What the charity does: Established in 1843, the Free Church of Scotland is a Reformed Presbyterian denomination that pursues the advancement of religion by preaching the message of the Bible and proclaiming the good news of the saving death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ. The Free Church has a network of around 110 church congregations and over 12,000 people of different ages and backgrounds gather at services every week to worship God. Local congregations seek to bring blessing to their communities, often by running cafes, youth groups, parent and toddler groups and food banks. The Free Church of Scotland educates ministers and many others through the degree-awarding Edinburgh Theological Seminary. The Free Church also runs a programme of residential youth camps for over 300 young people each summer. Local and global mission, and disaster and poverty relief, are supported financially through fundraising and awarding of grants to partners in Scotland and around the world.

Free Church of Scotland

The Trustees are pleased to present their annual report and financial statements of the charity for the year ended 31st December 2025. The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the accounting policies set out in note 1 to the accounts and comply with the charity's trust deed, the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005, the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended) and Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS102).

Objectives and Activities

The objective of the Free Church of Scotland is to conform as closely as possible to the Biblical idea of a Christian Church.

The principal activity of the Church is the conduct of public worship and associated matters in the context of local congregations. Other activities in support of the Church's overall mission include:

- Establishing new congregations and assisting in the redevelopment of others ^(a)
- Supporting mission work in a number of countries ^(a)
- Running a programme of short-term residential holidays for young people ^(a)
- Running a degree awarding seminary for theological students ^(b)
- Providing information on the Church to members and others through various communication channels ^(d)
- Addressing questions of morality, religion and doctrine ^(a, d)
- Supporting a variety of social responsibility projects both within the Church and through external agencies ^(a, e)

For purposes of financial management and reporting the above activities are associated with the significant activity areas of: (a) Mission; (b) Seminary; (c) Recruitment & Training; and (d) Communications, Publications & Resources; (e) Disaster & Relief. A summary of expenditure by significant charitable activities is as follows:

Activity	2025 £	2024 £
Mission	4,639,530	4,341,305
Seminary	836,099	810,174
Recruitment and Training	154,387	186,346
Communications, Publications & Resources	127,206	115,969
Disaster & Relief	2,351	23,577
Other Charitable Activity	70,787	286,776
Mission - Exceptional	517,410	-
	6,347,770	5,764,147

The Trustees, in conjunction with other Boards and Committees, monitor activity in the above areas. Often the significant impact of the Church's activities is longer-term and by its nature the 'outcome' of mission work and spiritual development is difficult to accurately measure or observe but the Trustees do make use of a small number of numerical measures (e.g. participation rates in public worship, donations and congregational remittance levels, student numbers) to assist monitoring.

The Trustees believe that the activities of the Church contribute to its overall objective, and its charitable purpose, and are of benefit to wider society.

The Church makes grants to local congregations for church planting, church development, the training of ministers and other workers, and to help with property purchases. The Church also makes some grants to individuals and mission organisations that are generally known to the Trustees and the Church. The beneficiaries are involved in activities or ministries compatible with the Church's objectives.

The Trustees are grateful to many members of the Church who sacrificially give up their time in Christian service through volunteering, both within local congregations and in the Church more widely. In addition to participating in boards and committees, volunteers contribute enormously to the running of the Church's youth camps, conferences and the work of the Seminary.

Achievements and Performance

The Free Church of Scotland denomination is made up of around 115 congregations and 12,000 people. The Church is served by over 800 volunteer Elders and Deacons in addition to the 100 or so Ministers and the staff employed centrally and by local congregations.

Despite the challenging economic situation, the majority of congregations managed to increase their central remittance levels. Remittances from congregations increased by 18% for 2025 (2024: increase of 6.4%). The income received helped support congregational ministry, the running of the Seminary and the various mission activities of the Free Church.

There were 352 students enrolled in the Seminary for courses in academic year 2025/26 (2024/25: 323). The annual fee income increased in line with the increase in students.

In addition to congregational ministry, the Church continued to support, through grants and other direct support, significant mission work both internationally and at home through the work of the Mission Board. The Church also supported international relief work through donations from the Disaster & Relief Fund.

Free Church Youth Camps organised 12 camps in July 2025. In total 336 campers attended, with 103 leaders and 29 cooks volunteering.

During 2025, the Trustees continued to work with other boards and committees to promote the various aspects of the work of the Church, support key activities and to raise finance through congregational remittances and other income. Cash flow through the year was assisted by the monthly targets provided to congregations through the remittance system.

The Trustees continue to work with various internal stakeholders to seek ways to generate additional income, to invest for growth, and to channel expenditure in line with strategic priorities.

As noted below, a number of boards and committees are appointed to manage the various central activities of the Church. These boards and committees are required to submit reports to the General Assembly outlining the work undertaken during the year. Copies of these reports are available from the Central Office on request.

Financial review

Results for the year

The financial statements for the year are set out in pages 11 to 39. The Statement of Financial Activities on page 11, shows a positive net movement in funds of £1,869,647 (2024: negative net movement in funds £1,138,077). This was predominantly due to two large legacies and a large donation received during the year.

Total income for the year was £7,787,514 (2024:£ 6,477,468). This includes the legacy income, donations and gain on the sale of property. The decrease in expenditure was due to elevated costs in the prior year from the buy-in of the pension scheme.

There was an actuarial gain of £14,000 on the defined benefit pension scheme during the year (2024: gain of £41,000). There was a gain in the value of investments of £443,273, compared with a gain of £419,494 in 2024. Various world events meant that there was continuing volatility in the investment markets during the year.

Before the effect of movements in the market value of investments and pension scheme payments, there was a net income of £1,412,869 (2024: £691,341) £249,307 of which was the gain on the sale of a property (2024: £439,739).

The net movement in funds in future years is likely to continue to be influenced by movements on the investment funds.

Principal sources of funding

The Church receives the bulk of its income from Free Church congregations and from donations by individuals. The Church also receives income from legacies, services, rental properties and investments.

Reserves

The Trustees have a reserves policy to maintain a minimum level of unrestricted funds, i.e. funds not restricted, committed or invested in fixed assets, amounting to a minimum of £1,200,000. The Trustees have decided that these reserves should be split between the General Fund (£1,000,000) and funds designated for International Mission (£200,000). The amount held for International Mission work is higher relative to spend incurred reflecting the level of overseas grant commitments which the Church has made as well as possible emergency costs. The Trustees believe that the reserves are sufficient to enable the ongoing work of the Church to be maintained. The current free reserves are £5,053,113, made up of General Fund (£4,853,113) and International Mission (£200,000)

At 31 December 2025, the General Fund amounted to £7,324,452 (2024: £5,870,027), the International Mission Fund was £200,000 (2024: £200,000), the Development Fund was £500,000 (2024: £106,006), and the designated Assets Fund was £4,610,769 (2024: £4,655,249). The Trustees regularly review cash requirements and funds with a view to determining if an element of the General Fund can be used to further the work of the Church through the designated Development Fund or other funds. Endowment Funds of £3,118,003 (2024: £2,947,399) and Restricted Income Funds of £1,584,263 (2024: £1,687,802) were also held. The total reserves, including the net book value of fixed assets and the balances on restricted funds, amounted to £17,342,830 (2024: £15,473,184).

Investment Policies & Portfolio Performance

Various Acts of the General Assembly govern the funds and endowments held by the Church in the pooled investment portfolio. The investments are managed on a discretionary basis by professional investment managers. The primary objectives of the investments are to achieve long-term capital growth to protect the capital value of the portfolio against inflation to ensure that future charitable objectives can be met and to generate a sustainable level of income to help cover operations costs, grants and beneficiaries. Ethical restrictions are placed on the investment managers in their choice of investments in order to limit involvement in weapons, tobacco, gambling and pornography. The investment managers report regularly on performance and on ESG considerations, and normally meet at least two times per year with the Church's Investment Committee.

The market value of the investment portfolio on 31 December 2025 was £6,793,571 (2024: £6,296,272). This represented an increase of 7.9% year on year. The investments generated income of £119,763 in the period (2024: £151,780). The Trustees are satisfied that the portfolio has been managed in accordance with the objectives set.

