What the charity does: The Loretta Doyle Judo Foundation is established to enrich the lives of disadvantaged individuals and communities who experience social or economic exclusion. We provide participants with the opportunity to engage in the sport of Judo at absolutely no cost to themselves, fully funded through charitable donations, proactive fundraising, bequests, grants, and UK Government Gift Aid where applicable. Our primary objective is to offer regular, structured, and enjoyable physical exercise to improve both the physical health and mental well-being of disadvantaged participants. To achieve this, our charity provides all necessary recreational facilities, equipment, and administrative organisation completely free of charge. All classes are delivered by fully qualified, audited, and accredited coaches operating within clubs that hold full membership with the British Judo Association (BJA) or its affiliated Home Nation governing body, JudoScotland.
