What the charity does: Mayfield & Easthouses Youth 2000 Project (locally known as Y2K) opened in the year 2000. It was bought by local social enterprise, McSence and in consultation with the local community, it was decided to be given as a space for young people. It is a now specialist provider of youth services in an area of significant deprivation and has tailored services to support the particular needs of marginalised and hard to reach young people.

Objectives: (1) To provide facilities for young people within Midlothian East ('the Operating Area') which promote their social welfare, provide educational and recreational opportunities and in general improve their quality and conditions of life. (2) To relieve unemployment through offering young people resident in the Operating Area, alternative and informal opportunities to gain transferrable skills, accredited qualifications and volunteering experience. (3) To relieve ill-health and promote good health and wellbeing among young people resident in the Operating Area, helping them develop their physical, mental and spiritual capacity so they may grow to full maturity as individuals and members of society.