Funds Held on Behalf of Congregations

As the central Church body, funds totalling £4,526,800 (2024: £4,691,841) are held on behalf of Free Church congregations. These are held under a variety of conditions set out in Acts of Assembly or other legal measures and are invested in stocks and shares, loans to other congregations or held as cash balances. They are recorded and accounted for as distinct funds in the Church's accounts and are disclosed within Note 28.

Free Church Pension Scheme

The defined benefit Free Church Pension Scheme, which is closed to new members and to future accrual of benefits for existing members, had a £nil accounting surplus/deficit on 31 December 2025 (2024: £nil). During 2025, the Church paid £56,000 (2024: £549,153) into the Scheme to cover expenses including progressing the Buy-out with Just Retirement Limited. The Church has granted a standard security over the office buildings at the Mound in Edinburgh which will remain in place until the Buy-Out of the Scheme completes.

Future Plans

The vision of the Free Church is of A Healthy Gospel Church for Every Community in Scotland. The Board of Trustees is continuing to work with the other Boards and Committees to support Presbyteries, Congregations and individual members in their growth in spiritual health. The Free Church is actively engaged in the planting of new churches, the revitalisation of existing congregations, the training of ministers and church leaders, as well as ongoing programmes of local ministry, mission, and youth work, in Scotland and beyond. Some aspects of these future plans are contained within the annual reports to the General Assembly.

As the vision and strategy is developed in the coming year the Trustees remain committed to financial sustainability through a programme of expenditure that is in line with resources and anticipated income.

Principal Risks and Uncertainties

The Board of Trustees is responsible for assessing the risks to which the Church is exposed on an ongoing basis and for updating and maintaining the risk register. The Board seeks to identify and assess the material risks facing the Church and agree the measures aimed at mitigating these risks. During the year, the Board allocated time within its regular meetings to consider and re-evaluate the risk register. The Board has identified major risks and, as far as possible, actions and procedures have been established to mitigate these risks.

The principal risks and uncertainties identified fall into seven different categories and include:

- Compliance and Governance e.g. legislative breaches, reputational risks, safeguarding, data protection
- Oversight e.g. management and planning, internal processes, and communications.
- Charity Trustee e.g. availability and expertise of volunteer trustees, OSCR
- Financial Sustainability e.g. stewardship, fluctuation in income, financial mismanagement
- People e.g. key worker shortages, supporting and developing ministers and staff
- Operations e.g. day to day activities of the Church
- Strategy Development e.g. incoherent plans, missed opportunities, recruitment and vacancies.

Current plans and strategies to manage principal risks and uncertainties include: monitoring of applicable regulations and updating guidance materials for congregations; engagement with other denominations involved in policy matters; robust budgeting and cashflow; regular financial reporting; IT management company and backups of critical information; continuous professional development for ministers and training for staff; careful recruitment; use of professional advisers; monitoring of communications; sharing the vision and developing new initiatives. The Board will continue to review risks and mitigating strategies.

Structure, Governance and Management

Charitable Status and Governing Documents

The Free Church of Scotland is established by Constitution. The Church is a registered Scottish Charity (No. SC012925). An explanatory document explaining the origins of the Free Church of Scotland is available on request from the principal address on page 1 of this report. The paper gives in summary the historical background to the Church coming into being in 1843 and lists documents in which are embodied the constitution of the Church.

The Free Church of Scotland

The Free Church of Scotland currently has around 110 congregations in Scotland, as well as one in London, three in North America, and sister churches founded by mission work in India, Peru and South Africa. The Church also has a theological seminary in the heart of Edinburgh and supports mission work around the world.

Dating from 1843 but with its roots in the Reformation, the Church owes its distinctive title to its historical struggle to remain 'free' from state interference in its internal affairs. The Church has close and active relations with many other Reformed churches of Jesus Christ throughout the world and stands firmly in the tradition which accepts the Bible in its entirety as the Word of God and, therefore, derives its forms of teaching, worship, ministry and government from it. The main emphasis of the Church's worship is the preaching of the gospel - the good news of a free and sovereign salvation through Jesus Christ alone.

The Church is Presbyterian in Church Government and is ruled by Presbyters (ministers and elders) meeting in Kirk Session (at congregational level), Presbytery and General Assembly. This means that from a doctrinal and disciplinary point of view, the Church is governed according to the broad structure outlined in the figure below with Presbyteries organised on a geographic basis. Within their own spheres, the various bodies have both regulative and disciplinary powers and are referred to as the Courts of the Church. Matters of difficulty and dispute are referable from the smaller to the larger bodies, with the General Assembly being the final Court of Review. The General Assembly is not considered to have absolutely binding authority but is expected to act legislatively as well as judicially in a manner consistent with the ecclesiastical laws and constitution of the Church.

Several boards and committees of the General Assembly manage the central activities of the Church. The Board of Trustees is entrusted with management of the central assets and investments of the Church, for monitoring financial performance, setting financial policy and ensuring legal compliance. Other committees take responsibility for issues such as ministers' working conditions, mission and youth work.

Responsibility for the day-to-day management of the Church's central administration is delegated to the Chief Executive Officer, who is supported by other senior members of staff including the Finance Manager. The Trustees review and set the remuneration of senior personnel.

At a local level, each Free Church congregation is governed and administered by elected office bearers (all volunteers) and its minister. The Kirk Session, being the minister and locally elected elders, has responsibility for spiritual oversight, while the Deacons' Court, composed of Kirk Session members plus elected deacons, oversees financial and property matters. Locally elected Property Trustees hold legal title to a congregation's assets which will typically include one church building and a manse. Accounts are prepared for each congregation and the Annual General Meeting of the entire congregation reviews them. Individual members of the Free Church are members of the local congregation rather than of the wider Free Church.

Congregations are financially autonomous units and although they are requested to remit a portion of income to central funds (to cover, at a minimum, the costs of having a minister), the local office bearers have ultimate discretion over the amount that is remitted. Similarly, these office bearers, and particularly the minister, have autonomy to decide on the activities engaged in at local level as long as these are consistent with their ordination vows.

The Board of Trustees does not have direct financial and operating control and does not exercise dominant influence over the local congregations and therefore the congregations' financial statements are not consolidated into the denomination's financial statements.

Appointment of Trustees

The Assembly Clerks' Office is responsible for seeking nominations for candidates to serve as members of the Board of Trustees. Appointments are made by the General Assembly which meets in May of each year.

Eligibility for service on the Board of Trustees is restricted to elected office bearers of Free Church congregations and therefore all appointees are fully aware of the aims and objectives of the Church. All Trustees are made aware of their duties and responsibilities as Charity Trustees under the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) 2005 Act and are provided with guidance materials issued by OSCR.

Free Church of Scotland

Board of Trustees' Responsibilities

The Trustees are responsible for preparing the Report of the Trustees and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and regulations.

Charity law requires the Trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year. Under that law the Trustees have elected to prepare the financial statements in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice (United Kingdom Standards and applicable law). Under charity law the Trustees must not approve the financial statements unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the Church and of the net income and expenditure of the Church for that period. In preparing these financial statements, the Trustees are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- observe the methods and principles in the Charities SORP;
- make judgements and accounting estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable accounting standards have been followed, subject to any material departures that must be disclosed and explained in the financial statements;
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the Church will continue in business.

The Trustees are responsible for keeping adequate accounting records that disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the Church and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005, the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended) and the provisions of the Constitution. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the Church and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Disclosure of Information to the Auditor

To the knowledge and belief of each Trustee at the time the report is approved:

- so far as each Trustee is aware, there is no relevant information of which the Church's auditor is unaware, and
- each Trustee has taken all the steps that he ought to have taken as a Trustee in order to make himself aware of any relevant audit information, and to establish that the Church's auditor is aware of the information.

Opinion on accounts

We have audited the accounts of the Free Church of Scotland for the year ended 31 December 2025 which comprise the Statement of Financial Activities, the Balance Sheet, the Statement of Cash Flows and the related notes. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards, including Financial Reporting Standard 102 The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

In our opinion the accounts:

- give a true and fair view of the state of the charity's affairs as at 31 December 2025, and of its incoming resources and application of resources, for the year then ended;
- have been properly prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice; and
- have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and regulation 8 of the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended).

