Activities

Activities: 'It carries out activities or services itself'

Purposes: 'the advancement of the arts, heritage, culture or science'

What the charity does: We know from research and experience that music can transform lives. Yet, many neurodiverse children, those with special educational needs, and adults with complex needs face barriers to accessing music education. We offer participant-led music sessions—both individual and group—for those excluded from standard provision. We work with local authorities in schools, run sessions at Cathcart Church and in community settings across Scotland, and support people at every stage of life. Our unique approach adapts to each person's needs. We also train schools and local authorities, and run a trainee programme for community music practitioners looking to develop skills in inclusive practice.

Beneficiaries: 'Children or young people', 'People with disabilities or health problems'

Objectives: 4.1 The company's objects are to provide participant-led music projects for people who have complex needs and/or autism in order to enhance self-expression, communication and confidence.
