Belfast Eagle Sea Cadet unit is an independent charity in its own right which must fundraise for its running costs while the parent charity MSSC (Marine society & Sea Cadets) funds the charitable infrastructure and provides national facilities. Our biggest supporter is the Royal Navy whose customs and traditions are at the heart of what we do.

Sea Cadet units are managed and run by committed volunteers. The unit management team are volunteers and act as the unit's trustees, headed up by the unit chairperson, secretary and treasurer. The UMT is responsible for the running of the unit at a strategic and management level.

Our aims and objectives of the unit are to promote the Sea Cadets brand and value at all times. Raise awareness of the unit to the local community through PR activities. Provide support and guidance to the cadets. Encourage and develop links with parents.

This year has been very difficult for the unit. Covid has hit us hard in terms of finances, training and recruitment. During the lockdowns we were pro-active. Some training was delivered via zoom, and we held some quizzes too, on order to keep both cadets and their parents involved.

We are currently running on a short term training plan until we get permission to return to face to face training.