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) (ISAs (UK)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the accounts section of our report. We are independent of the charity in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the accounts in the UK, including the FRC's Ethical Standard, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

In auditing the accounts, we have concluded that the trustees' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the accounts is appropriate.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the charity's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of at least twelve months from when the accounts are authorised for issue.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the trustees with respect to going concern are described in the relevant sections of this report.

Other information

The trustees are responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Report of the Trustees, other than the accounts and our auditor's report thereon. Our opinion on the accounts does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in our report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the accounts, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the accounts or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether there is a material misstatement in the accounts or a material misstatement of the other information. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Free Church of Scotland

Matters on which we are required to report by exception

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters in relation to which the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 require us to report to you if, in our opinion:

- the information given in the accounts is inconsistent in any material respect with the trustees' report; or
- proper accounting records have not been kept; or
- the accounts are not in agreement with the accounting records; or
- we have not received all the information and explanations we require for our audit.

Responsibilities of trustees

As explained more fully in the Board of Trustees' Responsibilities Statement set out on page 7, the trustees are responsible for the preparation of accounts which give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as the trustees determine is necessary to enable the preparation of accounts that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the accounts, the trustees are responsible for assessing the charity's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the trustees either intend to liquidate the charity or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the accounts

We have been appointed as auditor under section 44(1)(c) of the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and report in accordance with regulations made under that Act.

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

Irregularities, including fraud, are instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations. We design procedures in line with our responsibilities, outlined above, to detect material misstatements in respect of irregularities, including fraud. The extent to which our procedures are capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud is detailed below:

We gained an understanding of the legal and regulatory framework applicable to the charity and the sector in which it operates and considered the risk of acts by the charity which were contrary to applicable laws and regulations, including fraud. These included but were not limited to the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005, and Health and Safety Regulations.

Our audit procedures were designed to respond to risks of material misstatement in the financial statements, recognising that the risk of not detecting a material misstatement due to fraud is higher than the risk of not detecting one resulting from error, as fraud may involve deliberate concealment by, for example, forgery, misrepresentations or through collusion.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the accounts (continued)

We focused on laws and regulations that could give rise to a material misstatement in the charity's financial statements. Our tests included, but were not limited to:

- agreement of the financial statement disclosures to underlying supporting documentation;
- enquiries of senior management and the Trustees;
- review of minutes of board meetings throughout the period, and
- obtaining an understanding of the control environment in monitoring compliance with laws and regulations.

Because of the inherent limitations of an audit, there is a risk that we will not detect all irregularities, including those leading to a material misstatement in the financial statements or non-compliance with regulation. This risk increases the more that compliance with a law or regulation is removed from the events and transactions reflected in the financial statements, as we will be less likely to become aware of instances of non-compliance. The risk is also greater regarding irregularities occurring due to fraud rather than error, as fraud involves intentional concealment, forgery, collusion, omission, or misrepresentation.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the accounts is located on the Financial Reporting Council's website at www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities. This description forms part of our auditor's report.

Use of our report

This report is made solely to the charity's trustees, as a body, in accordance with section 44(1)(c) of the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and regulation 10 of the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended). Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the charity's trustees those matters we are required to state to them in an auditor's report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the charity and the charity's trustees as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

Notes to the Financial Statements for the year ended 31 December 2025

1. Accounting policies

General Information

These financial statements are presented in pounds sterling (GBP) as that is the currency in which the charity's transactions are denominated.

The objective of the Free Church is to conform as closely as possible to the Biblical idea of a Christian church.

The Free Church of Scotland is recognised as a charity for tax purposes by HMRC and registered with the Office of the Scottish Charity Regulator (OSCR) under charity number SC012925. The Free Church of Scotland is established by Constitution. Details of the principal address can be found on page 6 of these financial statements.

Basis of Preparation

The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention unless otherwise specified within these accounting policies and in accordance with United Kingdom Accounting Standards, including Financial Reporting Standard 102, 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the United Kingdom and Republic of Ireland' ("FRS 102") (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice), the Statement of Recommended Practice (SORP) 'Accounting and Reporting by Charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102)', the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended).

The Free Church of Scotland meets the definition of a public benefit entity under FRS102.

The preparation of financial statements requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires Trustees to exercise their judgement in the process of applying the accounting policies. Use of available information and application of judgement are inherent in the formation of estimates. Actual outcomes in the future could differ from such estimates. The areas involving a higher degree of judgement or complexity, or areas where assumptions and estimates are significant to the financial statements are disclosed in note 2.

The principal accounting policies applied in the preparation of these financial statements are noted below. These policies have been applied consistently to all the years presented in dealing with items which are considered material in relation to the Church's financial statements unless otherwise stated.

Going concern

The Trustees are of the opinion that the Church can continue to meet its obligations as they fall due for the foreseeable future. The main income flow to the Church is from regular remittances from the congregations in the denomination and these are committed to supporting the Church in the long term. The general reserve is held at a level which would cover any short-term disruption to cash flows while any longer-term reduction in support would be accompanied by a reduction in our cost base, the largest element of which is congregational ministry. In addition, the Board of Trustees monitors income and expenditure including budgeting for several years ahead. As a consequence, the Trustees have prepared the financial statements on the going concern basis, as there are no material uncertainties about its ability to continue.

Recognition and allocation of income

Income is recognised when the Church has legal entitlement to the funds, the receipt is probable, and the amount can be measured reliably. Where practicable, income is related to the operating activities of the Church.

Where there are terms placed on income that limit the Church's discretion over how that income can be used, that income is shown as restricted income in the accounts.

Free Church of Scotland

Legacies are treated in accordance with Act XII, 2007. Entitlement to legacy income exists when the Church has sufficient evidence that a gift has been left, the executor is satisfied that the gift will not be required to satisfy claims on the estate and any conditions are within the control of the charity or have been met. Where a legacy is subject to the interest of a life tenant, the legacy is not recognised until the death of the life tenant. Where legacies have been notified to the Church and the criteria for income recognition have not been met, the legacy is treated as a contingent asset and disclosed if material. Legacy income is measured at fair value, generally the cash amount receivable, and is discounted if deferred for more than 12 months. The unwinding of the discount is recognised as interest receivable.

Interest receivable is recognised using the effective interest rate applicable to the asset and dividend income is recognised when the right to receipt is established and is measured at fair value, generally the transaction value.

Gift aid is treated as part of the related gift unless the donor or terms of appeal have specified otherwise and is credited when receivable.

Recognition and allocation of expenditure

Expenditure is recognised when the Church has entered into a legal or constructive obligation and related where practicable to the operating activities of the Church. Where possible, expenditure is attributed directly to the function to which it relates.

Raising funds comprises those costs which are associated with the generation of income from sources other than from undertaking charitable activities and include investment management costs.

Charitable expenditure comprises those costs incurred by the Church in the delivery of its charitable activities and services.

Governance costs include those costs incurred in the governance of the Church's assets and are primarily associated with meeting the constitutional and statutory requirements of the Church. The allocation of governance costs is shown in Note 9.

Support costs include central functions and have been allocated to activity cost categories on a basis consistent with the use of resources, e.g. on the basis of costs directly attributable to the charitable activity. The allocation of support costs is shown in Note 8.

Foreign currency

Transactions in foreign currencies are recognised at the rate of exchange at the date of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities are translated into sterling at the exchange rate on the Balance Sheet date. All exchange differences are recognised through the Statement of Financial Activities.

Post box accounts

The Church is sent gifts from various congregations and individuals to be passed on to other charities. These gifts are accounted for through a post box account and do not form part of the financial statements.

Funds

Restricted funds comprise income which has been received for the objects of the Church and specified for a restricted purpose within these objects by the donor.

Expendable Endowment funds comprise capital given for specific purposes but are convertible to income.

Permanent Endowment funds comprise capital that was given to provide an income stream to various funds of the Church. The capital on these funds may never be spent at any time.

Free Church of Scotland

Unrestricted funds comprise donations and other income received for the objects of the Church without further specified purpose and are available as general funds.

Designated funds represent unrestricted funds earmarked by the Trustees for particular purposes.

Tangible fixed assets

The Church capitalises assets with a value exceeding £1,000.

Motor vehicles and fixtures and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses.

Heritable property is stated at deemed cost at 1st January 2014.

