powers of the charitable company and is governed under its Articles of Association.

There are 24 Directors who meet at least four times a year as the Editorial Committee, which is responsible for the running of the company. The Directors of the company, and Trustees for the purposes of Charity Law, during the year ended 31st December 2024 are listed on page 1.

There are no significant contracts in which the Directors had or have material interests, nor are there any arrangements to which the company is or was a party, to enable the Directors to acquire the benefit or acquisition of shares in or debentures of any company.

Members of the Advisory Board, which includes former members of the Editorial Committee and others with expertise in the areas of the company's activities, are available to provide advice to the Editorial Committee as and when required.

The Editorial Committee keeps its membership under regular review and new members are recruited as the Committee thinks necessary for the efficient carrying out of the company's business. The Committee's membership has traditionally been drawn largely, though not exclusively, from among the body of legal academics in British universities.

Risk Management

The Directors manage risks as they arise. They also believe that maintaining reserves at their current level, combined with controls over key financial operations will provide sufficient resources in the event of adverse conditions.

Objectives and Activities

The objects of the company are to promote legal education and the study of law and all other arts and sciences and in particular those which are or may be or become of interest to persons concerned in the study or practice of law which involve some legal element and discussion of all questions and topics arising thereout by such means as may be deemed desirable and in particular by the publication issue and circulation of a journal review or other periodical, and by the organisation of lectures, discussions, correspondence with public bodies or individuals and the donation or founding of any scholarships, prizes or other rewards or distinctions. In furtherance of these objects, the company:

- Publishes the Modern Law Review;
- Organises the annual Chorley lecture;
- Provides financial support for seminars on legal or law related topics;
- Provides scholarships for doctoral research on legal or law related subjects;
- Organises an annual workshop for Early Career Scholars;
- Sponsors the translation of scholarly works on legal or law related subjects which are not currently available in English; and
- Offers an annual prize for an exemplary article published by an early career scholar in the Modern Law Review.

Financial Review

Contract with Wiley: The year 2024 was the third year in which the Modern Law Review was published in accordance with the terms of a revised profit sharing agreement made with Wiley Blackwell Publishing in 2021. This contract included the provision that the accounts for the bound volume should be integrated into the main journal accounts. Under the agreement, the amount received by MLR for the journal and bound volume for the year ending 31 December 2024, was £140,034. Under the contract, a separate payment of £20,000 was made by Wiley as a contribution to editorial costs. A new contract has now been agreed for a three-year term, commencing in January 2025.

Production Assistance and Articles Administration: The amount spent on production assistance and articles administration in the year ended 31st December 2024 was £39,202, compared with £40,748 in the year ended 31st December 2023. The now well established system for processing submissions to the articles section of the Review continues to work well. Payments are also made to outside contractors for copy editing, proof reading and preparation of the annual index to the Review. This expenditure ensures that the company fulfils its obligations in relation to the production of the Review.

Administrative Assistance: Payment for this service, which is essential for the efficient running of the company, is made in accordance with the terms of an agreement between the company and the Law School of the London School of Economics which was revised in 2005. The cost of this assistance was £10,000 in 2024

Reserves: The present level of funding is adequate to support the continuation of the company and the Directors consider the position of the company to be satisfactory. The Directors are continuing to assess the possible impact of economic fluctuations such as those caused by the cost of living crisis on the long term outlook for the company.

Taxation Status: The company is a Registered Charity (Charity No. 264072) and as such is exempt from all Income and Corporation Tax liability.

Auditors: A resolution to reappoint Calder & Co. as auditors will be proposed at the Annual General Meeting of the company.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT TO THE MEMBERS OF THE MODERN LAW REVIEW LIMITED

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of The Modern Law Review Limited (the 'charitable company') for the year ended 31 December 2024 which comprise the Statement of financial activities incorporating income and expenditure account, the Balance sheet and the related notes, including a summary of significant accounting policies. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards, including Financial Reporting Standard 102 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland' (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

In our opinion the financial statements:

- give a true and fair view of the state of the charitable company's affairs as at 31 December 2024 and of its incoming resources and application of resources, including its income and expenditure for the year then ended;
- have been properly prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice; and
- have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) (ISAs (UK)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the charitable company in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in the United Kingdom, including the Financial Reporting Council's Ethical Standard, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

In auditing the financial statements, we have concluded that the Trustees' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements is appropriate.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the charitable company's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of at least twelve months from when the financial statements are authorised for issue.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the Trustees with respect to going concern are described in the relevant sections of this report.

Other information

The other information comprises the information included in the Annual report other than the financial statements and our Auditors' report thereon. The Trustees are responsible for the other information contained within the Annual report. Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in our report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon. Our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the course of the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether this gives rise to a material misstatement in the financial statements themselves. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Opinion on other matters prescribed by the Companies Act 2006

In our opinion, based on the work undertaken in the course of the audit:

- the information given in the Trustees' report for the financial year for which the financial statements are prepared is consistent with the financial statements.
- the Trustees' report has been prepared in accordance with applicable legal requirements.

Matters on which we are required to report by exception

In the light of our knowledge and understanding of the charitable company and its environment obtained in the course of the audit, we have not identified material misstatements in the Trustees' report.

