Activities

Activities: 'It carries out activities or services itself'

Purposes: 'the advancement of citizenship or community development'

What the charity does: Home-Start Caithness exists to support families with young children, helping them build resilience, confidence, and stronger bonds during the crucial early years of life. We do this by offering practical help, emotional support, and friendship through trained volunteers who visit families at home.

Beneficiaries: 'Children or young people'

Objectives: To safeguard, protect and preserve the good health, both mental and physical of children and parents of the children. To prevent cruelty to or maltreatment of children. To relieve sickness, poverty and need amongst children and parents of children. To promote the education of the public in better standards of child care.

Geography

- Main operating location: Highland
- Geographical spread: Wider, but within one local authority area