Depreciation is provided at the following annual rates in order to write off each asset over its estimated useful life:

Land & Buildings	Nil
Motor Vehicles	25% straight line
Fixtures and equipment	25% straight line

Buildings are held at deemed cost and are not depreciated as the residual value is considered by the Trustees to be no lower than their deemed cost.

The gain or loss arising on the disposal of an asset is determined as the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognised in the statement of financial activities.

Heritage assets

The Church owns a number of heritage assets which have been donated or purchased since 1843, the most significant being a painting of the first General Assembly of the Church. Other items include Victorian furniture, busts and documents dating from the 16th and 17th century relating to Scottish church history. The Trustees consider these items to be heritage assets due to their unique historical qualities.

These heritage assets are not recognised in the Balance Sheet as cost information is not readily available and the Trustees believe the benefits of obtaining valuations for these items would not justify the cost and would not be sufficiently reliable to provide a meaningful indication of value.

Acquisitions and gifts of items of historical or other heritage value to the Church are not generally made. The majority of heritage assets have been held for over 100 years.

Conservation is of importance to the Church in preserving its history for current and future generations and the Church is committed to managing its heritage assets accordingly.

The management of the heritage assets of the Church are overseen by its Board of Trustees, the members of which are appointed by the General Assembly.

At present, the Board of Trustees does not consider it in the interests of the Church to dispose of heritage assets.

Share pool and investments

The Share Pool consists of investments attributable to those Funds and Endowments which use the accounting method (used by unit trusts) of sharing equitably investment market value and income. All money understood to be intended for long-term investment is held in the Share Pool except for a few small funds which have specific investments. Investments held are acquired in accordance with guidelines set by the Board of Trustees

Quoted investments are stated at fair value on the Balance Sheet date. Fair value is based on quoted market prices in an active market. Gains and losses arising on revaluation are recognised in the Statement of Financial Activities in the period in which they arise and are apportioned to funds dependent on the number of share pool units held within each fund.

Pensions

The Church operates one non-contributory defined benefit pension scheme (the Scheme) which requires contributions to be made to a separately administered fund. Contributions to the Scheme have been made in accordance with a Schedule of Contributions agreed between the Church and the Pension Trustee. As needed, provision is made for the accrued unfunded liability to provide pensions to members of the Scheme as they fall due. On 4th December 2024 the Scheme entered into a Buy-In transaction with Just Retirement Limited, with the Church contributing an additional one-off amount towards the total premium paid by the Scheme. This amount was charged to the Statement of Financial Activities. The Buy-In policy now covers the on-going costs of providing pensions to the existing and future pensioners who are members of the Scheme.

Since 1 January 1990 contributions to the Scheme have been charged to the Statement of Financial Activities so as to spread the cost of providing pensions to future pensioners over the members' working lives. With effect from 1 April 2022 a revised annual contribution to the scheme had been agreed. This has now been superseded by the purchase of the Buy-In policy.

As of 31 December 2007, the Pension Scheme was closed to new members and to future accrual of benefits for existing members. Ministers and other employees of the Church are now invited to participate in a Group Personal Pension Scheme (a defined contribution scheme currently operated by Standard Life) with the Church making contributions on behalf of members.

Since 1 February 2014 the Church has complied with legislation on pension auto-enrolment.

Taxation

No taxation is provided for given the charitable status of the Church.

VAT

The Church is registered for VAT and accounts for VAT on a partial exemption basis, accordingly irrecoverable VAT is included within the cost category to which it relates.

Stock

Stocks are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Provision is made for obsolete, slow moving or defective stock where appropriate. Items donated for resale or distribution are not included in the financial statements until they are sold or distributed.

Debtors

Trade debtors are amounts due from customers for merchandise sold or services performed. Trade debtors are recognised at the undiscounted amount of cash receivable, which is normally invoice price, less any allowances for doubtful debts.

Free Church of Scotland

1. Accounting policies (continued)

Loans from the Board of Trustees

Concessionary loans are made to congregations at rates normally between 0% and 3% above the Bank of England base rate and are initially measured at the amount paid and subsequently adjusted to reflect repayments, accrued interest or any impairment.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash on hand and balances held with banks and are measured at fair value. A range of deposit accounts are held with varying notice periods and interest rates reflecting expected cashflow requirements.

Creditors

Trade creditors are obligations to pay for goods or services that have been acquired. They are recognised at the undiscounted amount owed to the supplier, which is normally the invoice price.

Congregational balances held on deposit and in the share-pool are funds held on behalf of various congregations, mainly arising from endowment funds or sale of property. Under the Model Trust Deed, the Church continues to have a right to direct how these funds are applied. Recommended accounting practice for charities holding funds as custodian is for the amounts to be excluded from the accounts. However, the basis for holding the funds and the nature of the Church's relationship with congregations is such that the Trustees consider it appropriate to show these amounts as investments and creditors in the balance sheet in order to provide a true and fair view.

Financial assets and financial liabilities

Financial instruments are recognised in the Balance Sheet when the Church becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Financial instruments are initially measured at transaction price unless the arrangement constitutes a financing transaction which includes transaction costs for financial instruments not subsequently measured at fair value. Subsequent to initial recognition, they are accounted for as set out below. A financing transaction is measured at the present value of the future payments discounted at the market rate of interest for a similar debt instrument.

Financial instruments are classified as either 'basic' or 'other' in accordance with Chapter 11 of FRS102.

At the end of each reporting period, basic financial instruments, except quoted securities, are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate method. All financial instruments not classified as basic are measured at fair value at the end of the reporting period with the resulting changes recognised in income or expenditure. Where the fair value cannot be reliably measured, they are recognised at cost less impairment.

2. Critical judgements and estimates

In preparing the financial statements Trustees make estimates and assumptions which affect reported results, financial position and disclosure of contingencies. Use of available information and application of judgement are inherent in the formation of the estimates, together with past experience and expectations of future events that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances. Actual results in the future could differ from such estimates.

Legacy income is measured at fair value, but where part of a legacy left to the Church includes property or shares to be sold, judgement is used to estimate the amount receivable.

The Free Church of Scotland pension scheme valuation is based on estimates which are reviewed each year in consultation with the Actuary who provides advice on the appropriate values to use.

All investments are carried at their fair value. Investments in equities and fixed securities are all traded in quoted public markets. Holdings in common investment funds, unit trusts and open-ended investment companies are at the bid price. The basis of fair value for quoted investments is equivalent to the market value, using the bid price. Asset sales and purchases are recognised at the date of trade at cost (that is their transaction value). The significance of financial instruments to the ongoing financial stability of the Church is considered in the financial review and investment policy sections of the Trustees' Report.

The main risk to the Church from financial instruments lies in the combination of uncertain investment markets and yield volatility.

The Church's investments are mainly traded in markets with good liquidity and high trading volumes. The Church has no material investment holdings in markets subject to exchange controls or trading restrictions. The Church manages these investment risks by retaining expert advisors and operating an investment policy that provides for a high degree of diversification of holdings within investment asset classes that are quoted on recognised stock exchanges.

The Retired ministers and professors endowment fund existed to help provide income to retired ministers and professors of the Free Church and so the income has previously been paid into the Free Church Pension Scheme as part of the regular contributions. To ensure that this continues the total value of this fund has been transferred to Just Retirement Limited as part of the Buy-In transaction.

Explanation of funds

Expendable endowment fund

The expendable endowment funds are funds given towards the Free Church College (now known as ETS). Generally, the income will be allocated to the college fund or may be capitalised to the endowment fund. In certain situations, as the need arises, the College Board may spend some of the capital of the endowment fund.

Permanent endowment fund

Most, if not all, of the permanent endowment funds follow the fund descriptions of unrestricted funds and restricted funds. The primary purpose of the funds that remain in permanent endowments is to provide an income stream to those unrestricted and restricted funds for the objects that have been set out. The main endowments and their purposes are:

Sustentation – used for general costs of ministry

College general – used to support the work of the ETS

Foreign mission – used to support foreign mission work

26. Free Church of Scotland pension scheme

The Free Church of Scotland (the Church) operates a defined benefit pension arrangement called the Free Church of Scotland Pension Scheme (the Scheme). The Scheme, which was closed to new members and to future accrual of benefits for existing members on 31 December 2007, provides benefits based on final salary and length of service on retirement, leaving service or death. The following disclosures exclude any allowance for defined contribution schemes operated by the Church.

