Report of the trustees

The trustees present their report together with the financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2025.

Members of the Board are its trustees for the purpose of charity law and throughout this report are collectively referred to as the members. The members serving during the year and since the year end are detailed on page 7.

OBJECTIVES, ACTIVITIES, ACHIEVEMENTS & PERFORMANCE

Our objectives and activities align with the Scottish Government priorities in tackling poverty, reducing social isolation, preventing suicide, improving access to justice, and legal reform. We continue to promote non-adversarial solutions, reducing stress for parents and protecting children's rights under the United Nations on the Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC). In May 2025 the organisation added a one-page statement to its constitution on its commitment to children's rights at a governance and operations level.

The charitable purposes of Shared Parenting Scotland are set out in our Constitution. The objects are:

- For the relief of parents and their children and other close family members living in Scotland or having a family member in Scotland who are suffering from the consequences of divorce or separation by providing advice, assistance and other support and, in so doing, helping parents stay in touch with their children after divorce or separation;
- To further the emotional development of children in Scotland whose parents have divorced or separated by encouraging shared parenting arrangements which enable such children to have continuing and meaningful relationships with both their parents; and
- Additionally, to conduct study and research into problems concerned with children in Scotland who are deprived of the presence of a parent in their family, and into the problems concerned with establishing good relations between parents who do not live together, and to publish the useful results of all such study and research in order to encourage appropriate changes in professional and public opinion.

ENQUIRIES AND SUPPORT

During 2024-25 Shared Parenting Scotland received enquiries consistent with the previous year, including an increased number of enquiries from mothers. The helpline handled 5056 calls in 2024, slightly down on 5147 separate enquiry items in 2023 and up significantly up on the 4262 items in 2022. We have seen an anecdotal increase in complexity of case noted by the staff with clients needing longer or more tailored support at times.

Our monthly group meetings in Aberdeen, Dundee, Edinburgh, Glasgow and one online meeting every month have continued. Numbers attending the face-to-face meetings include 511 fathers, mothers and grandparents, similar in number to the previous year. We are seeing an increase in the amount of ethnic minority clients and people whose first language is not English and those displaying or identifying as having some form of neurodivergence. We are exploring these issues and communicating the impact we are having particularly within these demographics to funders, stakeholders and when we are representing at national policy workshops, meetings and strategic groups. We are grateful to the increasing group of 69 family solicitors across Scotland who are signed up to attend these meetings and who provide general legal and tactical information to enhance our support offer.

PUBLISHED AND ONLINE INFORMATION

Shared Parenting Scotland provides a wide range of news and information through its website and publications. The website www.sharedparenting.scot includes news postings which are sent out to an increased number of 689 supporters via our weekly email newsletter. The website saw an increase of 35,000+ visits for online support and training inquiries, including an upsurge in requests from minority ethnic groups.

The use of our regional, thematic, and volunteer WhatsApp groups continues to grow as part of our peer support offer. Over 22,000 WhatsApp messages were exchanged in the past year. Messages can be posted at any time. Some of them are enquiries relating to current problems in dealing with an ex-partner and some relate to more general parenting issues, such as how to engage with a doctor's surgery or school, suggestions for local children's activities or for dealing with general parenting. Clients have noted the broad swathe of support including the WhatsApp groups as reassuring that they are not alone and feeling less isolated as a result. Staff and trained volunteers monitor these posts to ensure accuracy of suggestions. It is notable that people posting are very willing to write supportive messages when a parent makes progress. This continues to provide a safe and confidential forum for our service users. All WhatsApp users must agree to our discussion code of conduct. The service is monitored to ensure the policy is adhered to by our service users and so it can remain a safe space for those to share experiences and learn from one another.

As well as the information on the website, we have published more extensive guides covering the following topics this past year such as:

- Updated Guide on “Representing Yourself in the Scottish Family Court” with inclusive visuals and flowchart, which has been nominated for the Scottish Legal Awards (Community Contribution Category) 2025 – winners announced in September 2025.
- A one-page visual guide on civil legal aid, following a dearth of availability of legal aid solicitors and queries received about the general process.

