Purposes: 'the advancement of education', 'the advancement of environmental protection or improvement', 'the advancement of animal welfare'

What the charity does: The charity is set up to rescue and rehabilitate sick and injured hedgehog, and have a positive impact on increasing hedgehog numbers in the wild. It achieves this in two main ways. Firstly through a team of trained volunteers who currently offer up to 40 spaces for hedgehogs and working in conjunction with a veterinary practice offer required treatment and care necessary to enable the hedgehogs to recover and return back to the wild. Secondly, we aim to have a positive impact on improving the public's knowledge and understanding, specifically about hedgehogs but also understanding the importance of biodiversity and how human activity can affect this. We achieve this through a range of activities including information on our Facebook page, offering talks to schools, after school groups, adult groups as well as attending a wide range of events - biodiversity days, local fetes and galas, and we host an open day at the rescue each year.

Beneficiaries: 'Other defined groups'

Objectives: a) The advancement of animal welfare by means of the provision of rescue, first aid and rehabilitation of European Hedgehogs (Erinaceus Europaeus) with the aim of expediting a return to the wild wherever possible. b) The advancement of education of the general public as to the plight of the European Hedgehog which is currently on the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN) Red List due to being at risk of species extinction. c) The advancement of environmental protection or improvement by means of educating, promoting and encouraging wildlife friendly building, development and gardening practices to enable pollinators to recover and thrive.
