Activities

Activities: 'It carries out activities or services itself'

Purposes: 'the advancement of education', 'the advancement of citizenship or community development', 'the advancement of the arts, heritage, culture or science', 'the provision of recreational facilities, or the organisation of recreational activities, with the object of improving the conditions of life for the persons for whom the facilities or activities are primarily intended'

What the charity does: Scottish Youth Theatre (SYT) is a national young artists' development organisation. Established in 1976, our purpose is to collaborate with young theatre artists to create experiences and events that reverberate in their lives, their communities and their country. We bring young artists (aged 14-25) together from across Scotland and also work with young people from specific areas to respond to their local theatre skills and career development needs through creative projects and traineeships. The staff team work in a distributed model (with no central office) supporting the delivery of work across Scotland. Each project we produce provides young artists with space, care and creative stimulus to explore theatre and make new performance work on their own terms. Participants are in control of the creative process and the work they make is their opportunity to interrogate and reflect on things that matter to them.

Beneficiaries: 'Children or young people'

Objectives: The company's objects are to secure: 1. the advancement of education. 2. the advancement of citizenship or community development. 3. the advancement of the arts and culture. and 4. the provision of recreational facilities, or the organisation of recreational activities, with the object of improving the conditions of life for the persons for whom the facilities or activities are primarily intended by: positioning the company and Scotland at the forefront of youth theatre internationally by creating aspirational theatre-making experiences by, for and with young people, enabling young people to develop their talent and encouraging exploration and experimentation. operating a vibrant centre for youth theatre and youth arts. building strategic collaborations with other youth theatre sectoral and educational organisations to strengthen all aspects of youth theatre in Scotland. creating opportunities that increase participation in and engagement with youth theatre, promoting equality across all areas of activity.