The Scheme is subject to the Statutory Funding Objective under the Pensions Act 2004. A valuation of the Scheme is carried out at least once every three years to determine whether the Statutory Funding Objective is met. As part of the process the Church must agree with the Trustees of the Scheme the contributions to be paid to address any shortfall against the Statutory Funding Objective. The most recent comprehensive actuarial valuation of the Scheme was carried out as at 31 December 2021.

The Trustees are pleased to present their annual report and financial statements of the charity for the year ended 31st December 2024. The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the accounting policies set out in note 1 to the accounts and comply with the charity's trust deed, the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005, the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended) and Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS102).

Objectives and Activities

The objective of the Free Church of Scotland is to conform as closely as possible to the Biblical idea of a Christian Church.

The principal activity of the Church is the conduct of public worship and associated matters in the context of local congregations. Other activities in support of the Church's overall mission include:

- Establishing new congregations and assisting in the redevelopment of others ^(a)
- Supporting mission work in a number of countries ^(a)
- Running a programme of short-term residential holidays for young people ^(a)
- Running a degree awarding seminary for theological students ^(b)
- Providing information on the Church to members and others through various communication channels ^(d)
- Addressing questions of morality, religion and doctrine ^(a, d)
- Supporting a variety of social responsibility projects both within the Church and through external agencies ^(a, e)

For purposes of financial management and reporting the above activities are associated with the significant activity areas of: (a) Mission; (b) Seminary; (c) Recruitment & Training; and (d) Communications, Publications & Resources; (e) Disaster & Relief. A summary of expenditure by significant charitable activities is as follows:

Activity	2024	2023
Mission	4,341,305	3,727,999
Seminary	810,174	757,639
Recruitment and Training	186,346	152,359
Communications, Publications & Resources	115,969	112,134
Disaster & Relief	23,577	20,105
Other Charitable Activity	286,776	263,519
	5,764,147	5,033,755

The Trustees, in conjunction with other Boards and Committees, monitor activity in the above areas. Often the significant impact of the Church's activities is longer-term and by its nature the 'outcome' of mission work/spiritual development is difficult to accurately measure or observe but the Trustees do make use of a small number of numerical measures (e.g. participation rates in public worship, donations and congregational remittance levels, student numbers) to assist monitoring.

The Trustees believe that the activities of the Church contribute to its overall objective, and its charitable purpose, and are of benefit to wider society.

The Church makes some grants to individuals and organisations that are generally known to the Trustees and the Church. The beneficiaries are involved in activities or ministries compatible with the Church's objectives.

The Trustees are grateful to many members of the Church who sacrificially give up their time in Christian service through volunteering, both within local congregations and in the Church more widely. In addition to participating in boards and committees, volunteers contribute enormously to the running of the Church's youth camps, conferences and the work of the Seminary.

Achievements and Performance

Despite the challenging economic situation, the majority of congregations managed to increase their central remittance levels. Remittances from congregations increased by 6.4% for 2024 (2023: decrease of 3.1%). The income received helped support congregational ministry, the running of the Seminary and the various mission activities of the Free Church.

There were 323 students enrolled in the Seminary for courses in academic year 2024/25 (2023/24: 307). The annual fee income increased in line with the increase in students.

In addition to congregational ministry, the Church continued to support, through grants and other direct support, significant mission work both internationally and at home through the work of the Mission Board. The Church also supported international relief work through donations from the Disaster & Relief Fund.

Free Church Youth Camps organised 11 camps in July 2024. In total 305 campers attended, with 99 leaders and 28 cooks volunteering.

During 2024, the Trustees continued to work with other boards and committees to promote the various aspects of the work of the Church, support key activities and to raise finance through congregational remittances and other income. Cash flow through the year was assisted by the monthly targets provided to congregations through the remittance system.

The Trustees continue to work with various internal stakeholders to seek ways to generate additional income, to invest for growth, and to channel expenditure in line with strategic priorities.

As noted below, a number of boards and committees are appointed to manage the various central activities of the Church. These boards and committees are required to submit reports to the General Assembly outlining the work undertaken during the year. Copies of these reports are available from the Central Office on request.

Financial review

Results for the year

The financial statements for the year are set out in pages 12 to 40. The Statement of Financial Activities on page 12, shows a negative net movement in funds of £1,138,077 (2023: positive net movement in funds £759,512). This was largely due to pension scheme adjustments to the defined benefit pension scheme following the purchase of a Buy-In policy.

An actuarial gain on the defined benefit pension scheme amounting to £41,000 was recorded (2023: loss of £692,753). There was a gain in the value of investments of £419,494, compared with a gain of £268,793 in 2023. Various world events meant that there was continuing volatility in the pension and investment markets during the year.

The increase in expenditure for the year was in line with budget. Before the effect of movements in the market value of investments, currency movements, the contribution to the pension scheme towards the Buy-In policy and the actuarial gain on the pension scheme, there was net income of £691,341 (2023: £1,193,667) £439,739 of which was the gain on the sale of a property (2023: none).

The net movement in funds in future years is likely to continue to be influenced by movements on the investment funds.

Principal sources of funding

The Church receives the bulk of its income from Free Church congregations and from donations by individuals. The Church also receives income from legacies, services, rental properties and investments.

Reserves

The Trustees have a reserves policy to maintain a minimum level of unrestricted funds, i.e. funds not restricted, committed or invested in fixed assets, amounting to a minimum of £1,200,000. The Trustees have decided that these reserves should be split between the General Fund (£1,000,000) and funds designated for International Mission (£200,000). The amount held for International Mission work is higher relative to spend incurred reflecting the level of overseas grant commitments which the Church has made as well as possible emergency costs. The Trustees believe that the reserves are sufficient to enable the ongoing work of the Church to be maintained. At 31 December 2024, the General Fund amounted to £5,870,027 (2023: £7,328,658) and the International Mission Fund was £200,000 (2023: £200,000). The Trustees regularly review cash requirements and funds with a view to determining if an element of the General Fund can be used to further the work of the Church through the designated Development Fund or other funds.

Total reserves, including the net book value of fixed assets and balances on restricted funds, amounted to £15,473,184 (2023: £16,611,261).

Investment Policies & Portfolio Performance

Various Acts of the General Assembly govern the investment policy of the Church. The investments are managed on a discretionary basis by professional investment managers. The primary objectives of the investments are to achieve long-term capital growth to protect the capital value of the portfolio against inflation to ensure that future charitable objectives can be met and to generate a sustainable level of income to help cover operations costs, grants and beneficiaries. Ethical restrictions are placed on the investment managers in their choice of investments. The fund manager reports regularly and normally meets at least two times per year with the Church's Investment Committee.

The market value of the investment portfolio on 31 December 2024 was £6,296,272 (2023: £5,812,531). This represented an increase of 8.3% year on year. The investments generated income of £151,780 in the period (2023: £153,383). The Trustees are satisfied that the portfolio has been managed in accordance with the objectives set.

Funds Held on Behalf of Congregations

As the central Church body, funds totalling £4,691,841 (2023: £5,391,285) are held on behalf of Free Church congregations. These are held under a variety of conditions set out in Acts of Assembly or other legal measures and are invested in stocks and shares, loans to other congregations or held as cash balances. They are recorded and accounted for as distinct funds in the Church's accounts and are disclosed within Note 30.

Free Church Pension Scheme

The defined benefit Free Church Pension Scheme, which is closed to new members and to future accrual of benefits for existing members, had a £nil accounting surplus/deficit on 31 December 2024 (2023: £nil). During 2024, the Church paid £549,153 (2023: £539,882) into the Scheme as part of the funding plan. In addition, the Church contributed a further £1,928,847 towards the premium paid by the Scheme for a Buy-In policy from Just Retirement Limited. The Church has granted a standard security over the office buildings at the Mound in Edinburgh which will remain in place until the Buy-Out of the Scheme completes.

Future Plans

The vision of the Free Church is of A Healthy Gospel Church for Every Community in Scotland. The Board of Trustees is continuing to work with the other Boards and Committees to support Presbyteries, Congregations and individual members in their growth in spiritual health. The Free Church is actively engaged in the planting of new churches, the revitalisation of existing congregations, the training of ministers and church leaders, as well as ongoing programmes of local ministry, mission, and youth work, in Scotland and beyond. Some aspects of these future plans are contained within the annual reports to the General Assembly.

