Trustees Annual Report 2025.

For the period 01/02/2024 - 31/01/2025

The trust again succeeded in its remit of providing suitable, low cost, accommodation in an outdoor environment for a large number of groups, which generated sufficient income to maintain and improve the facilities on offer. There were 38 completed bookings in 2024 with 1939 bed nights over 110 nights. Youth groups accounted for 950 bed nights (49% of the total) enabling many young people to enjoy and appreciate the outdoor life in the hills of the Eryri (Snowdonia) National Park which surround Bron-y-Gader.

Although the income for 2025 was substantial, the expenditure was also increased. It was therefore agreed that the financial reserve to be maintained would be increased to £5000. During the year work started on renovating the management block. The year was also the 50th anniversary of operating the centre, and a celebratory day was arranged. It was also agreed that the web site (bron-y-gader.org) would be updated. During the year the agreed fee was paid to solicitors to register the property, Bron-y-Gader, with the Land Registry. We will be informed when this is completed. The water from the bore hole was satisfactorily tested by Conwy Council in July, and the lounge chimney swept in November.

There have been 4 volunteer working parties throughout the year, plus other day visits by volunteers to check the site. There were about 15 volunteers, including Trustees, who assisted in running the centre during the period. Time was spent on repairing the track, the car park, and other maintenance tasks. Contractors have also been involved in repairing or maintaining onsite fittings. Three trees identified by the National Park as unsafe have been felled by a contractor. As normal the centre closed over the winter period in order to prevent the water system freezing.

The accounts for the year are attached to this report.

CURRENT ASSETS

£12115 cash at bank carried forward to current 2025/26 year.

CURRENT LIABILITIES

The accountancy charges have been treated as accruals since we started paying these fees in May 2022. In July 2024 I queried it, as accruals normally refer to goods & services which are supplied in one accounting period but are not paid for until the next accounting period and this was not the case with our accounts. This was the accountant's reply:

- We can put the accountancy fees onto a cash basis but please note that there will be no accountancy charge in this year's accounts as the accrual brought forward will match off the invoice paid this year and then going forward it will be on a payments basis.

The system has now been changed so that the accountancy fee is on a payments basis. The accrual from the 23/24 accounts has been cleared and this year's 24/25 accounts therefore shows a nil accrual figure in the Current Liabilities section. This is the accountant's explanation to be attached to the accounts:

- Please note, as discussed previously that this year the accountancy fee is the amount it is as we are matching off the accrual brought forward for the 2024 accounts fees against the payment for the 2024 accounts. Going forward this will be on a cash basis so the 2025 accounts bill will be paid during the 2026 year and so will be the accountancy fee in the accounts and so on in future years.

From the 25/26 accounts onward the accountancy charge will be shown as an expense in the year it is paid.

CAPITAL EMPLOYED

£9821 brought forward from 23/24 plus a £2294 surplus in 24/25 making £12115 being carried forward to 25/26 year.

Despite the greater expenses on the 50th Anniversary and the finishing of the 1.5 refurbishment, we have had a surplus because of the increase in booking numbers and charges, so it has been a very healthy year.

£466 Accrual shown in Current Liabilities is the accountancy fee known to be due in the 24/25 year. There is a £4 discrepancy because the 2023 charge was actually £444 but it only shows as a £440 accrual in the 22/23 accounts. I should have noticed and queried this discrepancy last year. This year's charge is £470 and thus is showing as a £466 accrual in these 23/24 accounts.

I have questioned why the accountancy charge is being treated as an accrual, as my understanding of accruals is to account for when goods or services have been provided in one financial period but are not paid for until the next financial period. In our case, the accounting service provision and the payment are always in the same financial period so there should have been no need to show an accrual.

The accountant has agreed this and now the accruals will be cleared in the 24/25 accounts and will not appear in the 25/26 accounts. As a result, the accountancy fees paid in the 24/25 year will not appear as an expense. Going forward, the accountancy charges will be put on a 'payments basis', meaning they will be classed as a normal expense.
