Objectives and activities

Charitable purposes

The advancement of environmental protection/improvement, with the main focus on the conservation and protection of honeybees by applying ancient methods of rewilding of honeybees.

Summary of the main activities in relation to these objects

The LACRIMA Foundation develops and distributes log hives designed to support the natural behaviour of honeybees. It conducts educational outreach and awareness campaigns to promote the importance of pollinators and biodiversity. The foundation also organises workshops, community events, and partnerships with landowners and institutions to reintroduce ancient rewilding methods and restore natural bee habitats. These activities directly support the charity's purpose of advancing environmental protection and improving conditions for honeybee conservation.

APPENDIX 1

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the financial period

During this financial period, the Lacrima Foundation continued to pursue its charitable purposes of advancing environmental protection and biodiversity, with a focus on honey bee conservation.

The charity's activities included ongoing research and development of log hive designs intended to replicate natural habitats for bees, along with limited pilot activity and engagement with local stakeholders. The charity also undertook awareness-raising activities to promote understanding of pollinator decline and sustainable environmental practices.

Administrative and preparatory work was carried out to support future development, including exploration of materials and methods relevant to hive production.

Overall, the charity's activities during the period were consistent with its stated purposes and contributed to its longer-term objectives.
