What the charity does: The Scottish Older People's Assembly (SOPA) is an independent charity that brings together older people and organisations to ensure their voices are heard in shaping policy and practice across Scotland. SOPA works to empower older people to share their experiences, highlight challenges, and influence positive change. Guided by a vision of a socially just Scotland that values older people's ideas, expertise, and contributions, SOPA provides a strong platform for engagement, discussion, and advocacy. Through its network, it champions the rights, wellbeing, and active participation of older people, while celebrating the vital role they play in society.

Beneficiaries: 'Children or young people', 'Older People', 'People with disabilities or health problems'

Objectives: 4.1 the advancement of human rights and the interests of older people. 4.2 the advancement of the equality and diversity of older people. 4.3 the advancement of citizenship and community development for older people