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters in relation to which Companies Act 2006 requires us to report to you if, in our opinion:

- adequate accounting records have not been kept, or returns adequate for our audit have not been received from branches not visited by us; or
- the financial statements are not in agreement with the accounting records and returns; or
- certain disclosures of Trustees' remuneration specified by law are not made; or
- we have not received all the information and explanations we require for our audit; or
- the Trustees were not entitled to prepare the financial statements in accordance with the small companies regime and take advantage of the small companies' exemptions in preparing the Trustees' report and from the requirement to prepare a Strategic report.

Responsibilities of trustees

As explained more fully in the Trustees' responsibilities statement, the Trustees (who are also the directors of the charitable company for the purposes of company law) are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as the Trustees determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the Trustees are responsible for assessing the charitable company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Trustees either intend to liquidate the charitable company or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an Auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

Irregularities, including fraud, are instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations. We design procedures in line with our responsibilities, outlined above, to detect material misstatements in respect of irregularities, including fraud. The extent to which our procedures are capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud is detailed below:

In identifying and assessing risks of material misstatement in respect of irregularities, including fraud and non-compliance with laws and regulations, we considered and undertook the following audit procedures in response:

- We obtained an understanding of the legal and regulatory frameworks that are applicable to the charitable company and determined that the most significant are those that relate to the reporting frameworks (Charities SORP, United Kingdom accounting standards and Companies Act 2006);
- We obtained an understanding of the nature of the industry and sector, control environment and business performance;
- The outcome of discussions with management and those charged with governance and any matters we identified having obtained and reviewed the charitable company's documentation of their policies and procedures related to:
 - Identifying, evaluating and complying with laws and regulations and whether they were aware of any instances of non-compliance or any actual or potential litigation or claims;
 - Detecting and responding to the risks of fraud and whether they have knowledge of any actual, suspected or alleged fraud;
 - The internal controls established to mitigate risks of fraud or non-compliance with laws and regulations;
- The matters discussed during the audit engagement team briefing regarding how and where fraud might occur in the financial statements and any potential indicators of fraud. All engagement team members were advised to remain alert to any indications of fraud or non-compliance with laws and regulations throughout the audit;
- Reviewing the financial statement disclosures and testing to supporting documentation to assess compliance with provisions of relevant laws and regulations described as having a direct effect on the financial statements;
- Performing analytical procedures to identify any unusual or unexpected relationships that may indicate risks of material misstatement due to fraud;
- Reviewing minutes of meetings of those charged with governance and reviewing correspondence with HMRC and inspection of relevant legal correspondence;
- In addressing the risk of fraud through management override of controls, testing the appropriateness of journal entries and other adjustments by testing manual journal entries, in particular journal entries relating to management estimates and entries determined to be large or relating to unusual transactions;
- Assessing whether the judgements made in making accounting estimates are indicative of a potential bias; and evaluating the business rationale of any significant transactions that are unusual or outside the normal course of business;

THE MODERN LAW REVIEW LIMITED

- Assessment of the appropriateness of the collective competence and capabilities of the engagement team included consideration of the engagement team's:
 - understanding of, and practical experience with audit engagements of a similar nature and complexity through appropriate training and participation;
 - knowledge of the industry in which the client operates;
 - understanding of the legal and regulatory requirements specific to the charitable company including:
 - the provisions of the applicable legislation
 - the applicable statutory provisions.

As a result of these procedures, we considered the opportunities and incentives that may exist within the charitable company for fraud and identified the greatest potential for fraud in the areas in which management is required to exercise significant judgement. We are also required to perform specific procedures to respond to the risk of management override.

We also obtained an understanding of the legal and regulatory framework that the charitable company operates in, focusing on provisions of those laws and regulations that had a direct effect on the determination of the material amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.

Those laws and regulations considered to have a direct effect on the financial statements include UK financial reporting standards and Charity Law.

With regards to laws and regulations relating to the operating aspects of the charitable company, these were discussed with management and were not considered fundamental to the operating of the business therefore should not have a material impact on the financial statements.

No instances of material non-compliance were identified. However, the likelihood of detecting irregularities, including fraud, is limited by the inherent difficulty in detecting irregularities, the effectiveness of the entity's controls, and the nature, timing and extent of the audit procedures performed. Irregularities that result from fraud might be inherently more difficult to detect than irregularities that result from error. As explained above, there is an unavoidable risk that material misstatements may not be detected, even though the audit has been planned and performed in accordance with ISAs (UK).

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is located on the Financial Reporting Council's website at: www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities. This description forms part of our Auditors' report.

Liabilities are recognised when there is an obligation at the Balance sheet date as a result of a past event, it is probable that a transfer of economic benefit will be required in settlement, and the amount of the settlement can be estimated reliably. Liabilities are recognised at the amount that the charitable company anticipates it will pay to settle the debt or the amount it has received as advanced payments for the goods or services it must provide. Provisions are measured at the best estimate of the amounts required to settle the obligation. Where the effect of the time value of money is material, the provision is based on the present value of those amounts, discounted at the pre-tax discount rate that reflects the risks specific to the liability. The unwinding of the discount is recognised in the Statement of financial activities incorporating income and expenditure account as a finance cost.
