Principal Risks and Uncertainties

We have always sourced other streams of funding, which has been successful over this past 12 months.

The directors have conducted a review of the major risks to which the company is exposed. Appropriate systems and internal controls are in place throughout the company's processes and procedures to provide clear accountability and to mitigate those risks which the company faces.

The company seeks to maintain high standards in the management of risk and the processes in place are reviewed annually to ensure their relevance.

The advancement of health: The public benefit which flows from this purpose is improved health and well-being; less stressful lifestyles; reduced addictions; a healthier outlook on life in general and the reintegration of persons into the community showing a positive attitude towards others through the provision of counselling, complementary therapies, stress management and health and wellbeing services. All of MUVE's programmes and services are delivered with the promotion of positive health and wellbeing at their heart, and the wellbeing of the individual. The public benefit achieved is the facilitation of victims/survivors to become happier, healthier and more fulfilled citizens.

The advancement of the arts, culture, heritage or science. Through the provision of arts and craft courses, seminars, memory quilt project, etc. The organisation also offers a wide variety of cultural-themed interventions connecting with key dates in the year such as Burns Night etc. The Public benefit obtained is the increased capacity of victims/survivors and the wider community whereby they have an appreciation for the divergence of cultures which comprise in Northern Ireland. Ultimately this has a knock-on benefit for the objective of building Peace within this Society.

The advancement of human rights, conflict resolution or reconciliation or the promotion of religious or racial harmony or equality and diversity: An aspect of MUVE's work is the furtherance of the human rights of the innocent victims and survivors of terrorism and other (Troubles related violence.' MUVE pursues opportunities to have issues raised through consultations, etc. in support of those to which it primarily affects. MUVE operates an Advocacy Support Service, enables victims/survivors to share their testimony, tell their stories in a public setting and the production of booklet for the memory quilt. The public benefit obtained is that a historically marginalised group of victims/survivors are supported in having their rights represented and furthered, reducing social inequalities. Through providing Conflict Resolution and Reconciliation-based Programmes there is also a substantive public benefit for victims/survivors and the wider community in the furtherance of a peaceful and more cohesive society.

The relief of those in need by reason of youth, age, ill-health, disability, financial hardship or other disadvantages. MUVE strives to work in meeting the requirements of Section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act i.e. supporting under-represented groups and has developed a range of initiatives to support such affected individuals. The organisation has a range of youth, older people, disability-based supports and interventions in operation. The groups support of those who are vulnerable, isolated, marginalised and who have often experienced profound acts of injustice. As well as supporting its' core beneficiary constituency MUVE also has supported members of the broader community, thus contributing towards the building of a resilient and resourced community. The Public benefit is the promotion of social inclusion and the increased involvement of underrepresented groups which in turn has the impact of increasing levels of active citizenship. There is no private benefit or harm from the purposes.

Achievements and performance

In 2024/25 the group worked to achieving positive outcomes for innocent victims and survivors, focusing on the following areas:

Health and well-being services

During the year South East Fermanagh Foundation [SEFF], continued to deliver the following services - counselling, complimentary therapies, advocacy support, welfare / benefits advice and the provision of a health and well-being caseworker to provide support and assistance to our members.

Counselling targets were exceeded, and during the year addition service was provided to meet the increased demand for the service. In addition to breaking social exclusion and stigma, we aim to provide a friendly face and a sympathetic ear.

MUVE employ a health and well-being worker which provides support to MUVE's core membership. We have set up a telephones support line which has been very successful with over 600 contacts.

The weekly health and wellbeing support service has also enjoyed growth with vulnerable members accessing the service from across Mid Ulster – we have The Chatterbox club who have people who are isolated meet regularly. MUVE have now introduced classes such as chair yoga and have run a programme alongside Boots Pharmacy which has encouraged members to create friendships and gain knowledge in services available in our local area.

We have achieved our targets in terms of complementary therapies; as usual we allocated therapies on a quarterly basis with an excellent uptake. Victims and survivors often report to us the benefits of the therapies in relieving stress and anxiety as well as assisting with pain management. These benefits are captured and are reported back to our core funders; The Victims and Survivors Service.

Monthly coffee mornings continue to be popular with good attendances covering all manner of health, educational, welfare and other issues of related interest. MUVE have provided a pensioner's Christmas Dinner at the local Golf Club providing a hot meal to over 120 members. On 16th November MUVE ran our first Craft Fayre, tables for this event were sold out. A large number of people attended, all stall holders said they found it very successful, the most money they have raised at an event. MUVE raised over £3000 from this event, and this will be a yearly event due to its success. Another successful event was held on 23rd November MUVE ran a very successful Musical festival was held in Cookstown RBL, this was a sellout event.

The funding to support this came from Mid Ulster Council and with help from tickets sales and raffle much needed funds were raised.

On 25th January MUVE ran a Burns Night at Cookstown RBL. Ballybriest Pipe Band, Sollus Highland Dancers and DJ Ivan Webb provided the entertainment. This was a well-supported event, and Cannon Porteous addressed the Haggis.

The group has continued to successfully run a book club which has grown in numbers over the year. The members meet at the completion of their current book to review and report their findings. Two walking clubs run biweekly, MUVE offer metal detection and more recently have introduced a fishing academy. This along with the ladies craft night and the hen shed provides many evenings of chat and friendship. These classes run throughout the year which many members rely on to pass the long, lonely evening.

The numbers of members who avail of the welfare support service are also steady with a continued increase in the number of people requesting support with Personal Independent Payment [PIP, TPDPS] applications. In addition there has been a significant increase in the number of members requiring Appeals Tribunal Representation. Ian Irwin (SEFF) continues to support members with advocacy and legacy support on a weekly basis.

MEN/HEN SHED – In terms of classes and courses we delivered a wide variety of courses across the financial year including crochet, black thorn, lathing, crafting and wood working. The shed provides a safe space for members to learn and develop new and old skills. We have managed to include local school and youth services within the shed. In relation to transgenerational, the following was delivered: A children's Christmas Party (pantomime), Splash activity and the Burns night all proved to be fantastic events for all involved.

The advanced walkers cover approximately 5 – 10 miles of hard terrain which is beneficial for their mental health. The beginners will do less than a mile in a pathed area finishing with a hot cup of tea. This group is more social than exercise.
