

Scottish Baseball Development Programme (SCIO)

Scotland · Charity number SC054940

Details

Known as	"Scotland Baseball Team", "Scottish Baseball Programme", "Scotland Baseball Development Programme"
Status	Active
Legal form	SCIO (Scottish Charitable Incorporated Organisation)
Registered	2026-02-02
Register	View on the OSCR register

Contact

Address	207/2 Newhaven Road Edinburgh EH6 4QD
---------	---

Activities

Activities: 'It carries out activities or services itself'

Purposes: 'the advancement of public participation in sport'

Beneficiaries: 'No specific group, or for the benefit of the community'

Objectives: Charitable Purposes: The organisation's purposes, consistent with the charitable purpose of advancing public participation in sport, are: (a) To advance public participation in the sport of baseball in Scotland, by developing, promoting, and providing opportunities for players, coaches, and officials to reach their full potential. (b) To develop a national pathway for performance and participation, enabling talented players in Scotland to progress into Great Britain's national programme and create independent international baseball opportunities in Scotland. (c) To foster the growth of baseball as a means of promoting physical activity, teamwork, and community engagement across Scotland. (d) To support youth and adult baseball development through coaching, education, and competition. (e) To collaborate with the Scottish National Baseball League ('SNBL'), sportscotland, and other partners to strengthen the sporting infrastructure and ensure the sustainable growth of baseball in Scotland. Public Benefit: In carrying out its purposes, the SCIO will ensure that its activities provide public benefit by promoting participation, health, and personal development opportunities accessible to individuals across Scotland.

Geography

- Main operating location: City of Edinburgh
- Geographical spread: UK and overseas