TRUSTEES' REPORT

The Trustees present their annual report together with the financial statements of the Company for the year 1 April 2023 to 31 March 2024. The Annual Report serves the purposes of both a Trustees' report and a directors' report under company law. The Trustees confirm that the Annual Report and financial statements of the charitable company comply with the current statutory requirements, the requirements of the charitable company's governing document and the provisions of the Statement of Recommended Practice (SORP) applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS102) (effective 1 January 2019).

Since the Company qualifies as small under section 382 of the Companies Act 2006, the Strategic Report required of medium and large companies under the Companies Act 2006 (Strategic Report and Directors' Report) Regulations 2013 has been omitted.

Objectives, Principal Activities and Organisation

The Advisory Committee on Protection of the Sea ("ACOPS") is a non-campaigning UK-based environmental NGO established in 1952 by then MP Jim Callaghan. It is a limited liability charity thereby registered with both the Charity Commission and Companies House. ACOPS is a registered charity, number 290776. It is also registered as a charitable company limited by guarantee, company number 01867863, and is therefore governed by its Memorandum and Articles of Association.

Trustees may be appointed under the terms of the Articles of Association. Newly appointed trustees are given sufficient training and instruction in order to enable them to complete their necessary duties. The charity is administered by the Board of Trustees and Directors. The Chair of the Board is Youna Le Berre Lemaire Lyons.

In setting objectives and planning for activities, the Trustees have given due consideration to general guidance published by the Charity Commission relating to public benefit, including the guidance 'Public benefit: running a charity (PB2)'. They believe that the Charity's mission and approach are essentially driven by public interest and are of great benefit to the public.

The charity's object and principal activity have evolved since its establishment in 1952. When its initial sustained contribution to and involvement in the work of the International Maritime Organisation (IMO), its primary focus was on oil pollution. Notably, in 1953, it invited all the parties to the 1948 SOLAS Convention to combat shipping pollution and contributed to the development of a new treaty, the 1954 OILPOL. Focus on oil pollution later evolved to supporting the prevention of marine pollution and the protection of the marine environment in general with a focus on sound science and the respect of international environmental law.

Following a renewal of the Board of trustees in 2019, ACOPS has been joined with new trustees, with the intention of continuing to expand the board of expertises from the different branches of interest and specialization that shape the development of marine and maritime activities and that ocean governance in general. The Board of Trustees is now composed of four trustees. Dr Philomène Verlaan resigned from her trustee's position in December 2021 but continues to support ACOPS work in her areas of expertise, especially Deep Seabed Mining and geoengineering under the London Convention and its Protocol, as Special Adviser. Two new trustees joined us during this period: Dr Sian Prior and Mrs Jeanie Falconer.

ACOPS' work is primarily driven by volunteers on a model of mutually beneficial volunteering. Volunteers bring their technical (and often specialized) knowledge, time, and/or interest in key marine issues of concern followed by ACOPS; for example on sources and environmental impacts of underwater noise or marine plastics in different ocean basins. In exchange, they get the rare opportunity to get training on applicable institutional and legal frameworks and on the development of policies in intergovernmental bodies that ACOPS has consultative bodies with. They also get to engage and collaborate with ACOPS' multi-disciplinary, trans-sectoral and cooperative network and approaches.

In terms of activities, we pursued the same approach structured around the four following components:

1. Informing and engaging on the importance of oceans to humanity and the impacts of on-going environmental stresses on oceans

Informing on root causes of marine pollution and associated issues and processes. This includes an engagement to inform and explain these to young adults as well as the deep and varied paths of connection we, humans, have with the marine environment (seas and oceans and their biotic and abiotic parts);

2. Training and capacity building

Training young and senior professionals who contribute or aspire to contribute to the protection of the marine environment to the development of marine environmental policies in intergovernmental bodies and developing publicly available tools and content;

3. Advising on the preservation of the seas and oceans from pollution and degradation by human activities, natural processes and feedback mechanisms on the basis of international environmental law and policy and sound science

This includes support and contribution to intergovernmental meetings and working groups on marine environmental issues;

4. Engaging with our specialized network

Engaging and collaborating with our specialized network on these topics and envisage sustainable paths forward that take into account all fields of expertise needed to shape marine environmental policy (ie relevant natural sciences as well as social, economic, legal and political sciences). This network includes individuals as well as research institutions, businesses, domestic agencies and international organisations organized in different types and depth of engagement.

Developments, Activities and Achievements in the Year
Financial review

Incoming resources amounted to £61,502 during the year (2023 - £5,803). This included grant funding of £61,502 (2023 - £NIL). Expenditure on projects and administration costs amounted to £23,538 (2023 - £6,188). At the 31 March 2024 the fund balances were £45,222 (2023 - £7,258).

Reserves policy

The charity is able to continue operating with a small reserves balance because it has very few fixed costs. If necessary, operations could be scaled back in line with incoming resources. Project donors do not provide funds in advance and in order to ensure that projects can continue the charity must make investment in projects prior to receiving grant awards. This continues to put severe pressure on the funds of the charity. However, the Trustees ensure that sufficient resources are held in an appropriate form to enable in particular restricted funds to be applied in accordance with the restrictions imposed. Details of the position of funds at the end of the year are given in the notes to the financial statements.

Investment Policy and Performance

Under the Memorandum and Articles of Association the charity has the power to make any investment which the Trustees see fit. The Trustees consider the most appropriate policy for investing funds and, being aware of the risks set out below, have determined that surplus cash when available should be placed on deposit with its bankers, the period of notice being governed by cash flow requirements and available funds.

Risk Management

The major risk the charity is exposed to arises from the need to pre-finance projects as referred to under the paragraph on reserves. The Trustees continue to seek alternative sources of finance.

Going concern

After making appropriate enquiries, the Trustees have a reasonable expectation that the Company has adequate resources to continue in operational existence for the foreseeable future. For this reason, they continue to adopt the going concern basis in preparing the financial statements. Further details regarding the adoption of the going concern basis can be found in the accounting policies.

Statement of Trustees' responsibilities

The Trustees (who are also the directors of the Company for the purposes of company law) are responsible for preparing the Trustees' Report and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

Company law requires the Trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial . Under company law, the Trustees must not approve the financial statements unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the Company and of its incoming resources and application of resources, including its income and expenditure, for that period. In preparing these financial statements, the Trustees are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- observe the methods and principles of the Charities SORP (FRS 102);
- make judgments and accounting estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable UK Accounting Standards (FRS 102) have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements;
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the Company will continue in business.

The Trustees are responsible for keeping adequate accounting records that are sufficient to show and explain the Company's transactions and disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the Company and enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the Company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Having satisfied myself that the accounts of the Company are not required to be audited under Part 16 of the 2006 Act and are eligible for independent examination, I report in respect of my examination of the Company's accounts carried out under section 145 of the Charities Act 2011 ('the 2011 Act'). Independent Examiner's Statement

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination giving me cause to believe:

1. accounting records were not kept in respect of the Company as required by section 386 of the 2006 Act; or
2. the accounts do not accord with those records; or
3. the accounts do not comply with the accounting requirements of section 396 of the 2006 Act other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair' view which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination; or
4. the accounts have not been prepared in accordance with the methods and principles of the Statement of Recommended Practice for accounting and reporting by charities [applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102)].

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
