What the charity does: The Institution of Fire Engineers (IFE) is the internationally recognised professional body dedicated to promoting excellence in fire engineering. Founded in 1918 to advance and improve the knowledge, practice, and recognition of fire engineering, we have long been committed to fostering inclusion, promoting learning and development, and today proudly support a diverse community of members and affiliates across the globe. Our high standards of competency and conduct, qualifications, membership grades and access to continuous professional development, are highly respected and sought after by employers across all sectors. We enable individuals to gain the technical knowledge, practical skills, and ethical grounding essential for protecting people, property, and the environment. We are building a profession that enhances public safety and drives innovation for a safer world from fire.

Beneficiaries: 'No specific group, or for the benefit of the community'

Objectives: The object for which the Institution is established is: To promote, encourage, and improve the science and practice of Fire Extinction, Fire Prevention and Fire Engineering and all operations and expedients connected therewith, and to give an impulse to ideas likely to be useful in connection with or in relation to such science and practice to the members of the Institution and to the community at large.