As the vision and strategy is developed in the coming year the Trustees remain committed to financial sustainability through a programme of expenditure that is in line with resources and anticipated income.

Principal Risks and Uncertainties

The Board of Trustees is responsible for assessing the risks to which the Church is exposed on an ongoing basis and for updating and maintaining the risk register. The Board seeks to identify and assess the material risks facing the Church and agree the measures aimed at mitigating these risks. During the year, the Board allocated time within its regular meetings to consider and re-evaluate the risk register. The Board has identified major risks and, as far as possible, actions and procedures have been established to mitigate these risks.

The principal risks and uncertainties identified fall into seven different categories and include:

- Compliance and Governance e.g. legislative breaches, reputational risks
- Oversight e.g. management and planning, internal processes, and communications.
- Charity Trustee e.g. availability and expertise of volunteer trustees, OSCR
- Financial Sustainability e.g. stewardship, fluctuation in income, financial mismanagement
- People e.g. key worker shortages, supporting and developing ministers and staff
- Operations e.g. day to day activities of the Church
- Strategy Development e.g. incoherent plans, missed opportunities, recruitment and vacancies.

Current plans and strategies to manage principal risks and uncertainties include: monitoring of applicable regulations and updating guidance materials for congregations; engagement with other churches/groups involved in policy matters; robust budgeting and cashflow; continuous professional development for ministers; and regular financial reporting. The Board will continue to review risks and mitigating strategies.

Structure, Governance and Management

Charitable Status and Governing Documents

The Free Church of Scotland is established by Constitution. The Church is a registered Scottish Charity (No. SC012925). An explanatory document explaining the origins of the Free Church of Scotland is available on request from the principal address on page 6 of this report. The paper gives in summary the historical background to the Church coming into being in 1843 and lists documents in which are embodied the constitution of the Church.

The Free Church of Scotland

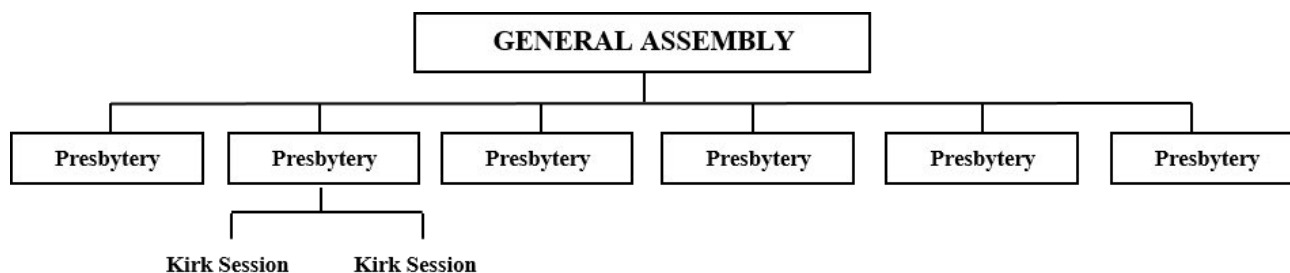

The Free Church of Scotland currently has around 110 congregations in Scotland, as well as one in London, three in North America, and sister churches founded by mission work in India, Peru and South Africa. The Church also has a theological seminary in the heart of Edinburgh and supports mission work around the world.

Dating from 1843 but with its roots in the Reformation, the Church owes its distinctive title to its historical struggle to remain 'free' from state interference in its internal affairs. The Church has close and active relations with many other Reformed churches of Jesus Christ throughout the world and stands firmly in the tradition which accepts the Bible in its entirety as the Word of God and, therefore, derives its forms of teaching, worship, ministry and government from it. The main emphasis of the Church's worship is the preaching of the gospel - the good news of a free and sovereign salvation through Jesus Christ alone.

The Church is Presbyterian in Church Government and is ruled by Presbyters (ministers and elders) meeting in Kirk Session (at congregational level), Presbytery and General Assembly. This means that from a doctrinal and disciplinary point of view, the Church is governed according to the broad structure outlined in the figure below with Presbyteries organised on a geographic basis. Within their own spheres, the various bodies have both regulative and disciplinary powers and are referred to as the Courts of the Church. Matters of difficulty and dispute are referable from the smaller to the larger bodies, with the General Assembly being the final Court of Review. The General Assembly is not considered to have absolutely binding authority but is expected to act legislatively as well as judicially in a manner consistent with the ecclesiastical laws and constitution of the Church.

Several boards and committees of the General Assembly manage the central activities of the Church. The Board of Trustees is entrusted with management of the central assets and investments of the Church, for monitoring financial performance, setting financial policy and ensuring legal compliance. Other committees take responsibility for issues such as ministers' working conditions, mission and youth work.

At a local level, each Free Church congregation is governed and administered by elected office bearers (all volunteers) and its minister. The Kirk Session, being the minister and locally elected elders, has responsibility for spiritual oversight, while the Deacons' Court, composed of Kirk Session members plus elected deacons, oversees financial and property matters. Locally elected Trustees hold legal title to a congregation's assets which will typically include one church building and a manse. Accounts are prepared for each congregation and the Annual General Meeting of the entire congregation reviews them. Individual members of the Free Church are members of the local congregation rather than of the wider Free Church.

Congregations are financially autonomous units and although they are requested to remit a portion of income to central funds (to cover, at a minimum, the costs of having a minister), the local office bearers have ultimate discretion over the amount that is remitted. Similarly, these office bearers, and particularly the minister, have autonomy to decide on the activities engaged in at local level as long as these are consistent with their ordination vows.

The Board of Trustees does not have direct financial and operating control and does not exercise dominant influence over the local congregations and therefore the congregations' financial statements are not consolidated into the denomination's financial statements.

Appointment of Trustees

The Assembly Clerks' Office is responsible for seeking nominations for candidates to serve as members of the Board of Trustees. Appointments are made by the General Assembly which meets in May of each year.

Eligibility for service on the Board of Trustees is restricted to elected office bearers of Free Church congregations and therefore all appointees are fully aware of the aims and objectives of the Church. All Trustees are made aware of their duties and responsibilities as Charity Trustees under the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) 2005 Act and are provided with guidance materials issued by OSCR.

Board of Trustees' Responsibilities

The Trustees are responsible for preparing the Report of the Trustees and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and regulations.

Charity law requires the Trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year. Under that law the Trustees have elected to prepare the financial statements in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice (United Kingdom Standards and applicable law). Under charity law the Trustees must not approve the financial statements unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the Church and of the net income and expenditure of the Church for that period. In preparing these financial statements, the Trustees are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- observe the methods and principles in the Charities SORP;
- make judgements and accounting estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable accounting standards have been followed, subject to any material departures that must be disclosed and explained in the financial statements;
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the Church will continue in business.

The Trustees are responsible for keeping adequate accounting records that disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the Church and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005, the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended) and the provisions of the Constitution. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the Church and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Disclosure of Information to the Auditor

To the knowledge and belief of each Trustee at the time the report is approved:

- so far as each Trustee is aware, there is no relevant information of which the Church's auditor is unaware, and
- each Trustee has taken all the steps that he ought to have taken as a Trustee in order to make himself aware of any relevant audit information, and to establish that the Church's auditor is aware of the information.

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Free Church of Scotland for the year ended 31 December 2024 which comprise the Statement of Financial Activities, the Balance Sheet, the Statement of Cash Flows and the notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards, including FRS 102 The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

In our opinion, the financial statements:

- give a true and fair view of the state of the charity's affairs as at 31 December 2024 and of its income and expenditure for the year then ended;
- have been properly prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice; and
- have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and regulation 8 of the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended).

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) (ISAs (UK)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the charity in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in the United Kingdom, including the Financial Reporting Council's Ethical Standard, and we have fulfilled our ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

In auditing the financial statements, we have concluded that the trustees' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements is appropriate.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the charity's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of at least twelve months from when the financial statements are authorised for issue.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the trustees with respect to going concern are described in the relevant sections of this report.

