Activities

Activities: 'It carries out activities or services itself'

Purposes: 'the advancement of education', 'the advancement of the arts, heritage, culture or science'

What the charity does: Stirling and District Society of Organists is a group for organists and organ music enthusiasts in the Stirling region. We offer a programme of events each year with a monthly meeting from October to June giving opportunities to play different organs, learn from experts and attend recitals. Membership is open to anyone interested in discovering more about the organ and we particularly encourage students to join us. Our society is one of a number of regional societies for organists in Scotland and we are affiliated with the Scottish Federation of Organists and the Incorporated Association of Organists. The society was founded in 1939 by organist Dr William Baird Ross.

Beneficiaries: 'Other defined groups', 'No specific group, or for the benefit of the community'

Objectives: To advance the education of the public in the study of the art of music with special reference to liturgical and organ music. To facilitate the achievement of such objects, the Society may arrange and present: i. Public lectures, discussions and debates on this subject. ii. Public demonstrations of instruments. iii. Public demonstrations of music for organ and voices. iv. Open competitions for playing, singing and composition of liturgical and organ music. v. Public meetings to facilitate the exchange of information and views with other organizations and persons concerned with the composition, interpretation, presentation, teaching or publication of liturgical or organ music. vi. Advice to performers, teachers, students, churchmen or other members of the public on any matters concerned with the improvement of standards of composition or performance of liturgical or organ music.