Other guides from previous years, such as the equal parenting guide, will be included in an overall refresh and re-purposing of materials in 2025/26, aligning with our new CHILD promotional video expressing our values – putting the welfare and the rights of the child at the heart of what we do.

Our User Survey Highlights from 2024 include: 58% report increased contact with their children, 20% improved communication with their ex-partner, 67% experienced less stress or anxiety and 22% had better communication with their child's school.

TRAINING

Shared Parenting Scotland now has an exclusive licence to deliver the New Ways for Families (NWWF) programme across the United Kingdom – backed by the Community Safety Minister [REDACTED]. The initial evaluation showed that parents who undertook the programme New Ways for Families®, delivered on-line with the support of trained and committed coaches, is a valuable option in a continuum of services for parents embroiled in high-conflict separations. Sign-ups for NWWF yielded £2,121 offset against training costs. This means consideration will need to be given on how to increase publicity and uptake in these courses in the coming year.

Love, Loss and Living was designed for us by psychotherapist [REDACTED]. An online version has now been developed to make it more widely available. This has seen an increase in the number of courses across Scotland: 55 enquiries, 19 commenced, and 15 completed. The people taking the online course have been offered the chance to support each other through group sessions either online or face-to-face. Funding through the Community Mental Health and Wellbeing programmes in Edinburgh, Aberdeen and Dundee has been used to develop this course and train parents in these cities. Our literature/leaflets are going through a refresh.

Our partnership with Men Matter Scotland continues, with us providing weekly drop-in support sessions.

STAFFING AND SUPPORT

We have a team of six staff, two are full time and four are part time. We thank the trustees for their continuing support in 2025 which has seen an increase in offers of volunteering support, either on the helpline, at group meetings or representing the organisation at external events. We are in the process of signing off the organisation's first volunteering training policy. It is acknowledged that delivery of a broader volunteer offer will be contingent on maintaining and securing additional funding and bolstering the staff team but the policy being in place is a step in that direction. The lay supporter training offer continues to grow alongside the lay supporter WhatsApp group. There has been uptake in this offer by new trainees.

POLICY

The Scottish Parliament Cross Party Group on Shared Parenting continues to meet. The Secretariat is provided by Shared Parenting Scotland, bringing MSPs and organisations together to consider ways to develop and support shared parenting in Scotland. The next session will include a manifesto building session ahead of the Scottish Elections in 2026.

We are active in other CPGs and international collaborations, including the International Council of Shared Parenting inc. We are increasing our partnerships with organisations seeking to change perceptions of parenting in a modern Scotland – particular among the children's sector. As an example, we now sit on the UNCRC Strategic Implementation Grouping, led by Together (Scotland's Alliance for Children's Rights).

The Children (Scotland) Act 2020 has yet to be fully implemented. However, we continue to have regular meetings with the family justice civil servants and other key organisations to consider how these changes will work – including, as part of the current Scottish Government Child Welfare Reporting Group.

Thanks to funding from the University of Glasgow, we had a student intern, [REDACTED] working for us in Summer 2024, culminating in the publication of a plain English flow diagram to help parties understand new case management rules. This was integrated into our revised Guide to Representing Yourself in a Scottish Family Court.

TRUSTEES' RESPONSIBILITIES FOR THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The charity trustees are responsible for preparing a trustees' annual report and financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

The law applicable to charities in Scotland requires the charity trustees to prepare financial statements for each year which show a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charity and of the incoming resources and application of resources of the charity for that year. In preparing the financial statements, the trustees are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- observe the methods and principles in the applicable Charities SORP;
- make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable accounting standards and statements of recommended practice have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements; and
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charity will continue in operational existence.

The trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records which disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charity and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended). They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charity and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

INDEPENDENT EXAMINER'S REPORT ON THE UNAUDITED ACCOUNTS OF SHARED PARENTING SCOTLAND

I report on the accounts of the charity for the year ended 31 March 2025 which are set out on pages 10 to 20.

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner

The charity's trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts in accordance with the terms of the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended).

