What the charity does: To promote equality and diversity through holding conferences, seminars, and training courses

Beneficiaries: 'People with a particular ethnic or racial origin'

Objectives: 1. To promote religious and racial harmony by strengthening and emphasising harmony in human relations between Islamic groups in general and across the spectrum of society, both intellectually and spiritually, through holding special educational lectures for all Islamic doctrines about the negative effects of poisonous extremist concepts implanted within, or existing in parallel to, the religion of Islam's real and peaceful concepts. Emphasis will be placed on the importance of terminating these negative concepts and on the importance of the peaceful and noble mission of all religions, which harmonises with Islam. With this as the basis, the aim is to grow and then maintain a coordinated effort towards strengthening these relationships in order to achieve this common goal 2. To promote equality and diversity by encouraging Islamic groups in general to strengthen their bonds with other sectors of the community through holding conferences, seminars and training courses whenever they are needed, based on their religion's standards and also basic social standards that support equality and diversity.
