Activities

Activities: 'It carries out activities or services itself'

Purposes: 'the advancement of citizenship or community development', 'the advancement of the arts, heritage, culture or science', 'the promotion of equality and diversity'

What the charity does: After 13 years of operation, the Scottish Iraqi Association have become an important role in the Scottish Iraqi community. More than 700 members and volunteers from different industrial backgrounds have participated in our activities, including businessmen, doctors, and engineers. Every year, more than 2000 people are benefited by the organisation, including donation, skills training or living issue solutions. Iraqi women and younger generation who belong to disadvantaged group are one of the primary focuses. Iraqi women are taught to protect themselves from domestic violence and young Iraqis learn the necessary skills for employment or fit in the school. The Scottish Iraqi Association shows the contribution to maintain social harmony and stability, not only internal relationship within the Iraqi group but also between Iraqis and Scottish. The contribution of the organisation has been also acknowledged by the official departments.

Beneficiaries: 'No specific group, or for the benefit of the community'

Objectives: to advance citizenship and community cohesion for the Iraqi community through volunteering, civil and cultural activities promoting heritage and empowerment of this community to be an effective part of Scottish Society. to advance cultural heritage including history, heritage, art, performing arts, language and traditions among the diverse communities in Scotland through delivering educational and learning activities celebrating diverse cultures as a means of active citizenship and promoting community cohesion. to advance equality for and among diverse communities through celebrating cultural diversity and art as means to equal citizenship and strengthening bonds among all community constituents promoting equal opportunities and community cohesion.
