Objectives and activities

Charitable purposes

The organisation of recreational activities, with the object of improving the conditions of life for the persons for whom the activities are primarily intended.

The advancement of environmental protection or improvement

Summary of the main activities in relation to these objects

Promoting well-being through both structured and informal activities in the countryside, for clients as active participants, volunteers or observers.

Bringing together and supporting groups of people seeking to connect more closely with nature in ways that strengthen their sense of well-being and inclusion.

Designing and delivering opportunities for social interaction, self-expression and learning for vulnerable and/or disconnected individuals and groups, working in partnership with related support organisations.

Creating new opportunities for sharing with others through creative activity using natural materials.

Organising active involvement in habitat creation, restoration and maintenance leading to new skills in support of these aims.

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the financial period

Including a short pre-registration period, the Charity has undertaken the following activities and events open to the public free of charge:

New tree planting and wildlife recognition event October 2024

Winter tree identification and wildflower meadow maintenance day, November 2024

Hedge-laying, hedge facts and education day, February 2025

Live willow hedging and tree identification event, April 2025

Mindful Garden construction and campfire, April/May & September 2025

Groundwork and bulb planting day with campfire, October 2025

‘Feel Good’ nature arts and crafts event, March 2026

These events have been well-attended and led to a number of individuals offering voluntary support and continuing practical assistance.

Work has begun on the construction of a large Mindful Garden in memory of the late Anne Williams, to provide a focus for both outdoor activities and quiet reflection.

Positive links have been created with a number of relevant third-sector, community and self-help groups.