Other information

The other information comprises the information included in the annual report, other than the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon. The trustees are responsible for the other information contained within the annual report. Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in our report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

Free Church of Scotland

Our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the course of the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether this gives rise to a material misstatement in the financial statements themselves. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Matters on which we are required to report by exception

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters in relation to which the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended) require us to report to you if, in our opinion:

- the information given in the financial statements is inconsistent in any material respect with the Report of the Trustees; or
- proper accounting records have not been kept; or
- the financial statements are not in agreement with the accounting records; or
- we have not received all the information and explanations we require for our audit.

Responsibilities of the trustees

As explained more fully in the Statement of Trustee Responsibilities set out on page 7, the trustees are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as the trustees determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the trustees are responsible for assessing the charity's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the trustees either intend to liquidate the charity or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

We have been appointed as auditor under section 44(1)(c) of the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and report in accordance with the Act and relevant regulations made or having effect thereunder.

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is located on the Financial Reporting Council's website at: www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities. This description forms part of our auditor's report.

The extent to which the audit was considered capable of detecting irregularities including fraud

Irregularities, including fraud, are instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations. We design procedures in line with our responsibilities, outlined above and on the FRC's website, to detect material misstatements in respect of irregularities, including fraud.

We obtain and update our understanding of the charity, its activities, its control environment, and likely future developments, including in relation to the legal and regulatory framework applicable and how the charity is complying with that framework. Based on this understanding, we identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. This includes consideration of the risk of acts by the charity that were contrary to applicable laws and regulations, including fraud.

Our approach to identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement in respect of irregularities, including non-compliance with laws and regulations, was as follows:

- the engagement partner ensured that the engagement team collectively had the appropriate competence, capabilities and skills to identify or recognise non-compliance with applicable laws and regulations;
- we identified the laws and regulations applicable to the charity through discussions with the trustees, and from our knowledge and experience of the charity sector;
- we focused on specific laws and regulations which we considered may have a direct material effect on the financial statements or the operations of the charity, including the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005, the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended) and taxation, data protection, anti-bribery, environmental, employment and health and safety legislation;
- we assessed the extent of compliance with the laws and regulations identified above through making enquiries of the trustees and inspecting legal correspondence; and
- identified laws and regulations were communicated within the audit team regularly and the team remained alert to instances of non-compliance throughout the audit.

In response to the risk of irregularities and non-compliance with laws and regulations, we designed procedures which included, but were not limited to:

- agreeing financial statement disclosures to underlying supporting documentation;
- reading the minutes of meetings of those charged with governance;
- enquiring of management as to actual and potential litigation and claims; and
- reviewing any correspondence with HMRC, relevant regulators and the charity's legal advisors.

We assessed the susceptibility of the charity's financial statements to material misstatement, including obtaining an understanding of how fraud might occur, by:

- making enquiries of management and the trustees as to where they considered there was susceptibility to fraud, their knowledge of actual, suspected and alleged fraud; and
- considering the internal controls in place to mitigate risks of fraud and non-compliance with laws and regulations.

Free Church of Scotland

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements (continued)

To address the risk of fraud through management bias and override of controls, we:

- performed analytical procedures to identify any unusual or unexpected relationships;
- tested journal entries to identify unusual transactions;
- assessed whether judgements and assumptions made in determining the accounting estimates were indicative of potential bias; and
- investigated the rationale behind significant or unusual transactions.

Because of the inherent limitations of an audit, there is a risk that we will not detect all irregularities, including those leading to a material misstatement in the financial statements or non-compliance with regulation. This risk increases the more that compliance with a law or regulation is removed from the events and transactions reflected in the financial statements, as we will be less likely to become aware of instances of non-compliance. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

Use of our report

This report is made solely to the charity's trustees, as a body, in accordance with regulation 10 of the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended). Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the charity's trustees, as a body, those matters we are required to state to them in an Auditor's Report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the charity and the charity's trustees, as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

Free Church of Scotland

1. Accounting policies

General Information

These financial statements are presented in pounds sterling (GBP) as that is the currency in which the charity's transactions are denominated.

The objective of the Free Church is to conform as closely as possible to the Biblical idea of a Christian church.

The Free Church of Scotland is recognised as a charity for tax purposes by HMRC and registered with the Office of the Scottish Charity Regulator (OSCR) under charity number SC012925. The Free Church of Scotland is established by Constitution. Details of the principal address can be found on page 6 of these financial statements.

Basis of Preparation

The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention unless otherwise specified within these accounting policies and in accordance with United Kingdom Accounting Standards, including Financial Reporting Standard 102, 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the United Kingdom and Republic of Ireland' ("FRS 102") (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice), the Statement of Recommended Practice (SORP) 'Accounting and Reporting by Charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102)', the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended).

The Free Church of Scotland meets the definition of a public benefit entity under FRS102.

The preparation of financial statements requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires Trustees to exercise their judgement in the process of applying the accounting policies. Use of available information and application of judgement are inherent in the formation of estimates. Actual outcomes in the future could differ from such estimates. The areas involving a higher degree of judgement or complexity, or areas where assumptions and estimates are significant to the financial statements are disclosed in note 2.

The principal accounting policies applied in the preparation of these financial statements are noted below. These policies have been applied consistently to all the years presented in dealing with items which are considered material in relation to the Church's financial statements unless otherwise stated.

Going concern

The Trustees are of the opinion that the Church can continue to meet its obligations as they fall due for the foreseeable future. The main income flow to the Church is from regular remittances from the congregations in the denomination and these are committed to supporting the Church in the long term. The general reserve is held at a level which would cover any short-term disruption to cash flows while any longer-term reduction in support would be accompanied by a reduction in our cost base, the largest element of which is congregational ministry. In addition, the Board of Trustees monitors income and expenditure including budgeting for several years ahead. As a consequence, the Trustees have prepared the financial statements on the going concern basis, as there are no material uncertainties about its ability to continue.

Recognition and allocation of income

Income is recognised when the Church has legal entitlement to the funds, the receipt is probable, and the amount can be measured reliably. Where practicable, income is related to the operating activities of the Church.

Where there are terms placed on income that limit the Church's discretion over how that income can be used, that income is shown as restricted income in the accounts.

Legacies are treated in accordance with Act XII, 2007. Entitlement to legacy income exists when the Church has sufficient evidence that a gift has been left, the executor is satisfied that the gift will not be required to satisfy claims on the estate and any conditions are within the control of the charity or have been met. Where a legacy is subject to the interest of a life tenant, the legacy is not recognised until the death of the life tenant. Where legacies have been notified to the Church and the criteria for income recognition have not been met, the legacy is treated as a contingent asset and disclosed if material. Legacy income is measured at fair value, generally the cash amount receivable, and is discounted if deferred for more than 12 months. The unwinding of the discount is recognised as interest receivable.

Interest receivable is recognised using the effective interest rate applicable to the asset and dividend income is recognised when the right to receipt is established and is measured at fair value, generally the transaction value.

Gift aid is treated as part of the related gift unless the donor or terms of appeal have specified otherwise and is credited when receivable.

Recognition and allocation of expenditure

Expenditure is recognised when the Church has entered into a legal or constructive obligation and related where practicable to the operating activities of the Church. Where possible, expenditure is attributed directly to the function to which it relates.

Raising funds comprises those costs which are associated with the generation of income from sources other than from undertaking charitable activities and include investment management costs.

Charitable expenditure comprises those costs incurred by the Church in the delivery of its charitable activities and services.

Governance costs include those costs incurred in the governance of the Church's assets and are primarily associated with meeting the constitutional and statutory requirements of the Church. The allocation of governance costs is shown in Note 9.

Support costs include central functions and have been allocated to activity cost categories on a basis consistent with the use of resources, e.g. on the basis of costs directly attributable to the charitable activity. The allocation of support costs is shown in Note 8.

Foreign currency

Transactions in foreign currencies are recognised at the rate of exchange at the date of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities are translated into sterling at the exchange rate on the Balance Sheet date. All exchange differences are recognised through the Statement of Financial Activities.

Post box accounts

The Church is sent gifts from various congregations and individuals to be passed on to other charities. These gifts are accounted for through a post box account and do not form part of the financial statements.

Funds

Restricted funds comprise income which has been received for the objects of the Church and specified for a restricted purpose within these objects by the donor.

