Objectives: The organisations aims and objectives are: The charity will aid rural communities to tackle economic poverty through various projects. It will help address inequalities, poverty and provide basic health, well-being and educational opportunities. The charity will be active in rural Pakistan to support communities to tackle gender inequality, enabling both male and female children/young people access their full potential. Poor communities can only escape the poverty trap if they are given the agency and ability to shape their future. One of the best ways this can happen is by providing them with the capacity to learn, educate and develop skills. This will allow young people to shape their futures and improve their circumstances and those of the wider communities. The charity will help improve health and wellbeing through setting up, running and maintaining a clean water programme.