The charity trustees consider that the audit requirement of Regulation 10(1) (a) to (c) of the 2006 Accounts Regulations does not apply. It is my responsibility to examine the accounts as required under section 44(1) (c) of the Act and to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of independent examiner's statement

My examination is carried out in accordance with Regulation 11 of the 2006 Accounts Regulations. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeks explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently I do not express an audit opinion on the view given by the accounts.

Independent examiner's statement

In the course of my examination, no matter has come to my attention other than that disclosed below

1. which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in any material respect the requirements:
 - to keep accounting records in accordance with Section 44(1) (a) of the 2005 Act and Regulation 4 of the 2006 Accounts Regulations
 - to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records and comply with Regulation 8 of the 2006 Accounts Regulationshave not been met, or
2. to which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

Notes to the financial statements

1 Accounting policies

Basis of preparation

The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention and in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102), the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended), and follow the recommendations in the Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (effective in October 2019) – Charities SORP (FRS 102).

Shared Parenting Scotland is a Scottish Charitable Incorporated Organisation (SCIO). It is registered with the Office of the Scottish Regulator (OSCR) under charity number SC042817. The address of the registered office is given on page 7.

The charity constitutes a public benefit entity as defined by FRS 102.

The presentation currency is Pound Sterling (£).

The Trustees consider that there are no material uncertainties about the charity's ability to continue as a going concern.

Income

Income is recognised when the charity has entitlement to the funds, any performance conditions attached to the item(s) of income have been met, it is probable that the income will be received and the amount can be measured reliably. Income from government and other grants, whether "capital" grants or "revenue" grants, is recognised when the charity has entitlement to the funds, any performance conditions attached to the grants have been met, it is probable that the income will be received and the amount can be measured reliably and is not deferred. Income is deferred only when the charity has to fulfil conditions before becoming entitled to it or where the donor has specified that the income is to be expended in a future period.

Expenditure

Expenditure is recognised when a liability is incurred. Costs are allocated between categories on a direct basis. Irrecoverable input VAT is charged directly to the Statement of Financial Activities in the year it is incurred. Charitable activities expenditure comprises those costs incurred by the charity in pursuit of its charitable objects and includes both the direct costs and support costs relating to these activities. The best estimate of the expenditure required to settle an obligation for termination benefits is recognised immediately as an expense when the charity is demonstrably committed to terminate the employment of an employee or to provide termination benefits.

Support costs include central functions and have been allocated to cost categories on a direct basis.

Debtors

Trade and other debtors are recognised at the settlement amount due after any discount offered. Prepayments are valued at the amount prepaid net of any discounts due.

Creditors

Creditors and provisions are recognised where the charity has a present obligation resulting from a past event that will probably result in the transfer of funds to a third party and the amount due to settle the obligation can be measured or estimated reliably. Creditors and provisions are normally recognised at their settlement amount after allowing for any discounts due.

Pensions

The pension costs charged in the financial statements represent the contribution payable by the charity during the year.

Fund accounting

Unrestricted funds are donations and other incoming resources received or generated for the objects of the charity without further specified purpose and are available as general funds. Unrestricted funds can be used in accordance with the charitable objects at the discretion of the trustees. If parts of the unrestricted funds are earmarked at the discretion of the trustees for a particular purpose they are designated as a separate fund. Such designation has an administrative purpose only and does not legally restrict the trustees' discretion to apply the fund.

Restricted funds are funds subject to requirements as to their use, but still within the wider objects of the charity. The specific requirements as to use may either be declared by the donor or with the donor's authority, or be created through legal processes.

Financial Instruments

Financial instruments comprise financial assets and financial liabilities which are recognised when the charity becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Financial instruments are classified as "basic" in accordance with FRS102 and are accounted for at amortised cost using the effective interest method. The effective interest rate is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash flows over the life of the financial assets or liability to the net carrying amount on initial recognition. Discounting is not applied to short-term receivables and payables, where the effect is immaterial. Financial assets comprise cash, trade debtors, other debtors and accrued income. Financial liabilities comprise bank overdraft, trade creditors, other creditors and accruals.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents are basic financial assets and include cash in hand and deposits held with banks.
