Structure, governance and management

Type of governing document

The charity is a Scottish Charitable Incorporated Organisation and is governed by the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005, the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006 (as amended) and the charity's constitution.

Trustee recruitment and appointment

The board of trustees may at any time appoint any person to be a charity trustee – by way of a resolution passed by majority vote at a board meeting.

APPENDIX 1

Objectives and activities

Charitable purposes

Summary of the main activities in relation to these objects

- 1.1 The advancement of education leading to greater understanding of the word Mongol referring to people of Mongol ethnicity and ending the historical misuse of the term.
- 1.2 To advance the knowledge on arts, heritage, and culture of the Mongol community around the world in order to change attitude in a positive way.
- 1.3 The promotion of equality and diversity by working to eliminate discrimination and degrading treatment of people of Mongol ethnicity.
- 1.4 Ensuring all people are treated as equals, with dignity and respect, and their differences are celebrated.
- 1.5 The promotion of racial harmony by promoting understanding between communities.
- 1.6 The advancement of human rights by advocating on behalf of people affected by hate speech and/or degrading treatment, helping to ensure that background or social circumstances are not obstacles to achieving potential.

We promoted community involvement through cultural and historical exhibitions and public events in museum settings. We created safe spaces to discuss language use and terminologies relating to historical misuse. We organised conferences and round-table discussions that fostered an all-inclusive culture.

We supported research and studies that filled gaps in international research fields, and we developed educational packages for schools, colleges and universities. We also produced leaflets for medical workers and students, and created educational videos and statements focused on language use and awareness.

We ran face-to-face and online sessions, and we engaged in partnership work with members of local, national and international communities, including allies and established organisations undertaking anti-racist work across institutional, educational, political and personal contexts.

We organised festivals, workshops and talks that promoted inclusivity, integrity and solidarity, affirming racially diverse identities and experiences.

APPENDIX 1

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the financial period

Social awareness – We worked to address the ways in which Mongol ethnicity and culture were represented in the media and society, aiming to minimise stereotypes and cultural myths.
Education – We delivered training, workshops and talks that promoted the arts, education and social awareness of the Mongol world.
Volunteering – Volunteers from around the world provided help to those in need.
Science – We educated people about the roles of Mongols in the wider field of science.

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

We are continuously campaigning and actively working within diverse communities, ensuring that our message and impact are visible at local, national, and international levels. Our work has gained significant global recognition, reaching platforms such as the United Nations and UNESCO. This growing acknowledgement reflects the strength of our advocacy and the relevance of the issues we champion. In addition, our participation in several events and festivals in Montreal, Canada, has allowed us to share our mission more widely, build international connections, and strengthen our role as a globally engaged organisation committed to meaningful community change.

Details of any deficit

The unrestricted fund showed a small deficit at the year end due to general running costs being incurred while significant restricted funding was received for specific project activities; this position was resolved in the subsequent period through unrestricted donations.

Donated facilities and services (if any)

Volunteers donate their time and talent through – maintaining of the website, translating, publicity, hosting events, social media and organising posters, lesson plans and educational resources.