Expendable Endowment funds comprise capital given for specific purposes but are convertible to income.

Permanent Endowment funds comprise capital that was given to provide an income stream to various funds of the Church. The capital on these funds may never be spent at any time.

Unrestricted funds comprise donations and other income received for the objects of the Church without further specified purpose and are available as general funds.

Designated funds represent unrestricted funds earmarked by the Trustees for particular purposes.

Tangible fixed assets

The Church capitalises assets with a value exceeding £1,000.

Motor vehicles and fixtures and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses.

Heritable property is stated at deemed cost at 1st January 2014.

Depreciation is provided at the following annual rates in order to write off each asset over its estimated useful life:

Land & Buildings	Nil
Motor Vehicles	25% straight line
Fixtures and equipment	25% straight line

Buildings are held at deemed cost and are not depreciated as the residual value is considered by the Trustees to be no lower than their deemed cost.

The gain or loss arising on the disposal of an asset is determined as the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognised in the statement of financial activities.

Heritage assets

The Church owns a number of heritage assets which have been donated or purchased since 1843, the most significant being a painting of the first General Assembly of the Church. Other items include Victorian furniture, busts and documents dating from the 16th and 17th century relating to Scottish church history. The Trustees consider these items to be heritage assets due to their unique historical qualities.

These heritage assets are not recognised in the Balance Sheet as cost information is not readily available and the Trustees believe the benefits of obtaining valuations for these items would not justify the cost and would not be sufficiently reliable to provide a meaningful indication of value.

Acquisitions and gifts of items of historical or other heritage value to the Church are not generally made. The majority of heritage assets have been held for over 100 years.

Conservation is of importance to the Church in preserving its history for current and future generations and the Church is committed to managing its heritage assets accordingly.

The management of the heritage assets of the Church are overseen by its Board of Trustees, the members of which are appointed by the General Assembly.

At present, the Board of Trustees does not consider it in the interests of the Church to dispose of heritage assets.

Share pool and investments

The Share Pool consists of investments attributable to those Funds and Endowments which use the accounting method (used by unit trusts) of sharing equitably investment market value and income. All money understood to be intended for long-term investment is held in the Share Pool except for a few small funds which have specific investments. Investments held are acquired in accordance with guidelines set by the Board of Trustees

Quoted investments are stated at fair value on the Balance Sheet date. Fair value is based on quoted market prices in an active market. Gains and losses arising on revaluation are recognised in the Statement of Financial Activities in the period in which they arise and are apportioned to funds dependent on the number of share pool units held within each fund.

Pensions

The Church operates one non-contributory defined benefit pension scheme (the Scheme) which requires contributions to be made to a separately administered fund. Contributions to the Scheme have been made in accordance with a Schedule of Contributions agreed between the Church and the Pension Trustee. As needed, provision is made for the accrued unfunded liability to provide pensions to members of the Scheme as they fall due. On 4th December 2024 the Scheme entered into a Buy-In transaction with Just Retirement Limited, with the Church contributing an additional one-off amount towards the total premium paid by the Scheme. This amount has been charged to the Statement of Financial Activities. The Buy-In policy now covers the on-going costs of providing pensions to the existing and future pensioners who are members of the Scheme.

Since 1 January 1990 contributions to the Scheme have been charged to the Statement of Financial Activities so as to spread the cost of providing pensions to future pensioners over the members' working lives. With effect from 1 April 2022 a revised annual contribution to the scheme had been agreed. This has now been superseded by the purchase of the Buy-In policy.

As of 31 December 2007, the Pension Scheme was closed to new members and to future accrual of benefits for existing members. Ministers and other employees of the Church are now invited to participate in a Group Personal Pension Scheme (a defined contribution scheme currently operated by Standard Life) with the Church making contributions on behalf of members.

Since 1 February 2014 the Church has complied with legislation on pension auto-enrolment.

Taxation

No taxation is provided for given the charitable status of the Church.

VAT

The Church is registered for VAT and accounts for VAT on a partial exemption basis, accordingly irrecoverable VAT is included within the cost category to which it relates.

Stock

Stocks are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Provision is made for obsolete, slow moving or defective stock where appropriate. Items donated for resale or distribution are not included in the financial statements until they are sold or distributed.

Debtors

Trade debtors are amounts due from customers for merchandise sold or services performed. Trade debtors are recognised at the undiscounted amount of cash receivable, which is normally invoice price, less any allowances for doubtful debts.

1. Accounting policies (continued)

Loans from the Board of Trustees

Concessionary loans are made to congregations at rates normally between 0% and 3% above the Bank of England base rate and are initially measured at the amount paid and subsequently adjusted to reflect repayments, accrued interest or any impairment.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash on hand and balances held with banks and are measured at fair value. A range of deposit accounts are held with varying notice periods and interest rates reflecting expected cashflow requirements.

Creditors

Trade creditors are obligations to pay for goods or services that have been acquired. They are recognised at the undiscounted amount owed to the supplier, which is normally the invoice price.

Congregational balances held on deposit and in the share-pool are funds held on behalf of various congregations, mainly arising from endowment funds or sale of property. Under the Model Trust Deed, the Church continues to have a right to direct how these funds are applied. Recommended accounting practice for charities holding funds as custodian is for the amounts to be excluded from the accounts. However, the basis for holding the funds and the nature of the Church's relationship with congregations is such that the Trustees consider it appropriate to show these amounts as investments and creditors in the balance sheet in order to provide a true and fair view.

Financial assets and financial liabilities

Financial instruments are recognised in the Balance Sheet when the Church becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Financial instruments are initially measured at transaction price unless the arrangement constitutes a financing transaction which includes transaction costs for financial instruments not subsequently measured at fair value. Subsequent to initial recognition, they are accounted for as set out below. A financing transaction is measured at the present value of the future payments discounted at the market rate of interest for a similar debt instrument.

Financial instruments are classified as either 'basic' or 'other' in accordance with Chapter 11 of FRS102.

At the end of each reporting period, basic financial instruments are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate method. All financial instruments not classified as basic are measured at fair value at the end of the reporting period with the resulting changes recognised in income or expenditure. Where the fair value cannot be reliably measured, they are recognised at cost less impairment.

2. Critical judgements and estimates

In preparing the financial statements Trustees make estimates and assumptions which affect reported results, financial position and disclosure of contingencies. Use of available information and application of judgement are inherent in the formation of the estimates, together with past experience and expectations of future events that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances. Actual results in the future could differ from such estimates.

Legacy income is measured at fair value, but where part of a legacy left to the Church includes property or shares to be sold, judgement is used to estimate the amount receivable.

The Free Church of Scotland pension scheme valuation is based on estimates which are reviewed each year in consultation with the Actuary who provides advice on the appropriate values to use.

9. Governance costs

Governance costs were identified either directly or as an apportionment of support costs as indicated in Note 8 above. The main elements of governance costs are shown in the table below. There were apportioned to activities on the basis of expenditure on each activity.

Explanation of funds

Most, if not all, of the permanent endowment funds follow the fund descriptions of unrestricted funds and restricted funds. The primary purpose of the funds that remain in permanent endowments is to provide an income stream to those unrestricted and restricted funds for the objects that have been set out.

Expendable endowment fund

The expendable endowment funds are funds given towards the Free Church College (now known as ETS). Generally, the income will be allocated to the college fund or may be capitalised to the endowment fund. In certain situations, as the need arises, the College Board may spend some of the capital of the endowment fund.

27. Free Church of Scotland pension scheme

The Free Church of Scotland (the Church) operates a defined benefit pension arrangement called the Free Church of Scotland Pension Scheme (the Scheme). The Scheme, which was closed to new members and to future accrual of benefits for existing members on 31 December 2007, provides benefits based on final salary and length of service on retirement, leaving service or death. The following disclosures exclude any allowance for defined contribution schemes operated by the Church.

The Scheme is subject to the Statutory Funding Objective under the Pensions Act 2004. A valuation of the Scheme is carried out at least once every three years to determine whether the Statutory Funding Objective is met. As part of the process the Church must agree with the Trustees of the Scheme the contributions to be paid to address any shortfall against the Statutory Funding Objective. The most recent comprehensive actuarial valuation of the Scheme was carried out as at 31 December 2021.
