STRUCTURE, GOVERNANCE AND MANAGEMENT

The charity is an unincorporated association governed by a written constitution adopted by its members. There are no restrictions in the governing document on the operation of the charity or on its investment powers, other than those imposed by general charity law. The charity is managed by a Board of Management referred to as "The Executive". Eligibility for membership of the charity, and membership of the Executive is governed by the trust deed. Members of the Executive committee are Trustees for the purposes of charity law and are referred to as Trustees throughout this report.

All Trustees shall hold office for one year, but will be eligible for immediate re-election. The minimum number of Trustees is five and the maximum number is nine; a quorum shall be three. The Trustees shall elect the office bearers.

The methods adopted for the recruitment and appointment of new Trustees Trustees are elected by the members present and voting at the Annual General Meeting held within nine calendar months of each financial year end.

The policies and procedures adopted for the induction and training of Trustees The charity has a policy of do's and don'ts for the training of Trustees and this follows the guidelines laid down by OSCR for trustees.

The organisational structure of the charity and how decisions are made The Charity is managed by a Board of Management referred to as "The Executive". The duty of the Executive is to promote the objective of BARRK as referred to in its constitution, and to meet at least once every three months to discuss all matters relating to the operational and financial affairs of the Charity. Minutes will be taken at all meetings and kept as a true record.

The major risks to which the charity is exposed and the systems in place to mitigate risks The Trustees identify the major risks to which the charity is exposed each financial year when preparing and updating a strategic plan, in particular those related to the operations and finances of the charity. The Trustees then review any major risks which have been identified, and establish systems to mitigate those risks. The charity is satisfied that the systems are in place to mitigate those risks. The charity is satisfied that the systems are in place to mitigate their exposure to the major risks which have been so identified and reviewed.

The charity is open to the usual financial risks of any organisation, and the charity has introduced controls to minimise these risks, such as two signatures being required for payments from the bank account. In addition, the accounts are regularly explained to members of the charity and are open for member's inspection at any time.

Volunteers are crucial to the operation of the charity as both the Trustees and the staff of the charity shop are volunteers. The Board of the charity are very grateful to all the volunteers who participate in the running of the charity.

OBJECTIVES AND ACTIVITIES

Brief summary of the objects as per the governing document

To relieve the suffering of abandoned, unwanted, neglected and abused dogs and puppies.

The charity's aims including the changes or differences it seeks to make through its activities

To educate the public in the skills associated with good management and responsible dog ownership.

Explanation of the charity's main objectives for the year

To take dogs for rehoming at the request of their owners who may have found themselves in a position of not being able to care for their dogs anymore.

The charity's strategies for achieving its stated objectives

To operate a charity shop selling donated goods and to hold fundraising events and to invite contributions. To maintain a policy of public awareness of responsible dog ownership. The rental of kennel space across the North East of Scotland for the use of dogs awaiting rehoming.

ACHIEVEMENTS AND PERFORMANCE

As the charity approached the end of its 28th financial year, the demand on our service from the public has continued to increase. This is due in part to the fall out of covid coupled with the financial burden that dog owners are facing with ever increasing costs associated with veterinary care. It is beginning to emerge that some members of the public again are finding the financial burden of insurance another factor that forces them to come to the decision to offer the dog up for adoption. Given the overall costs associated with being a pet owner this to some extent reduces our pool of potential adopters as members of the public become more acutely aware of the financial burden of having a dog in their life. The charity has also begun to experience enquiries from members of the public seeking advice on placing their dog for adoption from as far afield as England as it has become apparent that dog rescue centres up and down the country are at capacity. We, at BARRK, will always strive to offer support and advice to individuals in pointing them in the direction of alternative organisations and facilities that may be better placed to provide a more niche support.

The charity homed 71 dogs in the year. We continue to make use of the commercial kennel facilities based in Elgin who have been immensely supportive of our work over the 25 years we have used them. We continue to enjoy very favourable rates and [REDACTED] the proprietor, has always been at pains to try and ensure that the charity's kennelling budget is not overstretched given that our core cost for kennelling continues to be one of the major financial commitments of the charity and BARRK is immensely appreciative of the kennel facilities efforts to help minimise our financial outlay. Despite like so many other businesses, BARRK included, they themselves are experiencing a huge increase in fuel costs.

Our charity shop is our main source of income and the charity has been fortunate in that not only with the location being close to the bus stop which creates bigger footfall but also members of the public who continue to donate on a regular basis. This ensures that the shop, which is run by a brilliant team of volunteers, has a vast array of ever-changing stock which has enticed more customers which in turn has increased revenue. This is a very welcome factor as again like so many other businesses BARRK has experienced a huge jump in fuel costs and also veterinary costs.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Policies on reserves

The Trustees have resolved to establish reserves to provide for future activities, and the Trustees have wide powers of investment.

Within those powers, a policy has been determined that the existing assets be retained to produce income which is wholly utilised to support existing activities. The intention in the immediate future is to restore the balance of the capital held in order to preserve the income necessary to maintain the activities of the charity.

Reserves held are considered only sufficient to cover a reasonable period of expenditure, should further income fail to materialise and are held in an interest bearing bank account. Investment policies have yet to be considered, as the charity has maintained a healthy bank balance.

PLANS FOR FUTURE PERIODS

The charity is committed to ensuring that kennel costs are closely monitored as this is one element of major expenditure for the charity.

Veterinary costs are also a large drain on the charity's resources and the charity has introduced the use of buying pet drugs on line for those dogs that are in long term foster and require continuous medication and for those dogs that come with a pre-existing medical condition that the charity has committed to fund the charity anticipates that this will result in a decrease in veterinary costs.

Incoming resources

All incoming resources are included in the statement of financial activities when entitlement has passed to the charity; it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the charity and the amount can be reliably measured. The following specific policies are applied to particular categories of income:

- income from donations or grants is recognised when there is evidence of entitlement to the gift, receipt is probable and its amount can be measured reliably.
- legacy income is recognised when receipt is probable and entitlement is established.
- income from donated goods is measured at the fair value of the goods unless this is impractical to measure reliably, in which case the value is derived from the cost to the donor or the estimated resale value. Donated facilities and services are recognised in the accounts when received if the value can be reliably measured. No amounts are included for the contribution of general volunteers.
- income from contracts for the supply of services is recognised with the delivery of the contracted service. This is classified as unrestricted funds unless there is a contractual requirement for it to be spent on a particular purpose and returned if unspent, in which case it may be regarded as restricted.

Resources expended

Expenditure is recognised on an accruals basis as a liability is incurred. Expenditure includes any VAT which cannot be fully recovered, and is classified under headings of the statement of financial activities to which it relates:

- expenditure on raising funds includes the costs of all fundraising activities, events, non-charitable trading activities, and the sale of donated goods.
- expenditure on charitable activities includes all costs incurred by a charity in undertaking activities that further its charitable aims for the benefit of its beneficiaries, including those support costs and costs relating to the governance of the charity apportioned to charitable activities.
- other expenditure includes all expenditure that is neither related to raising funds for the charity nor part of its expenditure on charitable activities.

All costs are allocated to expenditure categories reflecting the use of the resource. Direct costs attributable to a single activity are allocated directly to that activity. Shared costs are apportioned between the activities they contribute to on a reasonable, justifiable and consistent basis.

Tangible assets

Tangible assets are initially recorded at cost.
